How It All Started

The Men Responsible for the Tournament's Success

In 1926, when the Junior Division of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce first discussed a Los Angeles Open golf tournament to promote Los Angeles throughout America, the Junior Chamber did not have the far-reaching activities it does today. The tournament put the Junior Chamber on the map and allowed it to continue its existence and grow, as the members of the “senior” chamber had always been reluctant to let the “junior division” have more to do within the community.

Most of the details of the first tournament were arranged through Emerson Spear, the first president of the Junior Chamber and chairman of the first two tournaments. The first committee, the “Big Six”, included: Emerson Spear, Everett Grubb, Leroy Carver, Bart Stebbins, Carl Kegley and Durward Howes.

Everett Grubb, president of the Junior Chamber in 1927, is the oldest living tournament Chairman. He is now retired and living in Riverside. Carl S. Kegley, president of the Junior Chamber in 1926, is the oldest living president of the Junior Chamber.

Carl Kegley, attorney, writes: “Emerson Spear, who was chairman of the Junior Chamber’s golf club, heard that the first $10,000 open golf tournament planned by the pros was in direct need of financial support. As usual, the group, anxious to jump in where angels fear to tread, decided to make every effort to help out.

“An appointment was made with the pros to meet at the Biltmore Hotel. Of those who were there, I recall Bart Stebbins, M. Spear, Carl Heintz, Mel Haldeman, myself and two others.

“We stopped in the lobby of the Biltmore and agreed that if the subject of money came up tell the pros ‘to forget it’ and that we would take care of that. The meeting went on and we told the pros that if they would take care of their end of it, meaning the golf professional end, we would see to the financial end.

“After the meeting, the committee stopped on Olive Street and, as we had just taken over a $10,000 golf tournament, we decided to see how much cash we had on hand and where we stood. Out of all our pockets there was a total of $87.00!

“We went on, of course, and with the aid of the merchants and a lot of leg work, and a loan from the Union Bank of $3,500, we put on the first and very successful tournament.”

Everett Grubb recalls that he, Mel Haldeman and Roy Carver were a committee of three to contact movie people and raise money to guarantee the purse. “M. Spear had a first tournament budget of $17,000, and the three of us got busy contacting people to raise the money. I got $1,000 from Douglas Fairbanks and another $1,000 from another actor whose name I can’t recall. Roy and Mel had a similar sort of success, but we were still well below the needed budget.

“Now one of the members of the original group was Norman Chandler, and he said, ‘Let’s go and see my dad and ask if he has any suggestions to make,’ and made arrangements for us to meet with Harry Chandler. He heard out the story and called Guy Barham, publisher of the Examiner – and after a few minutes on the phone he turned to us and told us that the Times and the Examiner would guarantee the $17,000.”

The first tournament was financially successful and it was not necessary to call upon any of the guarantees. This, despite the story about Everett Crosby, brother of Bing Crosby, who was the tournament ticket chairman. As the story is told, Everett had a old Model ‘A’ Ford touring car, which had the top removed. He had to pick up the tickets from the printer and take them to the L.A. Open Committee meeting being held at the Wilshire Country Club. He put the tickets on the back seat of the Ford, and took off for the club – and left a trail of flying tickets along the boulevard – and no one knew how many of those tickets found their way into the first tournament.

Durward Howes, chairman of the board of B.D. Howes & Sons, and president of the Junior Chamber in 1928, felt that the tournament should be on a firmer foundation than the hard-sought guarantees. He proposed a fund-raising event and the Junior Chamber put on the first $100-a-plate sportsman’s banquet.

“It was the very first $100-a-plate dinner ever held in the United States,” recalls Durward Howes. “We had Will Rogers as master of ceremonies, and I remember he opened the evening by pulling a $100 bill from his pocket and handing it to me and then telling the audience that he, too, was paying his hundred dollars ‘like all the rest of you suckers . . .’”

After the banquet, Durward Howes went to Arthur Arnoll, then general manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and gave him $9,000, the proceeds of the banquet, for the underwriting of the 4th tournament, the first to be held at the Riviera Country Club.

The sportsman’s banquets were continued for a few years, until they fell victim to the depression years and the purse of the tournament had to be reduced from the “golden $10,000.”

After the tournament was established, a winter tour was built with the addition of Phoenix, San Diego, San Francisco, and “the Crosby”.

From these beginnings the tournament continued for nearly seven decades, with one gap for the World War II sports blackout, and the story is chronicled in these pages. The tournament has involved thousands of young men – and new young men and women – in its history, and has established thousands of lifetime friendships. It is hoped that it will continue to do so.

Tournament History: Highlights & Results

Harry Cooper

Billed as the “greatest golfing classic the West has ever known,” the first Northern Trust Open Golf Tournament generated such interest that Damon Runyon was dispatched from New York to cover the $10,000 event. This purse, the largest offered on the tour, was enough to attract Harry Cooper and amateur George Von Elm who waged a head-to-head battle against a field of 250 other entrants. Cooper managed to take command after the 14th hole, finishing with an eagle on the 18th for a 279 and a three-stroke victory margin.

Bobby Cruickshank

Harry Cooper took the second round lead at El Caballero that year, but his victory effort skidded when, on the par 3 17th, he received a nine. The “Wee Scot” Bobby Cruickshank danced a highland fling when he took the tourney by six strokes.

MacDonald Smith

MacDonald Smith began his four-tourney domination of the Northern Trust Open on the links of Wilshire Country Club. Although Tommy Armour, Bobby Cruikshank and Harry Cooper were the favored contenders, the 36-year-old Smith's consistency was to prove unbeatable. He made only 115 putts during the 72-hole tournament, for an average of 1.6 putts per green.

MacDonald Smith

As the 1920s roared to a close, so many golfers came in pursuit of the $10,000 Northern Trust Open that a 36-hole round was required to qualify. Six courses were used for the rounds. Will Rogers acted as Master of Ceremonies at the Junior Chamber's $100-a-plate Sportsman's Banquet. Walter Hagen was tagged as the favorite for this tourney, but once again it was MacDonald Smith's expertise on the greens which brought him first prize.

Densmore Shute

Rain affected play at Riviera that year to the extent that favorites MacDonald Smith and Walter Hagen turned in rounds of 77 and 81 respectively. Denny Shute pulled out to lead in round two maintaining his front position for the remainder of the tournament and becoming the first American to win the Northern Trust Open. Rain affected play to the extent that par was equalled and broken just once in each case.

Ed Dudley

Again rain played a major role in the tournament, forcing the sixth Northern Trust Open to be delayed a day to allow the course at the Wilshire Country Club to dry out. The 16th hole had always been a problem and was lengthened to become a par 5. Two Chicagoans, Al Espinosa and Eddie Loos led the tournament after the first round, but it was Ed Dudley's 285 which earned him a place in the tournament's list of champions.

1932

MacDonald Smith

The depression forced the purse of the 1932 Northern Trust Open down to $7,500 but did nothing to dampen the play that year. The excitement started in the qualifying round when Fred Morrison took an eagle on the first hole and holed a 240-yard shot for a golden eagle two on the par 5 8th hole. MacDonald Smith took an early lead and maintained it to walk away with his third Northern Trust Open championship.

Craig Wood

The opening round of the tournament ended in a four-way tie between Craig Wood, Clarence Hubby, Irvin Goddard and Eddie Loos all with 69s. The prize money went to Wood with MacDonald Smith coming in eighth. Farther back in the field was a young Texan playing in his second professional tournament – Byron Nelson.

MacDonald Smith

The Northern Trust Open celebrated its ninth birthday and returned to Los Angeles Country Club. A "Parade of Sports" broadcast was held with former tournament winner Denny Shute and Leo Deigel representing golf on the Christmas Eve program carried by CBS. Olin Dutra, of Brentwood, opened the tournament with a sizzling 67 and a two-stroke lead over Johnny Revolta. Dutra and Revolta shared the lead after two rounds, but the final two belonged to three-time champ MacDonald Smith. Smith took the tournament with his lowest score, a 280, and an eight-stroke margin.

Vic Ghezzi

Two relative unknowns dominated play in 1935. Vic Ghezzi and Johnny Revolta both shot 68s in the first round, but Ghezzi managed to fight his way to a one stroke lead by the second day. The tables were turned as Revolta took the lead only to bogie three of his last five holes for a tie with Ghezzi. An 18-hole playoff on Monday only managed to draw a gallery of 500 spectators. This was credited to the anonymity of the players and to the fact that Ghezzi and Revolta had pledged to split the prize money regardless of the outcome. Ghezzi took the honors with a 73 to Revolta's 75 in the playoff.

1936

Jimmy Hines

There were 14 sub-par rounds the first day of play, which included a three-way tie for the lead among defending champ Vic Ghezzi, 1926 winner Harry Cooper and Henry Picard, all of whom shot 66s. Jimmy Hines was one of only two golfers to break par on the second day. His 68 put him in contention with Picard for the lead. Hines opened the final day of play with a 69 and shot a 74 in the afternoon round for a four-stroke victory over Picard and Jimmy Thompson.

