FedExCup and the Deutsche Bank Championship

The Deutsche Bank Championship is the second of four events of the FedExCup Playoffs – with the entire season building toward this four-tournament stretch. There is more on the line than the Deutsche Bank Championship trophy – players in the top half of the 100-player field will be looking to move up, jockeying for the coveted top-five position heading to the TOUR Championship by Coca-Cola; those near the bottom need enough points to survive to the next event at the BMW Championship (70 players).

- Each playoff event offers 2,000 FedExCup points to the winner, decreased by 500 points in 2015.
- The top 125 in the final PGA TOUR Season FedExCup standings following the Wyndham Championship qualified for The Barclays.
- The top 100 players on the FedExCup points list following The Barclays qualified for the Deutsche Bank Championship, with 25 players having been eliminated following the first week of the Playoffs.
- The top 70 on the points list following the Deutsche Bank Championship qualify for the BMW Championship, contested at Conway Farms in Lake Forest, Ill.
- A points reset will take place following the BMW Championship giving all 30 players in the field at the TOUR Championship by Coca-Cola a mathematical chance to win the FedExCup. The top five players control their own destiny and can win the FedExCup with a victory at the TOUR Championship.

The top five in the FedExCup

The top five in the FedExCup Playoffs is where players want to be after the next two events are played and the 100-man field at the Deutsche Bank Championship is eventually trimmed to 30 for the TOUR Championship by Coca-Cola. The top five entering East Lake will control their own destiny and can win the FedExCup with a victory, most recently performed by Henrik Stenson in 2013.

No. 1 – Jason Day

2014-15 Season – With four wins, Jason Day joins Jordan Spieth with the most wins on the PGA TOUR this season. Since 2010, the only players to record four or more wins in a season are Tiger Woods (2013, 5), Spieth (2015, 4), Day (2015, 4) and Rory McIlroy (2012, 4).

Day's stellar season became a career year when he added the 97th PGA Championship at Whistling Straits and last week's The Barclays to his wins at the Farmers Insurance Open and the RBC Canadian Open. He captured the PGA Championship in record-setting fashion, becoming the first player to finish a major at 20-under-par.

Dating to the first round of The Open Championship, and including all four rounds at The Barclays, Day has now posted his last 20 rounds at par-or-better (with 19 of those being under-par). During that stretch, he is a collective 73-under par. Overall, he owns four wins in 17 starts this season. Here's a look at his last six starts on TOUR:

- T9 – U.S. Open
- T4 – The Open Championship
- 1 – RBC Canadian Open
- T12 – World Golf Championships-Bridgestone Invitational
- 1 – PGA Championship
- 1 – The Barclays

Day became the 10th player to win both a Major Championship and FedExCup Playoffs event during their career and the fourth to do so in the same season:

Jason Day – 2015 PGA Championship, The Barclays

Adam Scott – 2013 Masters Tournament, The Barclays

Rory McIlroy – 2012 PGA Championship, Deutsche Bank Championship, BMW Championship

Tiger Woods – 2007 PGA Championship, BMW Championship, TOUR Championship by Coca-Cola

FedExCup – Here's a look at his year-by-year results in the FedExCup: 2008 (83), 2009 (48), 2010 (8), 2011 (12), 2012 (87), 2013 (17), 2014 (10), 2015 (currently No. 1).

Day's FedExCup Playoffs history at a glance (2008-2014)

Year	Final Rank	Began Playoffs	Barclays	Deutsche Bank	BMW	TOUR Champ
2008	83	127	T31 (96)	T50 (83)
2009	48	67	T12 (46)	T19 (37)	T59 (48)
2010	8	28	T5 (14)	T2 (4)	T54 (6)	T17 (8)
2011	12	14	T13 (15)	T3 (6)	T49 (10)	T6 (12)
2012	87	113	T24 (88)	T51 (87)
2013	17	14	T25 (16)	T13 (12)	T4 (14)	T14 (17)
2014	10	34	T2 (7)	T7 (7)	WD (10)	T4 (10)

The Barclays – With a final-round 8-under 62 (equaling the lowest score of his career and his lowest in a FedExCup Playoffs event), Day finished The Barclays with a 72-hole total of 19-under 261, good for a six-stroke victory over Henrik Stenson. Day's 62 marked the lowest finishing score by a PGA TOUR winner this season. Day will be seeking to join Vijay Singh ('08) as the only players to win The Barclays and FedExCup in the same season.

