McIlroy becomes the third-consecutive Open Champion (Ernie Els/2012, Phil Mickelson/2013) to birdie the final hole in the final round. Over the last 20 years, Stewart Cink in 2009 is the only other champion who performed the feat.

The largest lead after 54 holes by a player who didn't go on to win remains five strokes (MacDonald Smith/1925, Jean Van de Velde/1999).

The largest final-round, come-from-behind win at the Open Championship (and on the PGA TOUR) is 10 strokes by Paul Lawrie at the 1999 Open Championship.

The third-round leader/co-leader has now gone on to win 18 of 35 stroke-play events on the PGA TOUR in 2014.

Today's win is the second consecutive major championship this season won in wire-to-wire fashion. Last month, Martin Kaymer achieved the feat at the U.S. Open at Pinehurst.

With his win today, McIlroy becomes just the seventh player in Open Championship history to win in wire-to-wire fashion. The last to do so was Tiger Woods in 2005.

Dating to the 2009 Masters (23 majors), the 54-hole leader/co-leader has now won eight times: Rory McIlroy (2014 Open Championship), Martin Kaymer (2014 U.S. Open), Bubba Watson (2014 Masters), Rory McIlroy

(2012 PGA Championship, 2011 U.S. Open), Darren Clarke (2011 Open Championship), Louis Oosthuizen (2010 Open Championship) and Angel Cabrera (2009 Masters).

International players have now won six of the last eight majors (2014 Open Championship/Rory McIlroy, 2014 U.S. Open/Martin Kaymer, 2013 U.S. Open/Justin Rose, 2013 Masters/Adam Scott, 2012 PGA Championship/Rory McIlroy and 2012 Open Championship/Ernie Els).

Here's a look at McIlroy's six previous finishes at the Open Championship: T42-2007, T47-2009, T3-2010, T25-2011, T60-2012 and MC-2013.

Sergio Garcia (68-70-69-66—273)

After bogeys at the first hole in rounds two and three, Sergio Garcia rebounded with a birdie at the opening hole Sunday. He followed it with others at Nos. 3 and five, before an eagle-three at the 10th put him at 14-under and within two of Rory McIlroy's then-lead at 16-under. He would never get any closer.

In 18 Open Championship starts, Garcia has now collected eight top-10 finishes, three of which being top fives. In 2007, he lost in a playoff to Padraig Harrington at Carnoustie.

With 62, Garcia ranks second in most major championship starts without a victory. He trails Lee Westwood by just two.

At the 2006 Open Championship at Royal Liverpool, Garcia posted rounds of 68-71-65-73, before finishing T5.

Had he won, Garcia would have been the first Spaniard to win the Open Championship in 26 years (Seve Ballesteros/1988).

Garcia has now collected an impressive seven top-10 finishes in just 11 starts on the PGA TOUR, with today's share of second place his best among them. He claimed a share of second place at the Travelers Championship in his last TOUR start prior to this week. On the European Tour, Garcia has two top-10 finishes in nine starts. One of those was a win at the Commercial Bank Qatar Masters in January.

Rickie Fowler (69-69-68-67-273)

Making his fifth consecutive start in The Open Championship, Rickie Fowler's T2 finish bettered his previous-best finish in the event of T5 in 2011. Fowler missed the cut last year at Murifield, finished T31 in 2012 and T14 in 2010.

With a T5 at the Masters, a T2 at the U.S. Open and today's T2 at The Open Championship, Fowler is the only player to have finished in the top-5 in the season's first three majors. He becomes the first to claim top-10 finishes in a season's first three majors since Tiger Woods in 2005.

Fowler, winner of the 2012 Wells Fargo Championship, was looking for his first major championship title in his 19th start. He has now collected five top-10 finishes in he majors.

Fowler was making his 20th start of the 2013-14 PGA TOUR Season this week. In addition to his top-5 finishes in the year's first three majors, he finished inside the top 10 at the World Golf Championships-Accenture Match Play Championship (3rd) and at the Shell Houston Open (6th).

Jim Furyk (68-71-71-65-275)

In his 19th consecutive Open Championship, Jim Furyk's final-round, 7-under 65 tied the low score for the week (Marc Leishman/R4, Dustin Johnson/R2).

Furyk's T3 is his sixth top-10 finish in the event, and supplants his previous-best of fourth place from 1997 (Troon) and 2006 (Royal Liverpool).

This marked Furyk's 14th start of the 2013-14 PGA TOUR Season, one in which he has now collected six top-10 finishes. His best of the season are solo-second-place honors in consecutive weeks at the Wells Fargo Championship and PLAYERS Championship.

Tiger Woods (69-77-73-75—294)

En route to his worst showing ever in an Open Championship as a professional (69th), Tiger Woods played the first two holes in six-over-par this week. He did not make a par on either hole all week. In rounds three and four, he played the par-4 seventh hole in 5-over, following a triple bogey, double bogey in rounds three and four, respectively.

Since turning professional, this marks Woods' first time to finish an Open Championship outside the top 30 (16 starts). His previous worst finish was a T28 in 2002 (Muirfield).

Woods began the final round 19 strokes off the lead. Since turning professional, Woods had never previously trailed in a major championship by more than 13 strokes after a third round.

Woods, the 2007 and 2009 FedExCup, entered this week's Open Championship ranked 212th in the standings. Should he advance to the FedExCup Playoffs, he would become the lowest ranked player entering the Open Championship to qualify for the Playoffs (since 2009 under current structure). The current distinction belongs to Dean Wilson who, in 2010, came into the Open ranked 195th.

Through 72 holes: 37/56 fairways (59.7 percent) and 48/72 greens (61.3 percent).

Phil Mickelson (74-70-71-68—283)

Defending champion Phil Mickelson saved his best for last, closing with a 4-under 68. Mickelson made five birdies Sunday, the most of any round this week for him, and took just a lone bogey at No. 7, his third of the week at the difficult par four. Mickelson finished T23.

Mickelson will leave Royal Liverpool GC remaining in search of his season's first top 10. He has never previously made it in a season to The Open Championship with fewer than three top-10 finishes already under his belt. Of the 18 years in which he has played The Open Championship as a professional, he has averaged nearly six top-10 finishes a year before the third major of the season.