1937

Harry Cooper

The field included all the past winners of the Northern Trust Open except Bobby Cruikshank, but the only one who was to figure prominently was the first winner, the man whom Damon Runyon called "Lighthouse" Harry Cooper. Perhaps because the Chicagoan was more used to cold weather, he ignored the near-freezing temperatures and shot a 69 and 70 to lead the first two rounds. Horton Smith challenged Cooper in round three, firing a course record 64. It was Cooper again in the fourth round with a 66 for a tournament record 274 and a five-stroke victory margin. In sixth place was a young golfer who would not only play a large part in the future of tournament, but also become a legend for all of golf – Sam Snead.

1938

Jimmy Thompson

The tourney belonged to Jimmy Thompson, who demolished the Griffith Park courses with a second-hand putter he had picked up for $1 in a Pasadena pro shop three weeks before the tournament. Thompson and Willie Goggin shot spectacular 65s for a three-stroke lead in round one. The second day saw Thompson set a new 36-hole competitive record of 131. His spectacular 66 included a 50-foot downhill putt for a birdie on the ninth hole. Although stumbling a bit on the third round, he returned to form for a final round 68, setting a new tournament record 273, 12 under par. Johnny Revolta trailed by four strokes. This was the tournament that featured the legendary Babe Didrickson, who played the first two days, shooting 84-81 for a 165. She failed to make the cut, but was the first woman ever to play in a men's golf tournament.

Jimmy Demaret

The Los Angeles Times stepped in to guarantee the $5,000 purse in the 14th Northern Trust Open, also co-sponsoring a "Parade of Champions" banquet with the Junior Chamber. Defending champions Jimmy Thompson and Harry Cooper were featured as the banquet was broadcast coast-to-coast over the Mutual System. In what looked like a replay of the previous year, Jim Demaret fired a 66 in the opening round. He started off round two with bogeys on two of the first three holes, but recovered for a 68. Demaret shot a par 71 on round three, but opened the final round with a birdie and added an eagle on the eighth hole. His best shot, however, came on the 15th hole. With his drive 50 feet short of the pin and behind a slight hill, Demaret used a wedge to sail the ball over the hill and roll it on the cup. His 274 total was just one off the tournament record and seven strokes ahead of second-place Harold "Jug" McSpaden.

Lawson Little

Los Angeles Country Club is not an easy course under ideal conditions. Add rain and it becomes a nearly impossible task to even approach par. This is the situation which was faced by Byron Nelson in the 15th Northern Trust Open. Rain plagued the entire tournament with scores soaring over par. In round four, trailing by five strokes. Lawson Little fired an amazing 65 for a one-stroke victory over Clayton Heafner. The wet weather did nothing to dampen the enthusiasm of the fans who were joined in the galleries with Hollywood celebrities including Bing Crosby, Fred Astaire, Randolph Scott and Elsa Maxwell.

Johnny Bulla

The purse returned to its original $10,000 and the tourney came back to Riviera Country Club after a 10-year absence. Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Sam Snead were pre-tournament favorites. Hogan was fresh from his win in the World's Long Distance Driving Contest which had been staged December 30 in the Coliseum. Johnny Bulla, a young drug store employee from Chicago, ran away with round two, playing with Walgreens bargain counter golf balls. After an eagle on the first hole, he shot seven straight threes, turning the front nine in 30. Slowing up a bit on the back nine he still turned in a dazzling 66. Bulla turned in a 69 on the final day for a two-stroke win over Craig Wood.

Ben Hogan

With many major sports events cancelled due to the war, the Northern Trust Open continued to lead the California “Gold Trail” of tournaments. Its $10,000 purse, underwritten by the Los Angeles Times, continued to be the largest on the tour. Burns & Allen emceed a pre-tourney luncheon honoring the golfers and a record 25,000 fans turned out for the four-day event. Vardon Trophy winner Ben Hogan was favored going in to the 17th Northern Trust Open and he didn’t disappoint the fans, despite playing Thompson in the final round. They ended up tied, and went to a playoff. Hogan took an early lead in the playoff, then bogeyed 11 and 14. It was even again as they approached the final hole, where Hogan birdied to take the largest prize he had yet earned.

Harold McSpaden

Some 200 golfers came after $12,500 in war bonds at the 18th Northern Trust Open. "Lord Byron" Nelson led the favorites at Wilshire Country Club, but ex-Yankee Sammy Byrd took first round honors with a sizzling 66. Round one also featured two holes in one on the 13th. In the final round Harold "Jug" McSpaden came out of the pack with a 66 to win his fourth tournament in five starts. Nearly $8,000 in proceeds from the tournament were donated to the American Women's Voluntary Service through Mrs. Bob Hope.

Sam Snead

Sam Snead, just back from 26 months in the Navy, was expected to battle it out with "Athlete of the Year" Byron Nelson in the 19th Northern Trust Open, but the situation looked hopeless when Snead hooked his ball into the base of a tree on the seventh, leaving himself no clear shot to the green. Taking a five iron, he smashed it into a trunk, purposely bending the club. The ball sailed onto the green just 25 feet from the pin. His luck continued on 18 when he laid a 285-yard drive within five feet of the pin for a birdie. His 283 gave him a one-stroke lead over Nelson and McSpaden.

Byron Nelson

Byron Nelson had finished 1945 by winning an incredible 19 tournaments and had finished in the money in 102 consecutive contests. He joined former winners Ben Hogan and Sam Snead as obvious favorites. Snead led the first round, but succumbed to high winds and the trees surrounding the course. Hogan also had troubles, taking a six on the 12th and a five on the 13th in round one. Having played in 11 Northern Trust Opens without a victory, Byron Nelson attacked the course, hit on 17 greens and took only 34 putts for a 69. His consistent play on the final two days gave him a five-stroke victory over Hogan.

Ben Hogan

For the 21st Northern Trust Open, Sam Snead, Ben Hogan, Jimmy Demaret and Lloyd Mangrum were the pre-tourney favorites. The second day proved it was Hogan's tournament, as he tied the course record with a 66, sinking four putts of more than 30 feet. Hogan continued his winning form on the final two days, setting a course record at 280.

Ben Hogan

Truman predicted that 1948 would be a very good year. And it was, at least for Ben Hogan, who was to win the PGA, US Open and capture his third Northern Trust Open crown. More than 400 golfers came to try for only 150 spots, requiring a nine-course qualifying. Walter Hagen showed up half an hour late for his starting time and was disqualified. Deciding that his course record in 1947 wasn't good enough, Hogan opened with a 68, then followed with two 70s and a 67 for an amazing nine-under-par 275. His record would not be equalled for 25 years. Later that year, Hogan returned to the Riviera course for the US Open, almost equalling his record with a 276, for his third straight victory at Riviera.

Lloyd Mangrum

The purse was upped to $15,000 for 1949, attracting so many participants that qualifying was a 36-hole event at eight courses. Four-time winner MacDonald Smith played in his 23rd consecutive Northern Trust Open – also his last. Lloyd Mangrum warmed up the freezing course considerably on the second day, shooting a record-tying 66. His efforts included sinking a 25-foot putt at 13 and a 30-foot putt on the 14th. After a third round 76, Mangrum returned to form and fired a 70 for a 284 and his first Northern Trust Open championship.

Sam Snead

Having just returned to golf after a near-fatal auto accident, Ben Hogan was definitely the fan's choice for 1950. Statistics favored Hogan too, with three Northern Trust Open championships ('42, '47 and '48) and three wins at Riviera (two Northern Trust Opens and one US Open), including a course record 275 in the '48 Northern Trust Open. It looked as though Jerry Barber might take the prize from Hogan, but rain stopped play in the third round, scores reverted back to the second day and cost Barber a 10-stroke lead. Sam Snead arose from out of the pack and birdied the final three holes to force Hogan into an 18-hole playoff. Snead defeated Hogan 72-76 for his third win at Los Angeles.

Lloyd Mangrum

The Northern Trust Open celebrated its 25th anniversary with a Silver Jubilee Dinner and an Old Timers Tournament featuring golfers who had finished in the top 10 in the first 10 Northern Trust Opens. Favored Sam Snead kicked off the 25th with a 67, including an eagle on nine. Henry Ranson started round two with three birdies on the first five holes to take the lead. Snead played round three with a broken bone in this left hand, but his 70 was only good for third. In a dramatic come-from-behind finish, Lloyd Mangrum fired a 67 and topped it with a 21-foot chip shot on the final hole for a one-stroke victory over Ranson and his second Northern Trust Open title.

Tommy Bolt

The purse was again upped to $17,500 which made everyone happy – but the PGA was upset because the Northern Trust Open defied its ban on black players. Jack Burke opened play with a 69, while the rest of the players failed to get down to par. Burke's second round was not quite as spectacular, but he still managed to lead the field with a 75. Regular play ended with a three-way tie among Burke, Dutch Harrison and Tommy Bolt at five-over-par 289. The playoff provided the real excitement of the tourney, as Bolt triumphed with a 69, which included a triple bogey on 18. Burke and Harrison shot 71 and 74, respectively.