Day won in his eighth start at The Barclays, having never missed the cut and recording three top-10 finishes (1st-2015, T2-2014, T5-2010). In the process, he became the 11th international winner of The Barclays and the fifth from Australia (Bruce Crampton/1970, David Graham/1976, Wayne Grady/1989, Adam Scott/2013, Jason Day/2015).

Day at the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Year	Position	Rnd 1	Rnd 2	Rnd 3	Rnd 4	Total	To Par
2014	T7	66	68	69	71	274	-10
2013	T13	67	67	67	69	270	-14

Average		67.00	68.00	69.57	69.86	68.61	- 9.5

No. 2 – Jordan Spieth

Jordan Spieth has turned in a historic season that has seen him eclipse Tiger Woods' record of the lowest cumulative score to-par in the four major championships at 54-under, compared to Woods' previous-best 53-under total in 2000. That 54-under total at the major championships led to wins at the Masters and the U.S. Open, his first two career major championships. Spieth then finished one shot out of a playoff at The Open Championship at St. Andrews in a bid to win the third leg of the grand slam, and finished second to Jason Day at the PGA Championship at Whistling Straits.

Spieth needed a T14 finish or better at The Barclays to stay No. 1 in the Official World Golf Ranking, but a missed cut led to Rory McIlroy retaking the top spot in the rankings. It marked just the third time he has missed a cut this season (Farmers Insurance Open, THE PLAYERS Championship, The Barclays).

Spieth at the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Year	Position	Rnd 1	Rnd 2	Rnd 3	Rnd 4	Total	To Par
2014	T29	67	70	69	73	279	-5
2013	T4	67	66	72	62	267	-17
Average		67.00	68.00	70.50	67.50	68.25	-11.0

No. 3 – Bubba Watson

Bubba Watson entered the FedExCup Playoffs No. 3 in the FedExCup standings for the second straight year, matching his career-best position thanks to wins at the World Golf Championships-HSBC Champions and the Travelers Championships. He maintained that position last week with a solo-third place finish, equaling his most top-10 finishes in a season (8). Watson is one of five players with multiple victories this year, joined by Jordan Spieth (4), Jason Day (4), Jimmy Walker (2) and Rory McIlroy (2).

Watson at the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Year	Position	Rnd 1	Rnd 2	Rnd 3	Rnd 4	Total	To Par
2014	T29	72	71	69	67	279	-5
2013	T67	71	69	70	71	281	-3
2012	CUT	75	72			147
2011	T16	68	64	70	74	276	-8
2010	T37	67	71	73	69	280	-4
2009	T32	68	71	71	68	278	-6
2008	T44	70	69	71	70	280	-4

Average		71.33	69.22	70.57	69.86	70.25	- 4.8

No. 4 – Henrik Stenson

The 2013 FedExCup champion finished solo second last week for the fifth runner-up finish of his career. He also finished runner-up earlier this season at the Arnold Palmer Invitational presented by MasterCard. Stenson is hoping to join Tiger Woods (2007, 2009) as the only players to win the FedExCup more than once.

Stenson at the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Year	Position	Rnd 1	Rnd 2	Rnd 3	Rnd 4	Total	To Par
2014	T26	70	70	73	65	278	-6
2013	1	67	63	66	66	262	-22

Average		67.67	68.67	71.33	67.00	68.67	- 9.3

No. 5 – Zach Johnson

The 12-time PGA TOUR winner's season highlighted by his win at The Open Championship at St. Andrews, adding the Claret Jug to the Green Jacket he won at the 2007 Masters Tournament. Coming off of a T4 finish at The Barclays, his sixth top-10 finish in the Playoffs, but first at either The Barclays or Deutsche Bank Championship.

