Number of weeks (out of 26) he was No. 1 in the standings

In 2017, the second annual Charles Schwab Cup Playoffs were supposed to be a walk in the park for World Golf Hall of Fame member Bernhard Langer, who entered the three-event, season-ending series with five victories on the year, including three major championship titles. After winning the first two Playoff events – the Dominion Energy Charity Classic and PowerShares QQQ Championship – to remain at No. 1 in the standings, Langer was upstaged by Kevin Sutherland at the Charles Schwab Cup Championship, which was contested at Phoenix Country Club for the first time. Sutherland posted a 15-under 198 total to earn his first career PGA TOUR Champions title, as well as the Charles Schwab Cup, after moving from No. 5 to No. 1 in the standings following the points reset. The victory was one of 15 top-10 finishes for Sutherland in 2017. Langer, who finished the week in Phoenix at T12, finished second in the Charles Schwab Cup.

Charles Schwab Cup Points System

The third edition of the Charles Schwab Cup Playoffs will begin with 72 players at the Dominion Energy Charity Classic (Oct. 15-21). The top 54 will advance to the following week's Invesco QQQ Championship, and the season will conclude with the top 36 players at the Charles Schwab Cup Championship (Nov. 5-11).

- Dominion Energy Charity Classic (The Country Club of Virginia, Richmond, Virginia)
- Invesco QQQ Championship (Sherwood Country Club, Thousand Oaks, California)
- Charles Schwab Cup Championship (Phoenix Country Club, Phoenix, Arizona)

At the start of the Playoffs, each player's regular-season money total will become the equivalent number of points (e.g. $330,000 equals 330,000 points). During the three playoff events, each dollar earned is worth two points, and those points will be added to a player's regular-season point total. The player with the most points at the conclusion of the Charles Schwab Cup Championship will win the Charles Schwab Cup.

2018 Charles Schwab Cup Scenarios

If Bernhard Langer or Scott Parel win the Charles Schwab Cup Championship, he would win the Charles Schwab Cup. In all, six players are mathematically capable of winning the Charles Schwab Cup.

1. Bernhard Langer

- Win
- T2 (2-way) or better; and Parel does not win
- T3 (2-way) or better; and Parel or Jimenez do not win
- 4th (solo) or better; and Parel, Jimenez and Kelly do not win
- T5 (3-way) or better; and Parel, Jimenez, Kelly and McCarron do not win
- 6th (solo) or better; and Parel, Jimenez, Kelly, McCarron and Toms do not win
- Regardless of Langer's finish, he would win if:
  - Parel finishes worse than T5 (2-way) AND
  - Jimenez finishes worse than T2 (2-way) AND
  - Kelly, McCarron and Toms do not win

2. Scott Parel

- Win
- Solo 2nd; and Jimenez, Kelly and McCarron do not win; Langer finishes T6 (2-way) or worse
- Solo 3rd; and Jimenez, Kelly, McCarron, Toms do not win; Langer finishes T8 (3-way) or worse
- Solo 4th; and Jimenez, Kelly, McCarron, Toms do not win; Langer finishes T17 (2-way) or worse

3. Miguel Angel Jimenez wins AND Langer must finish worse than T2 (2-way)

- Jimenez could finish as low as T2 (2-way) and still have a mathematical chance to win

4. Jerry Kelly must win AND Langer must finish worse than T3 (2-way)

5. Scott McCarron must win AND Langer must finish worse than solo 4th

6. David Toms must win AND...

- Langer must finish worse than T7 (2-way)
- Parel must finish worse than T2 (2-way)

2017 Recap

In 2017, Bernhard Langer led the Charles Schwab Cup standings 23 of the first 25 weeks of the season. He won seven times, including three majors and two Charles Schwab Cup Playoff events, but was ultimately upstaged by Kevin Sutherland at the season-ending Charles Schwab Cup Championship. Sutherland posted a 15-under 198 total to earn his first career PGA TOUR Champions title, as well as the Charles Schwab Cup, after moving from No. 5 to No. 1 in the standings following the points reset.

The victory was one of 15 top-10 finishes for Sutherland, who won for the first time since 2002, a span of 341 professional starts. With the win, he became just the third player to win the Charles Schwab Cup Championship and the Charles Schwab Cup in the same season, joining Tom Watson (2005) and Tom Lehman (2012).

After tying for 12th in the season finale, Langer finished second in the Charles Schwab Cup, his sixth consecutive top-two finish in the season-long competition. Though he was unable to win his fourth straight Charles Schwab Cup, he set many new records during the season – he became the second player to win three senior majors in one year, he became the Tour's all-time leader in major wins (10), he broke the single-season money record ($3,677,359), and he won his sixth straight money title. The most elusive PGA TOUR Champions record remains, however, as his 36 career victories is nine shy of Hale Irwin's record 45 wins.

