Rory Mcllroy

Following his eagle at the par-5 18th hole to end his third round, Rory Mcllroy returned Monday morning to birdie six of his first 12 holes en route to a 6-under 65 and two-stroke victory over 54-hole leader Paul Casey. Mcllroy's 65 tied Adam Scott for the low round of the day.

Mcllroy's 12th career PGA TOUR win comes in his 115th TOUR start at the age of 27 years, 4 months and 1 day.

12th career PGA TOUR title:

2010 – Wells Fargo Championship

2011 – U.S. Open

2012 – The Honda Classic, PGA Championship, Deutsche Bank Championship, BMW Championship

2014 – The Open Championship, World Golf Championships-Bridgestone Invitational, PGA Championship

2015 – World Golf Championships-Dell Match Play, Wells Fargo Championship

2016 – Deutsche Bank Championship

With the victory, Mcllroy collects 2,000 FedExCup points and moves to No. 4 in the standings.

In round one, Mcllroy ranked 54th in Stroke Gained: Putting, losing -0.125 strokes to the field on the greens. Over rounds two and three, he jumped all the way to second place, behind Louis Oosthuizen, picking up +4.49 total strokes on the putting surface. In today's final round, Mcllroy gained +0.936 over the field and ranked 27th.

Mcllroy was making his 19th start in a FedExCup Playoffs event this week, with wins at the 2012 and 2016 Deutsche Bank Championship and 2012 BMW Championship among his eight top-10 finishes.

Mcllroy's third FedExCup Playoffs victory ties Tiger Woods for most FedExCup Playoffs wins. Woods won the 2007 and 2009 BMW Championship and 2007 TOUR Championship.

When Mcllroy won the 2012 BMW Championship after winning the Deutsche Bank Championship, he did so at Crooked Stick Golf Club, site of this week's BMW Championship. This week marks the first return to Crooked Stick since Mcllroy's win.

Mcllroy, who began the final round six strokes off Paul Casey's 15-under 198 lead, has now come from behind in the final round to win on five occasions, most recently at the World Golf Championships-Bridgestone Invitational. En route to his 2012 Deutsche Bank Championship win, Mcllroy overcame a three-stroke deficit (Louis Oosthuizen) to win by a stroke.

On 10 of 14 occasions now, the winner of the Deutsche Bank Championship has come from behind in the final round. The only 54-hole leaders to hang on for the win were Adam Scott/2003, Vijay Singh/2004, Olin Browne/2005 and Steve Stricker/2009.

On 22 of 41 occasions this season, the winner of a stroke-play event on the PGA TOUR has emerged from behind beginning the final round.

Mcllroy becomes the 14th different player to win in his 20s on the PGA TOUR this season (17 wins), compared to 22 different players in their 30s and two different players in their 40s.

Paul Casey

England's Paul Casey, who took a three-stroke lead into the final round, struggled to a 2-over 73 Monday to finish behind winner Rory Mcllroy.

The runner-up finish for Casey this week marks his sixth on the PGA TOUR. Before this week, his two most recent were playoff losses at the 2015 Genesis Open and Travelers Championship.

Casey's 73 in the final round came after three consecutive 5-under 66s.

Casey was forced to withdraw from last year's Deutsche Bank Championship after his second round with a back injury. In his other two starts, he missed the cut in 2008 and finished T25 in 2010.

On the strength of four top-10 finishes, Casey came into the week at No. 59 in the FedExCup standings. With his runner-up finish at TPC Boston, he moves to No. 10.

Casey will now advance to the BMW Championship for a fourth time; 2015/T23, 2010/2nd and 2009/DNS.

In his only two appearances in the TOUR Championship, Casey finished in the top five (T4/2010, T5/2015).

Casey was in search of his second career PGA TOUR victory this week, having previously won the 2009 Shell Houston Open.

This week marked the second 54-hole lead/co-lead of Casey's PGA TOUR career, with the first coming at the site of his lone TOUR win in Houston, where he was a co-leader after the third round.

Casey's week at a glance:

R1: 12 of 14 fairways, 13 of 18 greens, 4 of 5 scrambling, 26 putts.

R2: 7 of 14 fairways, 15 of 18 greens, 3 of 3 scrambling, 28 putts.

R3: 11 of 14 fairways, 14 of 18 greens, 3 of 4 scrambling, 28 putts.

R4: 10 of 14 fairways, 13 of 18 greens, 3 of 5 scrambling, 33 putts

Jimmy Walker

In just his third start since winning the PGA Championship, Jimmy Walker's 1-under 70 in Monday's final round was good for solo third. Walker is coming off missed cuts at the Wyndham Championship and The Barclays in his last two starts.

With his third-place showing this week at TPC Boston, Walker moves to No. 9 in the FedExCup standings.

Before this week's finish, a T9 at the Deutsche Bank Championship in 2014 was Walker's only top-10 finish in 20 FedExCup Playoffs events. He was seeking to become the fourth player to win the Deutsche Bank Championship in the same year as a major:

2012	Rory McIlroy	won PGA Championship
2006	Tiger Woods	won The Open Championship and PGA Championship
2004	Vijay Singh	won PGA Championship

Adam Scott

Following nine straight pars to begin his round, 2003 Deutsche Bank Championship winner Adam Scott reeled off six birdies on his inward nine (10-12, 16-18) to post a bogey-free 65 and finish at 11-under 273 (4th).

Despite the wind being the strongest of the four competitive days on Monday, Scott was strongest statistically, hitting 12 of 14 fairways in regulation and 17 of 18 greens. For the second straight day, he needed 30 putts to complete his round.

Scott's fourth-place finish marks his sixth top-10 finish at TPC Boston in 11 starts; 1st/2003, T2/2004, T5/2010, T8/2011, T7/2012 and 4th/2016.

Scott's fourth-place finish marks his 12th top-10 finish in 31 FedExCup Playoffs starts.

Scott was in search of his 14th career win on the PGA TOUR and third of the 2015-16 season (The Honda Classic, World Golf Championships-Cadillac Championship).

Additional player notes

Defending champion Rickie Fowler struggled in round four, posting a 1-over 72 to finish at 3-under 281 (T46). Only Vijay Singh (2004, 2008) has won the Deutsche Bank Championship more than once.

Jason Day, who remains at No. 2 in the FedExCup, posted a 4-under 67 in round four to finish at 8-under 276 (T15). He has just five over-par scores in 36 overall rounds at TPC Boston, with none coming in the final round.

Jordan Spieth ended the week with a 2-under 69 to finish at 7-under 277 (T21). Spieth finished T10 at last week's Barclays. In contrast, he missed the cut in the first two Playoffs events in 2015, before going on to finish T13 at the BMW Championship and first at the TOUR Championship, en route to claiming the FedExCup.

Current FedExCup leader Patrick Reed enjoyed another solid week, posting scores of 68-67-70-69—274 (-10) to finish T5. His 11th top-10 finish of the season is second-most to Dustin Johnson, with 13.

FedExCup and the Deutsche Bank Championship

- The top 30 players following the BMW Championship qualify for the Playoffs finale, the TOUR Championship. Prior to the TOUR Championship, a points reset will take place, giving all players in the field a mathematical opportunity to win the FedExCup title. The top five players control their own destiny and would claim the FedExCup with a victory at East Lake.
- Vijay Singh (2008) and Henrik Stenson (2013) are the only players to win the Deutsche Bank Championship and FedExCup title in the same year. Singh is also the only player to win the Deutsche Bank Championship twice (2004, 2008).
- Jordan Spieth is the only FedExCup champion to miss the cut at the Deutsche Bank Championship the same year as his FedExCup win.