At the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Year	Position	Rnd 1	Rnd 2	Rnd 3	Rnd 4	Total	To Par
2014	T16	71	68	70	67	276	-8

2004	T13	68	72	71	68	279	-5
Average		68.33	71.11	69.25	69.38	69.53	- 6.5

No. 5 – Rory McIlroy

Rory McIlroy recorded two early-season victories at the World Golf Championships-Cadillac Match Play and the Wells Fargo Championship. Prior to The Open Championship, McIlroy ruptured a ligament in his left ankle while playing soccer and missed title defenses at The Open Championship and the Bridgestone Invitational. He returned to defend the PGA Championship, finishing 17th. Guarding against further injury, McIlroy (ranked No. 9 in the FedExCup), will not play in The Barclays as he continues to ease his way back into a competitive schedule.

McIlroy at the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Year	Position	Rnd 1	Rnd 2	Rnd 3	Rnd 4	Total	To Par
2014	T5	70	69	64	70	273	-11
2013	T47	70	71	64	72	277	-7
2012	1	65	65	67	67	264	-20
2010	T37	64	76	69	71	280	-4
Average		67.25	70.25	66.00	70.00	68.38	-10.5

No. 39 – Defending Champion Chris Kirk

Beginning the final round of the 2014 Deutsche Bank Championship two strokes out of the lead, Chris Kirk posted a bogey-free, 5-under 66 to claim a two-stroke win over Geoff Ogilvy, Billy Horschel and third-round leader Russell Henley. Kirk played his last 37 holes in 14-under and with no bogeys. It marked the third of four wins during Kirk's career (2011 Sanderson Farms Championship, 2013 McGladrey Classic, 2014 Deutsche Bank Championship, 2015 Crowne Plaza Invitational at Colonial).

More on Kirk's win at the 2014 Deutsche Bank Championship

- Victory marked his first top-10 finish in his 11th FedExCup Playoffs event. Later added a T4 at the TOUR Championship by Coca-Cola to finish No. 2 in the FedExCup standings.
- The win came in fourth start at the Deutsche Bank Championship (1/2014, T16/2013, T35/2012, T31/2011).
- Became the first American-born player to win the Deutsche Bank Championship since Webb Simpson in 2011, and seventh overall (12 tournaments).
- Victory was the eighth on the PGA TOUR last season by a player from the University of Georgia; Chris Kirk (2), Bubba Watson (2), Russell Henley, Harris English, Brendon Todd and Brian Harman.
- Became the first player to win a Playoffs event in his 20s since Rory McIlroy won the 2012 BMW Championship (23 years, 4 months, 5 days).
- Became the eighth player in Deutsche Bank history (12 years) to come from behind on the final day to win.

Rookies in the FedExCup Playoffs

Nine rookies finished the season ranked within the top 125 in FedExCup points and earned their first start at The Barclays. Of that group, six advanced to the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Player	The Barclays	FedExCup rank
Justin Thomas	T16	No. 30
Tony Finau	T16	No. 32
Zac Blair	T4	No. 45
Daniel Berger	MC	No. 54
Scott Pinckney	T50	No. 76
Carlos Ortiz	T24	No. 83

All six rookies who qualified for the TOUR Championship went on to win Rookie of the Year honors, including Jordan Spieth (2013), John Huh (2012), Keegan Bradley (2011), Marc Leishman (2009), Andres Romero (2008) and Brandt Snedeker (2007).

Best rookie performances by year in the FedExCup Playoffs:

Year	Rookie	Finish
2014	Chesson Hadley	49 th
2013	Jordan Spieth	7 th
2012	John Huh	29 th
2011	Keegan Bradley	20 th
2010	Rickie Fowler	32 nd

2009	Marc Leishman	20 th
2008	Andres Romero	28 th
2007	Brandt Snedeker	20 th

Miscellaneous Deutsche Bank Championship notes

Adam Scott (2003) and Phil Mickelson (2007) are the only players to win the event in first start.

Vijay Singh is the only multiple winner of the event (2004, 2008).

Four players in their 20s have won the Deutsche Bank Championship: Adam Scott (2003), Webb Simpson (2011), Rory Mcllroy (2012) and Chris Kirk (2014).

