

Northern Trust Open

6:00AM Weather Update: Friday, Feb 15, 2013

Synopsis:

High pressure will provide sunny skies and warm temperatures today and tomorrow with highs reaching the mid to upper 70's across the area. Breezy conditions will develop by mid to late morning out of the NE 10-15 gusting to 20mph. The winds will weaken tonight before increasing briefly tomorrow morning. Light winds will return tomorrow afternoon with even a sea breeze developing and knocking the temperatures back down into the 60's. A trough of low pressure will provide a quick change to cooler temperatures on Sunday. Morning low clouds and fog should give way to partly cloudy skies for Sunday afternoon.