History of the Charles Schwab Cup Championship

The island of Puerto Rico and the East Course at Hyatt Dorado Beach provided the setting for the first four individual stroke-play championships. Myrtle Beach, SC, and Dunes Golf and Beach Club were the locale for the next seven. Gaillardia Golf and Country Club in Oklahoma City, OK, was home to tournaments in 2001 and 2002.

In 2003, the Charles Schwab Cup Championship moved to the Sonoma Golf Club in Sonoma, CA for seven years before its move to TPC Harding Park. Here is a review of the previous 21 season-ending tournaments.

1990: Mike Hill went to Puerto Rico in 1990 to complete his second year on the Champions Tour. He already had won four titles, one more than he won in his career on the PGA TOUR. Hill made his move in the second round with an 8-under-par 64 to tie Dale Douglass at 11-under-par 133. In the final round, Lee Trevino shot 65 to tie Hill and Douglass, who had both posted 68s. But Hill birdied the first playoff hole to win his fifth tournament of the year.

1991: Mike Hill didn't forget his success at the Hyatt Dorado Beach. He used the victory to ignite confidence, winning four more titles in 1991. He headed back to Puerto Rico with another chance to etch his name on the trophy. This time, Hill was chasing his first money title and the prestigious Arnold Palmer Award that went with it. Once again, he made his move in the second round. Hill shot a 7-under-par 65, and his two-day total of 9-under-par 135 led Bob Charles by two strokes. A 67 on the final day earned him another championship. With this victory, Hill became the second Champions Tour player to win more than $1 million in a season. His $1,065,657 made him the leading money winner in all of golf. Hill not only earned the Arnold Palmer Award but also shared Player of the Year honors with George Archer.

1992: Raymond Floyd ended his short-but-successful rookie year with an impressive performance in Puerto Rico in 1992. Floyd reached the eligible age of 50 in September, then 16 days later won the GTE North Classic. By the time December arrived, Floyd had another victory and was seeking to end his first year on the Champions Tour with three wins in seven attempts. Floyd opened with a 7-under-par 65 that gave him a two-stroke lead. But Douglass, who lost to Hill in the previous year's playoff, shot a 64 in the second round to establish a 36-hole tournament record of 13-under-par 131 to lead Floyd by one. Floyd fought back with another 65 to establish a 54-hole tournament record of 19-under-par 197. He cruised from there, winning by five strokes over Douglass and Archer. The IR SENIOR TOUR Championship was a feather in Floyd's cap. Not only did it end a year in which he became the first player to win tournaments on both the PGA TOUR and the Champions Tour, it also put the rest of the Tour players on notice that Floyd would have to be respected.

1993: One man searching for a little respect in 1993 was Simon Hobday. The South African came to the United States just hoping to play on the Champions Tour in 1991. He finished among the top 20 on the money list his first two seasons, but he still couldn't collect a win. On the Fourth of July weekend, Hobday won the Kroger Senior Classic. Hobday had won six times on the European Tour, but this was his first victory in the United States. In golfers' minds, there is always the thought they had better win another title to prove the first was no fluke. Hobday knew that when he opened the 1993 season-ending championship with an 8-under-par 64. He followed with a 68 and was tied for the lead after 36 holes. Although he struggled coming down the stretch, Hobday added a 67 on the final day. His 17-under-par total edged defending champion Floyd and Larry Gilbert by one stroke. The win definitely was a springboard for Hobday. Midway through the following season, he captured his first major title at the 1994 U.S. Senior Open.

1994: With the tournament having moved to Myrtle Beach, the 1994 IR SENIOR TOUR Championship did its part to enhance the tradition. Jim Albus opened with a course-record, 8-under-par 64 at The Dunes Golf and Beach Club, giving him a one-stroke lead over Rocky Thompson. Albus and Thompson were tied after 36 holes. When Albus shot 66, pushing him to a six-stroke lead over Floyd after three rounds, it looked like the tournament belonged to the former club professional from Long Island. But Floyd had other ideas. His final-round 66, when Albus shot an even-par 72, left the two deadlocked at 273 after 72 holes. Five playoff holes later, Floyd had his second IR SENIOR TOUR Championship by virtue of a birdie on the 18th hole—the fifth time the twosome had played in sudden death on the 430-yard par-4 named "Little Gator."