Lloyd Mangrum

The 27th Northern Trust Open saw the purse raised to $20,000 and the establishment of Lloyd Mangrum as a tournament superstar along with MacDonald Smith and Ben Hogan. It was Mangrum's tournament from the beginning, as he opened with a 69 at Riviera. Jay Hebert pulled ahead in round two, but Mangrum fired another 69 in the third round for a five-stroke lead over Art Wall and Jack Burke, Jr. Mangrum maintained his lead in the final round for a third Northern Trust Open crown. This was also the first year that the tournament was televised. The last two days were carried by ABC over KECA.

Bill Nary led for the first two rounds, but skidded to 74 on the third day. In the same round Fred Wampler fired a five-under-par 66 to take the lead. Scores soared as rain marred the final day of play. Wampler carded a 75, but managed a one-stroke victory for his first win on the tour.

Rain, freezing temperatures and wind gusts of 40 mph greeted the 1955 Northern Trust Open at Inglewood Country Club. Despite the adverse conditions, Francis Winger fired a 68, followed by Eric Monti at 69 in round one. The second day saw Gardner Dickinson fire a stupendous 66 to share the lead with Monti, who turned in a 67. Gene Littler also turned in a four-under-par round. Monti shot a 68 in round three for an eight-under total of 205. He was followed by Dickinson at 206 and Littler at 207. On the final day Littler took it with a 69, while Monti turned in a 77 and Dickinson shot a 76.

Lloyd Mangrum

The 30th Northern Trust Open was indeed a memorable tournament, as records fell and the purse rose to $32,500. Defending champion Gene Littler was the pre-tourney favorite. However, it was Lloyd Mangrum right from the start, firing a 66 as he pushed towards his fourth Northern Trust Open win. He turned in another in round two, but was overshadowed by Tommy Bolt's performance. Bolt went out in 33, then fired six straight birdies on the back nine, with no birdie putt longer than 20 feet. His most spectacular moment came on the 506-yard ninth hole. After firing one out-of-bounds and taking a two-stroke penalty, he saved par by sinking a 31-foot putt. His 63 was a tournament record. Mangrum continued his own record-setting play with a 68 for a record three-round total of 200. He could do no better than 72 in the final round, but he set a new tournament record and joined the late MacDonald Smith as the only four-time winners of the tournament.

Doug Ford

The rainy tournament produced the closest competition yet as round one ended in a four-way tie for the lead among Billy Casper, Marty Furgol, Doug Higgins and Bob Thomas. All turned in three-under-par 68s. The young Casper turned in another 68 in round two, with five birdies on the back nine, to take a one-stroke lead over Gardner Dickinson. Dickinson struggled to the lead in round three, while amateur Tommy Jacobs fired a 66. With nine holes remaining on the final day, only two strokes separated the top 16 in the field. It was Doug Ford's consistent play (69-71-71-69-280) that brought him a one stroke victory.

Frank Stranahan

The first round belonged to the “Old Timers” as Smiley Quick of Los Angeles took the lead with a four under par 67, followed by Frank Stranahan, Bob Rosburg, Stan Dulas and Dutch Harrison with 68s. Harrison followed his 68 with a one under par 70 for a 138 total and the lead. On the ninth hole in the fourth round, Frank Stranahan hit his second shot close to the fence that lined the fairway. He decided to play the ball as it lay and stopped it one foot from the pin. Tapping it in for a birdie, he went on to finish with a second consecutive 67 and the tournament championship with a nine under par total of 275. A record 52,500 fans turned out for the 1958 Northern Trust Open.

Ken Venturi

Ken Venturi's final round 63 brought him from eight strokes off the lead to win the 1959 Northern Trust Open. This will probably remain as one of the most memorable rounds in the tournament's history. Venturi entered the tournament as one of the favorites along with Billy Casper, Dow Finsterwald, Arnold Palmer and Art Wall, Jr. But it was colorful Johnny Bulla, with his baseball style grip, who surprised the field with a first round 64 to take the lead. Round three was Art Wall's showcase as he followed his second round 68 with another 68 to take the lead with a total of 207. At that point, Venturi was in the unenviable position of being eight strokes behind the leader Art Wall's at 215. The next day Venturi took revenge by shooting a six-under-par 30 on the front side, including back-to-back eagles on eight and nine, three more birdies on the back nine, bogeying only number 12, and finishing with the lowest final round score in the history of the tournament.

1960

Dow Finsterwald

The first round leader for 1960 was Eric Monti of the Hillcrest Country Club, who one-putted nine greens and took the lead with a five-under-par 66 on the Rancho Park course. Monti held his lead against Dow Finsterwald on the second day by one stroke with a 69. Rain forced a one-day delay, but gave Monti a chance to take the lead again with a three-under-par 68. His brilliant play collapsed when he turned in a nine-over-par 80 on the final day of play. Finsterwald turned in his second 71 to add the Northern Trust Open to his list of championships.

Bob Goalby

An excellent gallery turned out on the first day of play at Rancho Park, many expecting to see Arnold Palmer demonstrate his superiority over the rest of the field. Instead they saw him drive his second shot out of bounds four times on the par 5 ninth hole before hitting over the green, coming back with a chip and finally tapping in a short putt for an unforgettable 13. Meanwhile, Ted Knoll took the first round with a five-under-par 66. On the second day of play, Paul Harney matched his opening round total of 68 and took the lead followed closely by Ken Venturi and Bob Goalby at 137. Goalby, who had been runner-up in the first three rounds, took charge on the last day with a four-under-par 67, winning the tournament by three strokes over Art Wall and Eric Brown.

1962

Phil Rodgers

Bob Goalby lead after the first round with a seven-under-par 64. Twenty-three other players broke par. Goalby held on to the lead with a par 71 on the second day, but was being pressed by another excellent player, Tony Lema, while Tommy Jabobs and Gay Brewer were not far behind. The third round ended in a tie between Fred Hawkins and Phil Rodgers. Rodgers, 23, had only been on the tour since July – less than six months. On the final day Rodgers started out with a birdie on the first hole and took off from there. He finished with a nine-under-par 62 for a 72-hole total of 268, the lowest winning total in the history of the tournament. He needed only 26 putts to card the record-breaking round and win the tournament by nine strokes. 1962 was the year that Jack Nicklaus picked up his first check as a pro – $33.33.

He added a second 69 in round two and a 70 on the third day, but was still two strokes back from the leader Art Wall. Palmer took it in the final round with a 66 for a three-stroke margin over Gary Player.

Paul Harney

It was two unknowns who led the first day of play with 67s – Roger Ginzburg, who had never led a PGA event before and Jim Black, a 21-year old playing in his first tournament. Round two saw Tommy Jacobs, Bobby Nichols and Jim Clark move to the front. Eventual winner Paul Harney made his move in round three, carding a 66. He held on with a 71 in the final round for what he termed his biggest win to date.

Paul Harney

Four-time winner Lloyd Mangrum served as honorary chairman of the 39th tournament as the purse climbed to $70,000. Billy Casper started things off with a 66, followed by defending champion Paul Harney at 68. Casper held on to his lead in round two while Harney picked up a stroke. Shooting a second 68 in round three, Harney pulled ahead by two. A final round 69 made Harney the second man to win two consecutive tournaments, the first being Ben Hogan in 1947-48. This feat was even more spectacular considering that Harney had just recovered from a two-week bout with pneumonia and had time for only two practice rounds. The Junior Chamber's Art Foundation was established with a $25,000 donation from the Northern Trust Open's proceeds.

Arnold Palmer

The 40th Northern Trust Open brought with it a $75,000 purse and the first national television coverage. Arnold Palmer's opening 72 didn't indicate that he would eventually take the tournament, but he settled down to a 66 in round two to pull within one stroke of leader Dave Ragan. Palmer's third round 62 tied the course record set in 1962 by Phil Rodgers and the tournament three-round record of 200 set 10 years earlier by Lloyd Mangrum. Although turning in a 73 on the last round, Palmer still maintained a three-stroke victory over Harney for his second Northern Trust Open crown.

Arnold Palmer

There were several firsts at the 41st Northern Trust Open – color television, a separate qualifying tournament for six amateur spots, a $100,000 purse and a new communications system tied into five leader boards. Arnold Palmer's opening 70 was four back of the leader as 40 players broke par the first day. He came back with a 64 in round two, but was still back of Don Massengale, who had turned in rounds of 67 and 65. A third round 67 gave Palmer a four-stroke lead and he finished the tournament with a 68. His winning 269 was just one off the tournament record set in 1962 by Phil Rodgers.

1968

There was a four-way tie for the lead in round one and a five-way tie on the second day. Billy Casper shared the lead with Dave Archer, Al Geiberger and Dave Stockton. Casper's third round 68 gave him a one-stroke lead, as rain forced the PGA to shorten the course. Casper then turned in a final round 69 for a three-stroke victory over Arnold Palmer.

1969

Charles Sifford opened the 1969 tournament with an amazing 63 (28 on the back nine), and an eagle on the 13th. Harold Henning turned in the best third round score with a 66, as he moved into position to challenge Sifford. A final round 68 gave Henning a tie with Sifford at 276. Sifford then birdied the first hole of a sudden death playoff to take the championship.

