7 AM UPDATE

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 06, 2015

Weather Synopsis

This morning, we currently have cloudy skies and humid conditions in place. The rest of the morning hours will remain cloudy with a few breaks of sunshine especially late morning. This afternoon, the threat for showers and thunderstorms will increase ahead of cold front that will move through the area overnight into Saturday morning. Any thunderstorms that do develop this afternoon will be strong with locally heavy rains, gusty winds, and frequent lightning. This threat will carry over into the overnight hours and early morning on Saturday. Cooler and drier air mass moves in behind the exiting front giving us a good start to next week.
