FedExCup and the Deutsche Bank Championship

The Deutsche Bank Championship is the second of four events of the FedExCup Playoffs for the tenth consecutive season since the Playoffs were introduced in 2007. There is more on the line than the Deutsche Bank Championship trophy – players in the top half of the 100-player field will be looking to move up, jockeying for the coveted top-five position heading to the TOUR Championship; those near the bottom need enough points to survive to the next event at the BMW Championship (70 players).

- Each playoff event offers 2,000 FedExCup points to the winner.
- The top 125 in the final PGA TOUR Season FedExCup standings following the Wyndham Championship qualified for The Barclays.
- The top 100 players on the FedExCup points list following The Barclays qualified for the Deutsche Bank Championship, with 25 players having been eliminated following the first week of the Playoffs.
- The top 70 on the points list following the Deutsche Bank Championship qualify for the BMW Championship, contested at Crooked Stick Golf Club in Carmel, IN.
- The top-30 players following the BMW Championship will qualify for the TOUR Championship. Prior to the TOUR Championship, a points reset will take place, giving all players in the field a mathematical opportunity to win the FedExCup. The top-five players control their own destiny and would claim the FedExCup with a victory at East Lake.

Current FedExCup Rankings (top 10)

71.	Marc Leishman	765
100.	Chad Campbell	633

The top five in the FedExCup

The top five in the FedExCup Playoffs is where players want to be after the next two events are played and the 100-man field at the Deutsche Bank Championship is eventually trimmed to 30 for the TOUR Championship. The top five entering East Lake will control their own destiny and can win the FedExCup with a victory, most recently performed by Jordan Spieth in 2015.

No. 1 – Patrick Reed

2015-16 Season – With his one-stroke win over Sean O’Hair and Emiliano Grillo at The Barclays, Patrick Reed jumped from No. 7 to No. 1 in the FedExCup standings for the first time in his career. His victory last week at Bethpage Black (his fifth overall) marked the fourth consecutive season he has won on the PGA TOUR. Prior to winning, Reed owned two runner-up finishes (Hyundai Tournament of Champions, Valero Texas Open) among his 10 top-10 finishes. He will be attempting to join Vijay Singh (2008) as the only players to win The Barclays and FedExCup in the same season.

FedExCup – Here’s a look at Reed’s year-by-year FedExCup results: 2013 (54), 2014 (21), 2015 (12), 2016 (1).

More on Fowler's win at the 2015 Deutsche Bank Championship

- Shot a final round 3-under 68 to come from one shot back and defeat third-round leader Henrik Stenson.
- Became the ninth player in Deutsche Bank history (13 years) to come from behind on the final day to win.
- Earned his third PGA TOUR victory at the age of 26 years, 8 months and 25 days in his 150th career start.
- Seeking to join Vijay Singh (2004, 2008) as the only multiple winners of the Deutsche Bank Championship.

Rookies in the FedExCup Playoffs

Six rookies finished the season ranked within the top 125 in FedExCup points and earned their first start at The Barclays. Of that group, four have now advanced to the Deutsche Bank Championship:

Player	The Barclays	FedExCup rank
Emiliano Grillo	T2	No. 6
Smylie Kaufman	MC	No. 34
Patton Kizzire	MC	No. 72
Harold Varner III	T60	No. 87

Miscellaneous Deutsche Bank Championship notes

Adam Scott (2003) and Phil Mickelson (2007) are the only players to win the event in first start.

Vijay Singh is the only multiple winner of the event (2004, 2008).

Henrik Stenson (2013) and Vijay Singh (2008) are the only players to win the Deutsche Bank Championship and FedExCup in the same season.

Five players in their 20s have won the Deutsche Bank Championship: Adam Scott (2003), Webb Simpson (2011), Rory McIlroy (2012), Chris Kirk (2014), Rickie Fowler (2015).

Patrick Reed is seeking to join Vijay Singh as the only players to win The Barclays and Deutsche Bank Championship (2008) in the same season.

The 54-hole leader/co-leader has gone on to win four of 13 times at the Deutsche Bank Championship (Adam Scott/2003, Vijay Singh/2004, Olin Browne/2005, Steve Stricker/2009).

Ten past Deutsche Bank Championship winners are in the field (missing Tiger Woods/2006 and Olin Browne/2005:

Deutsche Bank Championship history

Founded in 2003, the Deutsche Bank Championship features a winner's roster that includes Adam Scott, two-time winner Vijay Singh, Tiger Woods, Olin Browne, Phil Mickelson, Steve Stricker, Charley Hoffman, Webb Simpson, Rory McIlroy, Henrik Stenson, Chris Kirk and Rickie Fowler.

2015 – Rickie Fowler posted the sixth-consecutive come-from-behind victory at the Deutsche Bank Championship, edging 2013 FedExCup champion Henrik Stenson by one stroke.

2014 – Chris Kirk, who played the final 37 holes without a bogey, carried a win at the Deutsche Bank Championship to a No. 2 finish in the FedExCup. Billy Horschel, who finished second to Kirk at TPC Boston, went on to win the FedExCup.

2013 – Henrik Stenson overcame a two-stroke deficit to Sergio Garcia with a final-round 5-under 66, tying the tournament scoring record at 22-under 262. He carried the win on to the 2013 FedExCup title.

2012 – With the Deutsche Bank Championship celebrating its 10th anniversary, Rory Mcllroy posted his fifth TOUR win in come-from-behind fashion over Louis Oosthuizen, becoming the youngest-ever winner of a FedExCup Playoffs event.

2011 – Webb Simpson outlasted Chez Reavie in the first-ever playoff at the Deutsche Bank Championship, giving him two wins in three starts on TOUR (Wyndham Championship).

2010 – Charley Hoffman carded a career-low 62, including 11 birdies, en route to a five-stroke win over Luke Donald and a pair of Aussies (Geoff Ogilvy and Jason Day).

2009 – Steve Stricker made his 250th career cut on the PGA TOUR and went on to record his seventh win (including a season-high third) by one stroke over Jason Dufner and Scott Verplank.

2008 – Vijay Singh carded a tournament-record 22-under 262 to cruise to a five-stroke victory over Mike Weir and ultimately the FedExCup.

2007 – Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson and Vijay Singh were paired together for first two rounds; Mickelson, Woods, Brett Wetterich and Arron Oberholser duelled with Mickelson winning to take over FedExCup lead.

2006 – With two eagles in his first seven holes in the final round, Tiger Woods erased a three-shot deficit and posted an 8-under-par 63, overcoming the 54-hole leader Vijay Singh to win by two.

2005 – Olin Browne clipped Jason Bohn by a single stroke for his third career win. In the process he surpassed $1 million in season earnings for the first time in his career.

2004 – Vijay Singh, in claiming one of nine PGA TOUR titles on the year, moved to No. 1 in the World Golf Ranking as he out dueled Tiger Woods and Adam Scott. Woods had been No. 1 for a record 264 weeks.

2003 – Adam Scott, playing on a Sponsor Exemption, earned first win of TOUR career at the inaugural Deutsche Bank Championship.