Billy Casper

Rain temporarily interrupted play in the 44th Northern Trust Open, but 44 players were still able to break par in the first round. It was Billy Casper's tournament from the start as he turned in three straight 68s with only two bogeys in 54 holes. In round three Hale Irwin turned in a 67 to take the lead. This was also the round in which Bob Lunn birdied Hole 11 with a spectacular 70-foot sand wedge shot that rolled into the cup. Regular play ended in a tie between Casper and Irwin at 276. It was Casper in the sudden death playoff on 15 who laid his approach shot just five feet from the hole, then sunk it for a birdie and his second Northern Trust Open championship in three years.

1971

Bob Lunn

Country western singer Glen Campbell joined forces with the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open was created. Billy Casper lost out to Bob Lunn in a tense, four-hole playoff. The Lunn-Casper playoff began on the 15th hole and they battled all the way to the 18th before a decision was reached. There Lunn put his approach shot 18 inches from the flag while Casper was on the green. Casper failed in his attempt at a birdie and Lunn stepped in to roll in the putt to take the $22,000 first prize and another big step in his career.

George Archer

The 46th Northern Trust Open continued in a new tradition – the playoff – as the tournament ended in a tie for the fourth year in a row. Pre-tourney favorites Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Lee Trevino led the field in pursuit of the $125,000 purse at Rancho Park. Fred Marti, just recovering from pneumonia, took the first round lead with a 65. Round two ended in a tie between former winner Charles Sifford and Tommy Aaron at 134. Regular play ended in a three way tie among George Archer, Tommy Aaron and Dave Hill at 270. An 18-hole playoff resulted in George Archer walking away with his first Northern Trust Open Championship with a 66, as Aaron and Hill carded 68s.

1973

Rod Funseth

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino, among others, turned out for the 47th Northern Trust Open. The surprise was that none of them took the tournament that year. Rod Funseth, playing for the first time in 20 years, beat probably the finest field assembled in the tournament's 47-year history. Funseth's eight-under-par score of 276 was only one shot over Ben Hogan's record at Riviera, set in the 1948 Northern Trust Open. It included a sensational 65 on the third round, which provided the margin of victory. David Graham, Dave Hill, Tom Weiskopf and Don Bies tied for second at 279, three back of Funseth.

1974

Dave Stockton

The 1974 tourney demanded the “greatest shot I ever hit” from winner Dave Stockton. In a repeat of the 1973 tournament, Stockton led the field after 36 holes. But unlike the previous year, he withstood the pressure levied by veteran Sam Snead and younger stars Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller to take the top money with an eight under par 276. Stockton’s “greatest shot” came on the final hole of the final round. Tied for the lead with John Mahaffey and with Snead just one shot back, Stockton hit a three-wood 247 yards from the rough on a downhill lie to within 12 feet of the pin, then sunk his birdie for the win.

Pat Fitzsimons

The 49th Northern Trust Open was billed as a confrontation between Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller, with defending champion Dave Stockton bent on making it two in a row. Nicklaus eagled the first hole in round one, but the lead went to Lee Trevino with a 66. Only two players broke par in round two due to high winds. Round three saw the emergence of the virtually unknown Pat Fitzsimons, who set a new course record with a seven under par 64. With only one bogey and six birdies, his most spectacular shot was an eagle on 11 requiring a 75-foot putt from the front edge of the green. Starting round four with a six-stroke lead, the young player withstood pressure from Nicklaus, who turned in a 65 and Tom Kite, with a 68. Fitzsimons’ 70 gave him his first tour victory and tied the Riviera course record set by Ben Hogan in 1948.

Hale Irwin

The 50th Northern Trust Open was truly a golden tournament as Hale Irwin came from three strokes off Tom Watson's lightning three-round pace to win the tourney and set a Riviera course record. Playing just ahead of Watson, Irwin began his fourth round charge on the 506-yard first hole where he pitched in from 60 feet for an eagle. Watson followed him up with an eagle of his own on the same hole, reaching the hole in two and sinking a 25-foot putt. Irwin parred the sixth and had a tie as Watson bogeyed. Irwin took the lead when he parred the 11th hole and Watson once again bogeyed. Watson parred the final hole but so did Irwin, who walked away with $37,000 of the $185,000 purse.

1977

Tom Purtzer

Tom Purtzer sank a five-foot pressure par putt on the 72nd green at Riviera to win his first tour event. This climaxed a desperate battle between Purtzer and his closest pursuer Lanny Wadkins. Purtzer began the fourth round three strokes ahead of Wadkins. Wadkins, applying the pressure, moved into the lead as they turned toward the back nine. Purtzer birdied the 16th hole and the lead was his again; he parred 17 and approached the 18th hole. His tee shot veered wildly to the right near some eucalyptus trees, which forced him to hit a low three iron second, Purtzer failed to reach the green, but his 30-foot chip left him five precious feet short, setting up the climactic putt.

Gil Morgan

It was a relatively unknown professional who beat out Jack Nicklaus for the 1978 Northern Trust Open title. Gil Morgan, an optometrist, turned in scores of 66, 69, 73 and 70 for a total of 278 to win the tournament. Going into the final round, Nicklaus and Morgan were tied for the lead, but Nicklaus' game broke down on the final holes of play. He took a double bogey on the 15th hole and then bogeyed the 16th. All Morgan had to do to win was hold out under pressure on the final holes. He sank a short putt on the 18th green for the victory.

Lanny Wadkins

Lanny Wadkins ignored the bitter cold rain on the first day of play at the 53rd Northern Trust Open and shot a four under-par-66 – spectacular considering the weather. But 18 other players also broke par on the Riviera course that first day. On the second day, Lon Hinkle took over the lead after shooting a 69. Going into the final round, Wadkins was in the lead but also tied with Hinkle and veteran Kermit Zarley. The tournament wasn't decided until the 18th hole with what would be the last putt of play. Lanny Wadkins was faced with sinking a 10-foot putt on the 18th to save par and avoid a sudden death play-off with Lon Hinkle. Wadkins coolly sank the putt and finished the tournament $45,000 richer.

Tom Watson

Tom Watson picked up his second victory of the season with a four round total eight-under 276. Watson led at the halfway mark at seven-under-par. Bob Gilder, Bill Sander and Don January were just one stroke behind with a three-under-par 68. The final round had Watson playing in front of Gilder and January, hitting his second shot just off the right edge of the green, but got down in two for his par. January and Gilder, who were tied with Watson going to the last hole, came up short on their second shots and wound up with bogeys. Watson had won while nervously standing beside the 18th green.

Johnny Miller

Johnny Miller was back! On day one, former tournament winner Gil Morgan blistered the course with a six-under-par 65; Miller was one stroke behind. On day two, Miller shot a 69 and was within two strokes of the halfway leader, Miller Barber. Almost unnoticed, Tom Weiskopf stood just three strokes behind the leader. Miller shot a third round 67, four under par, but it was only good enough to tie Ed Sneed for the lead. Day four was a four-way shootout, Miller, Weiskopf, Barber and Morgan refused to bow to pressure. When the final putt had dropped, Miller pocketed the winner's check and a Northern Trust Open record score of 270, 14 under par.

Tom Watson

In one of the greatest Northern Trust Open comebacks, Tom Watson defeated Johnny Miller on the third hole of a sudden death playoff to capture the title. The tournament began with an exceptional round by virtual unknown Terry Mauney, who shot an eight-under-par 63 to set a new Riviera Course record. Mauney led Tom Weiskopf, Wayne Levi and Mike Morley by four strokes after the first round. Weiskopf then took the second round lead by shooting another 67 for a two round total of an eight-under-par 134. The third round ended with a pair of leaders as both Weiskopf and Johnny Miller finished play at an 11-under-par 202. Tom Watson trailed the co-leaders by two strokes. The final of the tournament was all Miller and Watson and it looked as if Miller had wrapped up the championship. But he bogeyed the 17th and 18th holes while Watson was dropping in a four-foot par putt to send the Northern Trust Open into its first overtime since 1952.

Gil Morgan

Fuzzy Zoeller opened the tournament shooting a seven-under-par 64 to lead by one stroke over Arnold Palmer, Gary Hallberg and Payne Stewart. The lead shifted in the second round as Gibby Gilbert shot a 66 for an 11-under-par 131. Zoeller dropped to second. The third round ended with four players tied at 11 under with 202: Gil Morgan, Mark McCumber, Gene Littler and Lanny Wadkins. Palmer, Gilbert, Zoeller and George Archer (who set a course record 61) were tied at 203. In the final round Gil Morgan put together a 68 for a two-stroke victory over Lanny Wadkins. McCumber pursued Morgan but on the par 3, 212-yard 17th, Morgan carded a birdie as McCumber settled for par. On the 18th McCumber bogeyed, Morgan won his sixth PGA victory, his second in 1983.