Vijay Singh is the only player to win The Barclays and Deutsche Bank Championship (2008) in the same season.

The 54-hole leader/co-leader has gone on to win four of 12 times at the Deutsche Bank Championship (Adam Scott/2003, Vijay Singh/2004, Olin Browne/2005, Steve Stricker/2009).

There are six past Deutsche Bank Championship winners in the field this week:

Champion	Year(s) won	Current FEC Rank
Chris Kirk	2014	No. 39
Henrik Stenson	2013	No. 4
Rory Mcllroy	2012	No. 15
Webb Simpson	2011	No. 37
Charley Hoffman	2010	No. 17
Phil Mickelson	2007	No. 52

FedExCup Playoffs notes

Year-by-year look at FedExCup winners and their performance throughout the Playoffs in the years they won:

Hunter Mahan is the only player to advance to the TOUR Championship the previous eight years of the FedExCup. Currently No. 91, he has to have a good week at TPC Boston to move into the top 70 in the standings:

Name	2007	2008	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	Current
Hunter Mahan	15 th	18 th	27 th	18 th	7 th	19 th	20 th	6 th	91 st

International wins in the FedExCup Playoffs events by year:

2007	0
2008	4 (Vijay Singh-2, Camilo Villegas-2)
2009	0
2010	0
2011	1 (Justin Rose)
2012	2 (Rory Mcllroy-2)
2013	3 (Adam Scott, Henrik Stenson-2)
2014	1 (Rory Mcllroy)
2015	1 (Jason Day)

Only three players have finished inside the top 10 in all four FedExCup Playoffs events in a single season: Rory Sabbatini in 2007 (finished No. 4 in FedExCup), Pdraig Harrington in 2009 (finished No. 7) and Dustin Johnson in 2012 (finished No. 8).

Henrik Stenson (2013) and Vijay Singh (2008) are the only players to win the Deutsche Bank Championship and FedExCup in the same season.

Most wins in the FedExCup Playoffs: 3 – Tiger Woods; 2 – Billy Horschel, Henrik Stenson, Steve Stricker, Vijay Singh, Dustin Johnson, Camilo Villegas, Rory Mcllroy, Phil Mickelson.

Advancing through the Playoffs

It took 614 points to advance to this year's Deutsche Bank Championship, with Jason Kokrak earning the final spot.

Eight players moved into the top 100 at The Barclays and played their way into the Deutsche Bank Championship: Zac Blair (from No. 106 to No. 45), Spencer Levin (No. 115 to No. 80), Jason Dufner (No. 103 to No. 82), Carlos Ortiz (No. 112 to No. 83), Mark Wilson (No. 114 to No. 85), Luke Donald (No. 119 to No. 87), Johnson Wagner (No. 101 to No. 92) and Camilo Villegas (No. 123 to No. 99).

Eight players dropped out of the top 100 following The Barclays and were eliminated from the FedExCup Playoffs: Padraig Harrington (from No. 87 to No. 103), Greg Owen (No. 90 to No. 104), John Peterson (No. 93 to No. 105), Adam Scott (No. 94 to No. 106), Adam Hadwin (No. 95 to No. 107), Charl Schwartzel (No. 96 to No. 108), John Huh (No. 97 to No. 110) and Francesco Molinari (No. 99 to No. 111).

Camilo Villegas has now played his way into the Deutsche Bank Championship from outside the top 100 three times (2011, 2013, 2015). He also played his way into last week's The Barclays at the Wyndham Championship (jumping from No. 129 to No. 123).