David Edwards

David Edwards began the final day of play two shots off the lead and two over par for the tournament. He immediately birdied the first two holes to take a share of the lead, led by two at the turn, and never looked back as he won his first PGA TOUR title. The week preceding the final day was frustrating for most pros. Winds whipped the course at speeds up to 40 m.p.h. There was a seven-way tie for the top spot after the first round at one-under par. Second and third round scores also hovered around par. Sunday brought calm and sunny relief for the leaders as well as the gallery that had shied away from the winds. Jack Nicklaus was clearly the crowd favorite going into the last day, but he was sapped on the first hole after three-putting for a bogey. It was an uphill climb for him to shoot a 69 and finish alone in third. Jay Haas, Fred Couples and Jack Renner were tied at the top of the leader board going into day four. Haas dropped out of contention, bumping his way to a 76 finish, tied for 13th. Couples had trouble early and was five-over after four holes. He ended tied for eighth. Renner was the only golfer left with a chance of forcing a playoff with Edwards. His drive off the 18th landed in the rough 221 yards out. Renner, needing to hole-out from there to force a tie, hit a shot that rolled off the green and had to salvage a bogey, and settle for second place. Edwards record low score of 64 on the final day was added to his record high total of 279. The card was the highest winning score at the Riviera since Lloyd Mangrum's 280 in 1953, and the highest in the tournament since Paul Harney's 280 at Rancho Park in 1964.

Lanny Wadkins

Lanny Wadkins captured his second Northern Trust Open title in record-setting style shooting a 20-under-par 264 (63-70-67-64), seven strokes in front of second place finisher Hal Sutton. In the first round of tournament play, Wadkins shot a 63, eight-under-par, which tied the Riviera Course record set by Terry Mauney in the 1982 Northern Trust Open. Wadkins' 31-32 round over the par 35-36 course surprisingly didn't put him far ahead of the rest of the field. Pat Lindsey and local favorite Tony Sills both shot rounds of 31-34 for a six-under 65 and a share of second place. Unfortunately for Wadkins, he didn't get to admire his spectacular record-tying for long. In the second round, 26-year-old Larry Mize broke Mauney's and Wadkins' record, firing an incredible 29 on the front and 33 on the back for a course-shattering 62. Both Hal Sutton and Gary Koch equaled their first round 66 for a second round score of 132 and a share of the lead with Mize. Wadkins shot a 70 for 133 total. Hal Sutton's surge on the 18th in the third round, needing only a par to share the 13-under 200 lead with Wadkins, fell short as he double bogeyed six, which dropped him to second place with Corey Pavin and Gary Koch. Pavin had the honor of owning the day's low round of seven-under 64. In the final round, Pavin shot a 70 for a third place finish, and Chip Beck, Gary Koch and Craig Stadler ended tied for fourth at 273.

Doug Tewell

In front of a Riviera record crowd of 41,352, 36-year-old Doug Tewell recorded eight birdies en route to an eight-under-par 63, for a 14-under 270, a seven stroke victory over Clarence Rose (277), and a winner's check of $81,000. Tewell was three strokes behind first round leaders Jay Delsing (a second year pro out of UCLA) and Fresno State product Dennis Trixler who each shot 33-33, 66. Bob Gilder and Mac O'Grady carded 68s, while seven players were in at 69. After 36 holes, Mac O'Grady shot his second 68 (which included a hole-in-one on six) for a six-under-par 136, good enough for a one-stroke lead over Trixler who shot a second round 71 for a 137 two-day total. Mark Lye shot a 66 for 138, and Lennie Clements and Jim Colbert were in at 139. Tewell and defending champion Lanny Wadkins both made their moves in the third round. Tewell birdied the first six holes, which put him at five-under-par 66 (207) with a one shot lead over Wadkins, Trixler and Willie Wood who all were at 208 after 54 holes. Trixler shot a third round 71, while both Wadkins and Wood shot 67s. The final day saw Tewell card a 63 for a runaway seven stroke (270) victory. Clarence Rose, a five-year pro out of Goldsboro, NC, shot a 68 to finish second at 277, good for $48,600. Jay Delsing and Jim Gallagher shot 68 and 69 respectively finishing tied for fourth at 279. Wadkins' anticipated charge on the final day never developed as he shot a 72 and finished tied for sixth at 280 along with Corey Pavin, Barry Jaeckel and Antonio Cerda.

T.C. Chen

After a hole-in-one on number six in the third round, which led to a 67, 204 total, 28-year-old Tze-Chung Chen went into the final round the sole leader with Danny Edwards (205), Bobby Wadkins (206) and “everybody’s favorite” Ben Crenshaw (206) on his heels. The stage was then set. And on February 22, a Riviera record crowd of 46,100 was about to witness to the first Northern Trust Open overtime since Tom Watson completed one of the greatest comebacks defeating Johnny Miller on the third hole of a sudden-death playoff in 1982. By the time Chen, Crenshaw and Edwards reached the 18th green, all had putts over 15 feet for birdie. All were tied for the lead. Crenshaw was away. Putting first, his straight-away 15 footer dropped for birdie and the lead. With the crowd still restless from Crenshaw’s shot, Edwards hit. But his putt never came close. It was now all up to Chen and his 16 footer to force a tie and a playoff with the 35-year old Texan. Chen’s par on #15 (the play-off hole) was good enough to win the $108,000 first place check. Crenshaw was in trouble from the start when his drive landed left on a dirt road. He wound up bogeying the hole and settling for $64,800 and second place.

Chip Beck

Jay Haas, along with Chip Beck, Dan Pohl and Jumbo Ozaki all were tied atop the leaderboard at the end of the first day at 65. Round two saw Ben Crenshaw shoot 64 (two shots off Larry Mize's course record), to share the lead with Haas at 133. Crenshaw wasn't alone in the "assault on Riviera" department. Perfect weather conditions, hard fast fairways and soft greens contributed to the record low 142, even par cut. Beck's third round 65, for a 199, was one shot better than Wadkins' 200 set in 1985. Steve Elkington, Haas and Ed Fiori were tied back at 202. Beck's concern in the final round wasn't only Mac O'Grady and Bill Sander, who tied for second at 271. It was mother nature. Two rain delays, which stopped play for more than two hours, threatened to cut the tournament short at 54 holes. As it would turn out, play continued, and Beck still was able to record six birdies that led to a 68, 267 giving him his first PGA TOUR victory.

Mark Calcavecchia

The tournament began with near perfect weather conditions, enabling Steve Pate and Mark Brooks to get into the clubhouse with four under par 67s before the day turned cold and windy. Steady showers on Friday flooded some greens and play was suspended with Mark Calcavecchia and Sandy Lyle tied for the lead at 134. Rain delayed the start of the third round until mid-afternoon and the leaders were able to complete only nine holes before darkness suspended play. At that point, Fred Couples had caught and tied Calcavecchia and Lyle for the lead at 169. Sunday morning saw the completion of the third round and Lyle had a two stroke lead over Calcavecchia. Calcavecchia remained two strokes behind Lyle through the front nine, then birdied holes 10 and 12 and parred the remaining holes to come away as both victor and survivor, fighting off a tremendous field with a 68 to take home the $180,000 first prize.

Fred Couples

The first round saw Michael Allen, a 31-year-old PGA TOUR rookie, shoot a near-course record 63 to take an early two-stroke lead. He continued to lead the field through 36 holes with a Riviera record 131, 11 under par. Just one back was Rocco Mediate, who shot 67. Saturday's third round saw a course-record-tying 62 by Fred Couples, rocketing him to a two-shot lead over Mediate and Gil Morgan. Sunday saw Couples lose the lead to Morgan at 9. They battled back and fourth until Morgan double-bogeyed 15, Couples birdied 16 and 18 for a final round of 69 and his first title since 1987.

Ted Schulz

Andrew Magee opened Thursday with a course record 28 on the front nine and a 66 for the day, one stroke behind leaders Wayne Grady and Larry Nelson. Round two saw Bruce Lietzke's 63 give him a two stroke lead over Davis Love III (65), Ted Schulz (66), Magee and Jeff Sluman. Ben Crenshaw had a hole in one at 14. Saturday saw Sluman catch Lietzke with a 68. They held a one stroke lead on Love and Schulz. Round four was a see-saw battle, and when Lietzke and Sluman missed birdie putts at 18, Schulz emerged as the improbable victor in a dramatic finish.

Fred Couples

Los Angeles golf fans' adopted hero, Fred Couples, fought off a great field, defeating Davis Love III in a playoff to capture his second Nissan Open in three years at Riviera. The 1991 PGA TOUR Player of the Year dropped in an eight foot birdie putt on the second playoff hole to defeat Love, who had led the tournament by as many as four strokes midway through the third round. Going into the fourth round Couples, paired with Love and Tom Sieckmann, promptly knocked his first drive of the day out of bounds and wound up with a double-bogey seven. He rebounded, however, with a birdie on the difficult par-4, 460-yard second hole and played steady golf the rest of the round. Eventually Sieckmann (75) and Mediate (70) faded while Jay Haas and Yoshinori Kaneko shot 65s to post a score of 270, 14-under.

Tom Kite

Rain and windy conditions made the course play longer and tougher than usual in 1993. Just 22 players in the 144-man field broke par in the first round. Enthusiastic crowds and a fantastic finish highlighted Tom Kite's victory. Kite, golf's all-time leader money winner, broke from a large pack of leaders on the back nine with five birdies on the final seven holes. A finishing score of 67 was enough to hold off defending champion Fred Couples by three strokes to capture the title. The tournament was shortened to 54 holes for the first time in history when heavy rains washed out Friday's round. Saturday brought blue skies with Couples moving into a four-way tie for the lead with a 67. Joining him at a four-under-par 138 was Stewart (66), Marco Dawson (67) and Donnie Hammond (69). Seven players, including Kite (66), stood one back at 139 and a total of 27 players were within three strokes of the lead.

1994

Corey Pavin

On the final day, a record crowd of 53,009 filled the natural amphitheater surrounding the 18th green cheering each change in the leader board as they waited for the dueling leaders to approach. The turning point occurred as Couples three-putted the par 3, 14th hole. Pavin followed on 16 by sinking a 25-foot putt from the collar of the green to open his lead to two strokes. Pavin kept the pressure up on 17 by landing his third shot 12 feet from the hole. As each player approached 18, Pavin sensed it was over. Both players parred the hole and Pavin notched his first Tour victory since 1992.

1995

Corey Pavin

Although they went head-to-head for the first five holes, this year's finale was not a repeat of last year's duel between Pavin and Couples. Pavin pulled ahead for good with a 12-foot birdie putt on the par 3 sixth. He had a two-stroke lead after nine, and birdied the 10th to open it up to three. Pavin savored his rapidly approaching victory. Kenny Perry finished himself off for good on hole 13, with a long, out-of-bounds drive into the rough and had to take a double-bogey. As he approached the legendary 18th, the crowd rose to its feet in appreciation for what Perry had accomplished. Pavin tipped his hat to the crowd and clearly enjoyed his newfound status. After sinking his last putt, Pavin's closing round of 67 put him at a 16-under, 268 total. Corey became the fifth player in Northern Trust Open history to win back-to-back titles.

1996

Craig Stadler

Craig Stadler began the tournament tied at 67 with Steve Elkington, the winner of the Riviera-based 1995 PGA Championship, and Robert Wrenn after the first round. Scott Simpson was one back at 68 along with 1988 Northern Trust Open Champion Chip Beck and David Toms. After Friday's round of 34 on the front side and a 36 on the back, Stadler found himself one stroke behind the leader Robert Wrenn. However, Saturday's round of 73 put Stadler further back in the field, tied with Fred Couples and Steve Elkington, four strokes back of the leader Neal Lancaster, who shot a 65, the second best round of the tournament. That set the stage for Sunday. Stadler, after losing his putter earlier in the week, set out for the final round on the Riviera course which, as usual, was playing difficult throughout the tournament. He started out with a great round of five-under for a 30 on the front side to go eight-under for the tournament. However, down the stretch, Stadler bogeyed the 15th and 16th. After paring the 17th, he just missed a birdie putt on the 18th to finish at 278, six under par.

1997

Nick Faldo

The final round of the 1997 Northern Trust Open began with Nick Faldo one shot in front of Craig Stadler and Scott McCarron who were tied at eight-under. At the very beginning of the final round, Stadler pulled even with Faldo on the first hole when he hit a 20-foot putt for a birdie on the par five. But the tie was short-lived. Faldo also birdied the first when his approach shot landed only a foot and a half from the cup. He then increased his lead to two strokes with a birdie on the par four fifth hole. Building a three-shot lead going into the final holes, Faldo had a comfortable cushion. Stadler's attempt to repeat was finally ended when another of his putts lipped the cup. "If I had birdied 17 and gotten within two shots, I might have had a chance," said Stadler. "I gave myself a solid lead," Faldo said. "But I had to work hard to keep it." This was the eighth time Faldo played in the Northern Trust Open. "This is not just another win. The Riviera Country Club has a great history and I know it was a favorite of Ben Hogan's," Faldo said. "This is the kind of course on which I was meant to win, and I played it exactly the way I wanted to."

Billy Mayfair

Billy Mayfair sank an eight-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a playoff with Tiger Woods to capture the 1998 Northern Trust Open, played for the first time at the Valencia Country Club. The win was his first victory in three years as he took home the $378,000 first place check in the $2.1 million dollar event. On the first playoff hole, Woods pushed his tee shot into the gallery on the right side of the fairway on 18. His second shot landed 40 feet from the right front of the green. His approach wedge shot rolled 18 feet past the pin, leaving a treacherous downhill putt. In the meantime, Mayfair was 90 yards from the green in the middle of the fairway, and his wedge shot stopped just eight feet from the hole. Woods barely missed his putt on the left side of the hole, thus leaving the tournament for Mayfair to win with a short putt.

Ernie Els

Going into the final day, Ted Tryba had a two-stroke lead much to the credit of a tournament record 61 in the third round. However, Tryba lost his lead by the third hole on Sunday and, at the turn, found himself in a three way tie with Tiger Woods and Ernie Els. At the 11th hole, Tryba took a one-stroke lead with a 15 foot birdie putt. However, Els tied Tryba with a 20 foot putt on the 12th hole. Meanwhile, Woods, who hadn't bogeyed the back nine all week, did so on the 13th hole due to an errant drive. Els maintained his lead; however, the 23-year-old South African left a small opening for Tryba and Woods by missing a four foot putt on the 18th hole. Needing birdies to force a playoff, Woods and Tryba both missed the green on their approach shots. Woods hit it right, 15 yards down an embankment and into a concession stand, while Tryba was chipping just off the putting surface. Both chips were slightly over 12 feet, and both were missed. Davis Love III, the third man in the group, parred the hole with a four foot putt to tie for second place. Els, who was playing his first PGA TOUR event since the Canadian Open in September, won his seventh TOUR event and moved past the $5 million dollar mark in career earnings. Els stated after his victory, "The Northern Trust Open is definitely one of the most prestigious stops on the tour because of its history. Now I can say I'm part of that history".

2000

Kirk Triplett

Twenty-nine of the tournament's remaining 71 players were within reach of third-round leader David Sutherland at the start of Sunday's play. In fact, six players trailed by only one stroke, including eventual winner, Kirk Triplett. The competition was wide open throughout the morning rounds until Triplett birdied holes 9 and 10 to lead the field by three strokes. However, on the 18th hole, trailing by two strokes, Jesper Parnevik put his approach shot 22 feet from the pin for a birdie opportunity that would pull the young Swede to within one stroke of the lead. The excitement built as he drilled his long putt into the middle of the cup, thus forcing Triplett to sink his four-foot par-saver to win. Kirk, veteran of 11 years without a win, sank the downhill putt for his first victory in a record 266 events for the first place check of $558,000.

Robert Allenby

Davis Love III had a three-stroke lead going into the final round of the tournament's 75th Anniversary event. However, with his lead cut to only one stroke with four holes left to play, Love finished with a disastrous four over par, eliminating him from any chance of victory. Both Robert Allenby and Jeff Sluman only needed a par on the final hole to force their two-man playoff; however, they both bogeyed, thus joining four other players in a tie for the lead after regulation play. Riviera's 451-yard 18th hole was playing extremely difficult on the rain-soaked course and only one birdie was carded on this historic finishing hole. In the playoff, only Bob Tway and Allenby reached the green in regulation. Tway's approach shot landed 35 feet from the pin, just barely on the putting surface. Then Allenby, 220 yards from the pin using his 3-wood, hit his shot just six feet from the hole. After Tway's putt finished just short of the hole, Allenby converted his winning putt for his third PGA TOUR victory while improving his playoff record to 7 and 0 as a professional.

Len Mattiace

After 220 attempts at a victory on the PGA TOUR, Len Mattiace finally achieved his goal. Along the way, he also won his largest paycheck of $666,000. However, it didn't come easy as Scott McCarron tried his best to maintain his final round lead on the way to what would have been the fourth victory of his career. Going into the 12th hole with a three-stroke lead, McCarron felt it was his tournament to win or lose. After all, in his three victories on the PGA TOUR, each came after having the 54-hole lead. However, McCarron bogeyed two of his final three holes and three putted the 18th green, which was only good enough for a share of second. The real hard luck case was Brad Faxon who missed birdie putts of 8 and 12 feet down the stretch. Then, on the 18th green, he missed a 12 foot putt that would have tied him for the lead and a playoff with Mattiace. Also, Rory Sabbatini had a chance for a playoff, but failed to get up and down from the rough on 17 and tied for 2nd place with McCarron and Faxon with a 270 total score. In the end, it was a great day for Mattiace. The 34-year old from Jacksonville, Florida closed with a 68 on the final day for the victory.

2003

Mike Weir

Charles Howell III held a three-stroke lead over veteran Nick Price, four strokes over K.J. Choi and five-strokes over last year's tournament champion Len Mattiace and 2002 PGA Champion Rich Beam. However, with the leaders failing to break par, Mike Weir, trailing by seven strokes at the beginning of the day, shot a 66 – good enough to force a playoff hole – before he headed for the 10th tee. Howell, who bogeyed the hole in regulation after hitting his tee shot behind a tree on the left, drove into the far right bunker, thereby leaving an almost impossible shot to get close. Meanwhile, Weir played to the middle of the fairway then put his approach eight feet from the pin. In a miraculous shot, Howell came out of the bunker to within six feet. However, after Weir sunk the birdie putt, Howell missed his birdie opportunity. The win was Weir's second of the season after winning the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic just three weeks earlier.