In the history of the FedExCup, here's a look at how many players have advanced to the Deutsche Bank Championship when starting from outside the cut line (top 120 in 2007-08; top 100 from 2009-present): 2015 (8), 2014 (7), 2013 (5), 2012 (6), 2011 (8), 2010 (6), 2009 (4), 2008 (15) and 2007 (2):

- 2015 Zac Blair, Spencer Levin, Jason Dufner, Carlos Ortiz, Mark Wilson, Luke Donald, Johnson Wagner, Camilo Villegas
- 2014 Bo Van Pelt, Stewart Cink, Andres Romero, Danny Lee, Paul Casey, Gonzalo Fdez-Castano, Morgan Hoffmann
- 2013 Martin Kaymer, Camilo Villegas, Erik Compton, Greg Chalmers, Stuart Appleby
- 2012 Graham DeLaet, Bob Estes, David Hearn, Jason Day, Tommy Gainey, Jonas Blixt
- 2011 William McGirt, Padraig Harrington, Ernie Els, Ian Poulter, Camilo Villegas, Chris Stroud, John Merrick, Bill Lunde
- 2010 Kevin Strelman, Ryuji Imada, J.P. Hayes, Tiger Woods, Troy Matteson, Andres Romero
- 2009 Freddie Jacobson, Richard S. Johnson, Heath Slocum, Troy Matteson
- 2008 Richard S. Johnson, Tim Petrovic, Jason Day, Martin Laird, Angel Cabrera, Ryan Palmer, Tim Herron, Michael Allen, J.J. Henry, Frank Lickliter II, Jesper Parnevik, Justin Bolli, Jeff Overton, Glen Day, Lee Janzen
- 2007 Doug LaBelle II, Rich Beem

Final-round developments last week that affected the FedExCup standings:

Camilo Villegas made a 9'3" par putt on the last hole to guarantee his top-100 finish.

Nick Taylor missed a 7-foot birdie putt on No. 18 to finish No. 101 instead of inside the top 100.

Stewart Cink made a bogey on the 72nd hole to finish No. 102 instead of inside the top 100.

Deutsche Bank Championship history – Founded in 2003, the Deutsche Bank Championship features a winner's roster that includes Adam Scott, two-time winner Vijay Singh, Olin Browne, Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson, Steve Stricker, Charley Hoffman, Webb Simpson, Rory McIlroy, Henrik Stenson and Chris Kirk.

2014 – Chris Kirk, who played the final 37 holes without a bogey, carried a win at the Deutsche Bank Championship to a No. 2 finish in the FedExCup. Billy Horschel, who finished second to Kirk at TPC Boston, went on to win the FedExCup.

2013 – Henrik Stenson overcame a two-stroke deficit to Sergio Garcia with a final-round 5-under 66, tying the tournament scoring record at 22-under 262. Carried the win on to the 2013 FedExCup title.

2012 – With the Deutsche Bank Championship celebrating its 10th anniversary, Rory McIlroy posted his fifth PGA TOUR victory in come-from-behind fashion over Louis Oosthuizen, becoming the youngest-ever winner of a FedExCup Playoffs event.

2011 – Webb Simpson outlasted Chez Reavie in the first-ever playoff at the Deutsche Bank Championship, giving him two wins in three starts on TOUR (Wyndham Championship).

2010 – Charley Hoffman carded a career-low 62, including 11 birdies, en route to a five-stroke win over Luke Donald and a pair of Aussies (Geoff Ogilvy and Jason Day).

2009 – Steve Stricker made his 250th career cut on the PGA TOUR and went on to record his seventh win (including a season-high third) by one stroke over Jason Dufner and Scott Verplank.

2008 – Vijay Singh carded a tournament-record 22-under 262 to cruise to a five-stroke victory over Mike Weir and ultimately the FedExCup.

2007 – Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson and Vijay Singh were paired together for first two rounds; Mickelson, Woods, Brett Wetterich and Arron Oberholser dueled with Mickelson winning to take over FedExCup lead.

2006 – With two eagles in his first seven holes in the final round, Tiger Woods erased a three-shot deficit and posted an 8-under-par 63, overcoming the 54-hole leader Vijay Singh to win by two.

2005 – Olin Browne clipped Jason Bohn by a single stroke for his third career win. In the process he surpassed $1 million in season earnings for the first time in his career.

2004 – Vijay Singh, in claiming one of nine PGA TOUR titles on the year, moved to No. 1 in the World Golf Ranking as he out dueled Tiger Woods and Adam Scott. Woods had been No. 1 for a record 264 weeks.

2003 – Adam Scott, playing on a Sponsor Exemption, earned first win of TOUR career at the inaugural Deutsche Bank Championship.