2004

Mike Weir

In 2003, Mike Weir won the tournament after trailing the field by seven strokes on the final day of play. This year, Weir came into the final round with a seemingly comfortable five-stroke lead over Shigeki Maruyama, six strokes over Jeff Maggert and seven strokes over Scott McCarron. After starting out strong on the first three holes, Weir's lead increased to seven strokes over Maruyama. However, after a couple of bogeys, things started to fall into place for Maruyama. By the 16th hole, after sinking his putt for birdie, Maruyama tied Weir at 17 under. Weir, who had come from behind in the final round for all of his six previous wins, took an optimistic view. "If you told me at the beginning of the week I would be tied going into the last hole of the tournament, I would be happy with that." With the rain beginning to fall harder, Maruyama, hitting first, drove into the right rough, 217 yards from the pin. Weir followed with a drive down the middle, 205 away. Then after Maruyama's second shot landed 41 yards short, Weir put himself in a difficult sidehill lie about 45 feet from the flagstick. Maruyama left himself a 12 foot putt, and Weir, after almost holing out a fantastic chip shot, left himself a 16 inch putt. Maruyama missed his par putt and Weir knocked it in for his back-to-back victory. Weir became only the fifth player to win back-to-back, sharing the honor with MacDonald Smith, Ben Hogan, Arnold Palmer, Paul Harney and Corey Pavin.

2005

Adam Scott

In 2005, Southern California was pummeled by days of unforgiving rain during tournament week. In fact, it was the worst rain storm in 50 years. Riviera Country Club, home of the 2005 Northern Trust Open, was inundated by five inches of rain in 48 hours. With course conditions making continuation of the tournament impossible. The event was shortened to a 36 hole event for the first time in the tournament's 79-year history. With Adam Scott and Chad Campbell tied for the lead at nine under par, tournament officials elected to have a sudden death play off on Monday morning. Starting the playoff on the famous 18th hole in the rain, both Scott and Campbell reached the soggy green in regulation. Scott made his four footer for par. Then, what seemed to be a certain continuation of the playoff turned into disaster when Campbell missed his three foot putt to give Scott what should have been his fourth win on the PGA TOUR. However, as a footnote, although the full purse was awarded to the field, the 36-hole event was not considered an official win on the PGA TOUR since it did not satisfy the 54 hole requirement.

Rory Sabbatini

Rory Sabbatini closed with a one-over 72 – the highest final round by a winner at Riviera Country Club since 1977 – and had few complaints. He outlasted Riviera favorite Fred Couples, won for the first time in three years on the PGA TOUR and finally had something to show for his strong start to the season. The clincher was a 45-foot lag putt on the 18th hole to within a foot, leaving him a tap-in for par to avoid a play-off with defending champion Adam Scott. Scott started the final day nine shots behind, shot 31 on the back nine to close with a 64. Couples, a two-time winner at the Northern Trust Open, caught Sabbatini on the 12th hole and stood over an eight-foot birdie putt on the 13th for the outright lead. He left that short, then ran into trouble with bogeys on three of his last four holes for a 71 to finish fourth. Craig Barlow, who also had a share of the lead with three holes to play, missed two short putts down the stretch and had to settle for a 70 that left him in third. Sabbatini finished at 13-under 271 and earned $918,000 for his third PGA TOUR victory. The win shot him to the top of the TOUR money list with more than $2.1 million. He finished the season 12th on the list.

Charles Howell III

Charles Howell III made the putt and slammed the door with an improbable playoff victory over Phil Mickelson at the 2007 event. Howell had gone four years and nine runner-up finishes since his lone PGA TOUR victory. At almost every turn Sunday, he was confronted with so many of his past failures – all the putts he missed, the 10th hole at Riviera that denied him victory in 2003, a chip that cost him a month earlier in Honolulu. He erased those memories with three clutch pars in the playoff, the last one on a solid chip to three feet and a putt that felt like more like 30. Four shots down at the turn, Howell closed with a six-under 65 and faced Mickelson in the longest playoff at Riviera in 25 years until Mickelson missed a 10-foot par try on the 14th. “I had every chance on the back nine to create some separation and not give anyone a chance,” said Mickelson, who twice missed putts inside four feet and closed with a 68. “I felt like I had the tournament in my grasp and let it go.” Coming off a five-shot victory at Pebble Beach where he tied a tournament scoring record, Mickelson was poised to get in the Riviera record books until he stumbled along the back nine. He missed a two-foot par putt on the 13th, then misplayed a four-foot birdie putt on the 16th hole to fall into a share of the lead. Needing a par to win, he came up short on the 18th and hit a pedestrian chip to 18 feet and took bogey. “I had the tournament in control,” Mickelson said. “It happens. It’s part of the game.” They finished at 16-under 268.

Phil Mickelson

Phil Mickelson avenged his 2007 playoff loss to Charles Howell III at Riviera Country Club, becoming only the 2nd left-hander to win since Mike Weir in 2003 and 2004. It was a one-under final round that enabled Mickelson to garner his first victory of the 2008 season and his 33rd PGA TOUR title. Finishing with a 12-under-par 272, he bested his fellow Arizona State Sun Devil Jeff Quinney to win the 2008 Northern Trust Open. "I think it has some of the greatest holes on the PGA TOUR, and it's fun to play well here, because early in my career I did not. This was really the first year I played well here and to break through with a victory feels terrific." Mickelson reversed the memories of last year's failings. "I felt I had the tournament won last year and I bogeyed 18. I didn't want to get ahead of myself. I wanted to try to play each shot smart coming down the stretch and not get too emotional." This strategy proved successful, but he was aided by Quinney's four bogeys over the last six holes of Sunday's round. The two matched birdies on the par-5 11th and again with pars on the par-4 12th before Mickelson's concluded with a string of three pars to round out the final holes for the win.

(Par 71)

Hole by Hole as the Champions See It

HOLE #1 • 503 yards • par 5

“Standing on the first tee and looking down on the first hole is frightening. The fairway looks like a bowling alley. It’s not your basic security hole; but at the same time, you can jump right out of the box and pop up with an eagle.”

Al Geiberger, 1966 PGA Champion, 11 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #2 • 463 yards • par 4

“It’s a hell of a par 4 hole for me because the members play it as a par 5. You’re heading into a quartering wind into a narrow green. I have to hit two woods with very little margin for error because if the pin is back, you’ve only got above 20 feet of green to work with.”

Lee Trevino, 1974 and 1984 PGA Champion, 27 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #3 • 434 yards • par 4

“Maybe the 2nd, 15th, and 18th holes are the toughest, but 3 is no bargain, either. It’ll play longer because you are hitting into the wind. There’s a huge fronting bunker gaping at you, the green is hard, and there will be rough behind it.”

Dave Stockton, 1970 and 1976 PGA Champion, 1974 Northern Trust Open Champion.

HOLE #4 • 236 yards • par 3

Ben Hogan called it “the greatest par 3 hole in America.” Case closed.

Ben Hogan, 1942, 1947 and 1948 Northern Trust Open Champion, 1946 and 1948 PGA Champion.

HOLE #5 • 434 yards • par 4

“I think it’s the best driving hole on the course and it’s the only hole on the course I don’t know how to play. I can’t decide whether to cut a driver or hit a 3-wood. If the ball doesn’t fade, it goes down the slope and ends up in the trees on the left, where you have a good chance to make a bogey.”

Craig Stadler, 1982 Master’s Champion.

HOLE #6 • 199 yards • par 3

“No. 6 is one of the most recognizable holes at Riviera, with the bunker in the middle of the green. I think it’s a great concept. This could be a pivotal hole Saturday or Sunday, when officials place the pin to the left of the bunker. If you hit a bad shot to the right, you’re looking at a bogey.”

Tom Watson, 1980 and 1982 Northern Trust Open Champion, 32 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #7 • 408 yards • par 4

“I’ve always thought that this was one of the real sleeper holes at Riviera. It looks like an easy hole that’s supposed to play 408 yards. But the fairway recedes from the tee if you want to bite off some distance, so you get in trouble or OB. I’ve seen some awfully high scores here.”

Bob Rosberg, 1959 PGA Champion.

Riviera Country Club

(Par 71)

Hole by Hole as the Champions See It

continued

HOLE #8 • 433 yards • par 4

“I have more trouble playing No. 8 than I do playing No. 4. It’s an excellent driving hole, but you’ve got to drive unbelievably straight to get it through the narrow opening in the trees. If you succeed, you’ve only got a wedge or so and a possible birdie.”

Gene Littler, 1961 US Open Champion, 29 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #9 • 458 yards • par 4

“It’s a beautiful hole with that majestic clubhouse sitting on top of the hill. Unless you’re extra long to carry the fairway bunker, you’ve got a very narrow fairway, especially with the wind coming from left to right. The second shot is deceiving to an uphill green that slopes toward you. I always try and stay below the pin, otherwise you have no chance above it or beyond the green.”

Bobby Nichols, 1964 PGA Champion, 12 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #10 • 315 yards • par 4

“This is one of the greatest par-4 holes in the world. It’s only 308 yards, doesn’t have an out of bounds or a water hazard, but it’s a very demanding hole. You can drive the green if you can catch it with a little down wind or you can make a six so quick you can’t count it. A hard sloping green adds to the difficulty.”

Jerry Pate, 1976 US Open Champion.

(Tom Watson evidently agrees with Pate – he selected this hole for one of his “Dream Eighteen.”)

HOLE #11 • 583 yards • par 5

“This is probably as good a par-5 as you would want to play anywhere. It’s not reachable in two for me, and I would think there are not many players who could reach the green in two. Those big eucalyptus trees on the right make it the kind of par-5, where if you’re not careful, you can make a high score.”

Dow Finsterwald, 1958 PGA Champion, 1960 Northern Trust Open Champion, 11 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #12 • 479 yards • par 4

“To me this has always been one of the greatest holes on the course. With the eucalyptus trees guarding the fairway, it’s a very demanding driving hole. The green is extremely small, especially since you’re hitting a long or middle iron into the wind. A very precise second shot is required.”

Billy Casper, 1968 and 1970 Northern Trust Open Champion, 51 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #13 • 459 yards • par 4

“With OB all along the left side and tall eucalyptus trees on the right, the tee shot can be rather difficult. I think this is a particularly good hole. Into the wind it could be a monster hole and have a bearing on who wins the tournament.”

Hale Irwin, 1974, 1979, 1990 US Open Champion, 1976 Northern Trust Open Champion, 19 PGA TOUR victories.

Riviera Country Club

(Par 71)

Hole by Hole as the Champions See It

HOLE #14 • 176 yards • par 3

“Three of the four par 3-holes at Riviera aren’t very long, but like the 14th, they’re difficult to birdie unless you hit a precise shot. This is a deceiving hole because sometimes it looks a little shorter than it actually is. It’s the widest green on the course and is split level. Unless your tee shot is reasonably close, you can three-putt this baby.”

John Mahaffey, 1978 PGA Champion, 10 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #15 • 487 yards • par 4

“This is a magnificent hole and will loom very big during the tournament. It’s a dogleg right, so you must fade both your drive and second shot, while keeping it away from the eucalyptus trees on the right. You have to hit a long iron into a two-tiered green that has some subtle undulations. I’ll take my par here anytime.”

Arnold Palmer, 1960 US Open Champion, 1963, 1966 and 1967 Northern Trust Open Champion, 61 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #16 • 166 yards • par 3

“It’s the shortest hole on the course and one of the most intimidating. Believe it or not, No. 16 can cause a lot of problems. The bunkers are so high they give you the illusion that the green is really smaller than it is. It’s a crucial hole because if you’re trying to get in with a good score, 16 can eat your lunch. It’s the kind of hole where you can make a double bogey if you hit a bad shot or get unlucky and plug it in the bunker-tip.”

Johnny Miller, 1973 US Open Champion, 1981 Northern Trust Open Champion, 23 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #17 • 590 yards • par 5

“Riviera has so many great holes that when you look at 17, you figure you only have to muscle up two big woods and a wedge. But length isn’t its only characteristic. It’s subtle too, especially the green. It’s tough to read. It’s vital to keep your third shot below the hole. If you’re long, especially when the pin is cut on the second tier, you have no chance of getting it close.”

Lanny Wadkins, 1977 PGA Champion, 1979 and 1985 Northern Trust Open Champion, 21 PGA TOUR victories.

HOLE #18 • 475 yards • par 4

“This is my favorite hole at Riviera. You’ve got to hit two excellent shots. Too far right with the drive and you have tall eucalyptus trees to contend with. Your second shot to the green must be on target. Too far left and the ball stays in the kikuyu grass with little chance to pitch it close to the hole. It’s a strong and excellent finishing hole.”

Jack Nicklaus, Five time PGA Champion, 71 PGA TOUR victories (Tom Watson picked this as the second Riviera hole for his “Dream Eighteen.”)

The Northern Trust Open

Facts and Firsts

- The first Northern Trust Open was staged in 1926 by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce (LAJCC) to promote the still-young city of Los Angeles throughout the country. An unheard of $10,000 purse was offered and the tournament caused a nationwide stir.
- The first Northern Trust Open held at Riviera Country Club was in 1929. Riviera was less than two years old. This year will mark the 46th tournament hosted by Riviera.
- The 1929 Northern Trust Open was the first golf tournament broadcast on the radio.
- The first woman to play in a PGA men's event was "Babe" Didrickson Zaharias at the 1938 Northern Trust Open.
- In 1942, Ben Hogan won the tournament for the first time. Hogan became the first three-time winner of the Northern Trust Open with his victory in 1948.
- The Northern Trust Open defied the PGA ban on black players by allowing boxing great Joe Louis to compete in the 1952 tournament. Louis became the first African-American to compete in a PGA event.
- The Northern Trust Open became the first golf tournament ever televised locally in 1953 and the first nationally televised tournament in 1966.
- The Northern Trust Open gave unknown Jack Nicklaus an exemption to the 1962 tournament, where he picked up his first check as a professional – $33.33.
- Golf pioneer Charles Sifford opens the tournament in 1969 with an amazing 63 on his way to a playoff victory.
- In 1992, 16-year-old Tiger Woods received an exemption to play in his first tournament and shot 72-75 to narrowly miss the cut.
- The Northern Trust Open is the oldest civic-sponsored event on the PGA Tour.

Media Regulations

General Regulations

The following regulations are to be followed by all members of the media:

1. AN ARMBAND IS NECESSARY to walk inside the gallery ropes. Remain close up against gallery ropes in such a way as to appear to be a part of the gallery at all times.
2. DO NOT interview players or ask them to pose for photographs during their practice sessions before their round except by prior agreement with the player.
3. DO NOT disturb players at their 18th green and/or scoring tent until after they have checked, signed and returned their scorecards.
4. If an interview is to be conducted in the practice areas, either the range or the putting green, it must be done by PRIOR ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PLAYER and up against the ropes, NOT in areas where it could be distracting the other players.

Working Press Regulations

To avoid embarrassment to you and distraction to the contestants:

1. DO NOT walk or stand in playing areas.
2. Follow directions of marshals and other officials.
3. DO NOT interview during play. The leading players each day – and others requested – will be interviewed following their rounds in the Media Tent interview area.

Tape Recorder Regulations

1. All tape recorder work should be done in the proximity of the Media Tent or the Clubhouse.
2. Tape recorders are NOT permitted in the locker room.
3. Tape recorders are NOT permitted within the playing area of the golf course.

PGA TOUR

Photography Regulations

This Tournament is essentially for the players and spectators. Fair play requires that there be no noise or other distractions. The interests of all others must be subordinated to the players' interests. The result of any one shot could decide the tournament.

Only ACCREDITED PHOTOGRAPHERS for RECOGNIZED NEWS MEDIA will be permitted to take pictures during the Tournament. Photography will be restricted to news use. Commercial and personal photography is prohibited (except that spectators may take pictures on practice days and during a Pro-Am).

The following regulations apply to accredited news and television photographers and videotape cameramen as a condition of the privilege of taking pictures:

General – All Photographers

- A photographer must not ask a player to pose or in any way verbally distract a player during a round.
- If a player or an official requests that no photographs be taken in a certain situation, the request must be honored immediately, without discussion.
- A camera must not be pointed at a player about to make a stroke in any manner which might tend to disturb him or distract his attention.
- At the 9th and the 18th greens, photographers must not approach, delay or distract a player until he has checked, signed and returned his scorecard to the proper official. Under the rules of golf, a player turning in an incorrect scorecard in stroke play may be disqualified.
- Cameras are not permitted in the locker room.
- Use of golf carts or other means of transportation on the course during tournament play is prohibited.

Still Photographers

- Only still photographers to whom armbands have been issued will be permitted inside gallery ropes. They must station themselves immediately inside such ropes, and not more than an ARM'S LENGTH FROM THE ROPES, so as to blend into the gallery and appear to be part of the gallery. They must not take conspicuous positions in the open. Any photographer who violates this regulation will forfeit the right to working inside the ropes and possibly to work at the tournament.
- Close-up action shots are prohibited.
- All pictures must be taken at appreciable distances, as far from the players as possible and from angles which are not acute to the line of play.

Photography Regulations

continued

- When working at a green, photographers must not position themselves directly in a player's putting line.
- Pictures, even from a distance, may not be made until the player has completed his stroke. The photographer must not release his camera shutter until the shot is made.

Television/Videotape Cameramen

- Television and videotape filming may be done from inside the gallery ropes, or from areas approved by the PGA TOUR. All camera personnel who have been issued PHOTO armbands will be permitted inside the gallery lines, but this does not include other members of the crew. Camera personnel must station themselves immediately inside the gallery lines, not more than an arm's length from those lines, so as to blend into the gallery. They must not take conspicuous positions in the open.
- Filming may be done from such locations during a player's stroke, provided modern equipment that produces a minimum of noise is used.
- Post-round interviews must be filmed far enough away from the arena of play to eliminate the possibility of distraction to those competing.
- Difficulties will be avoided if photographers are fair and will treat players as they themselves would wish to be treated in similar circumstances.
- The cooperation of all photographers will be appreciated.