1995: Myrtle Beach has its champions and history, and Jim Colbert became a part of both in 1995. A seven-time winner on the PGA TOUR, Colbert already had equaled his finest season on the Champions Tour with three victories. He earned his fourth in wire-to-wire fashion, the first to do so in the IR SENIOR TOUR Championship. An opening 68 gave Colbert a three-stroke lead over six players. He maintained that advantage through 36 holes, then expanded it to six after three rounds. That margin enabled him to coast home with a closing 74, good for a one-stroke victory over Floyd. The title, the 13th of his Champions Tour career, propelled Colbert to his first Arnold Palmer Award and Player of the Year honor.

1996: Jay Sigel shot three consecutive rounds of 69 to begin the 1996 tournament at Myrtle Beach. The second brought him a share of the 36-hole lead with Vicente Fernandez and Frank Conner at 6-under-par 136. The third gave him a three-stroke lead over Charles at 9-under-par 207. Sigel's closing 72 enabled him to retain his three-stroke lead over a charging Kermit Zarley, whose 69 left him at 7-under-par 281. Sigel's first-place check for $280,000 lifted Sigel to a career-best $1,094,630 in earnings for the season. Colbert's tie for third at Myrtle Beach cemented his second consecutive Arnold Palmer Award and Champions Tour Player of the Year honor.

1997: In 1997, Gil Morgan completed his season-long competition with Hale Irwin by winning the season-ending event by two strokes over Hale Irwin. The victory was Morgan's sixth of the season, compared with Irwin's record-tying nine. The $328,000 first prize lifted Morgan past the $2-million mark in season's earnings, with $2,160,562. Irwin's second-place check for $187,000 brought him to $2,343,364, the most ever by any player on any TOUR at the time.

1998: Hale Irwin turned the tables in 1998, winning his seventh title of the season—and first season-ending title—by five strokes over Morgan. Irwin's first-place check for $347,000 put the capper on a Champions Tour record-earnings season of $2,861,945.

1999: Damage caused by Hurricane Floyd necessitated a return to The Dunes Golf & Beach Club for 1999. And that return met with Gary McCord's approval. McCord, a non-winner throughout a PGA TOUR career that began in 1974, earned his second Champions Tour title (in his first full season) at Myrtle Beach. The first came in his first event of the year, a five-hole playoff at the Toshiba Senior Classic. Victory No. 2 came in more conventional style, a one-stroke victory over Bruce Fleisher and Larry Nelson at The Dunes worth $347,000.

Gary McCord

2000: With TPC Myrtle Beach serving as site for the tournament for the first time, Tom Watson earned his second Champions Tour title. Watson, who began the final round two strokes out of the lead held by Leonard Thompson, fired a 6-under-par 66 to edge John Jacobs by one stroke. His $365,000 paycheck lifted Watson over the $1-million mark in season earnings for the first time in his career.

2001: Gaillardia Golf and Country Club in Oklahoma City served as the tournament's new host. Bob Gilder overcame blustery winds and a late charge by Doug Tewell for his second victory of the year. Gilder finished at 11-under-par 277, one stroke ahead of Tewell. He would later be named Champions Tour Rookie of the Year.

2002: For the second time in three years, Tom Watson walked away from the Champions Tour's season-ending event with the title. Watson didn't take the lead until the third round, on the strength of a 6-under 66. But even then Watson was tied with Morgan at the 54-hole mark, setting up a final-day showdown. Watson and Morgan battled all day—along with the elements that forced a more-than-three-hour rain delay—with Watson shooting a final-round 67 to win by two.

2003: The tournament moved to the Sonoma Golf Club in northern California, and Tom Watson looked for a while like he might successfully defend his 2002 title. But he didn't count on Jim Thorpe going crazy with his putter. On the 16th hole, Thorpe made a 67-foot eagle putt from off the green. Thorpe came right back a hole later, making a birdie on No. 17 that all but sealed the victory. Thorpe's $440,000 payday was the largest of his career, and he became the first wire-to-wire winner of the tournament since Jim Colbert led from start to finish in 1995.

2004: Mark McNulty began Sunday's final round five strokes behind leader Tom Kite, but McNulty shot a final-round 66—highlighted by a blistering back-nine performance to give him the victory. The native of Zimbabwe made five birdies in his final eight holes, including a 12-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole that proved decisive. Nine strokes off the lead at the halfway point, McNulty hung around long enough until he got his putter working and picked up his third victory of the year and second in a row. A week earlier, McNulty captured the SBC Championship in San Antonio, TX. The $440,000 McNulty won for his Charles Schwab Cup Championship victory left him seventh on the money list in his rookie year and fifth in the final Charles Schwab Cup standings (2,417 points).

2005: Tom Watson won his third Charles Schwab Cup Championship, and all three victories have come at different courses—TPC Myrtle Beach (2000), Gaillardia Golf and Country Club (2002) and Sonoma Golf Club (2005). Watson also made one of the most dramatic comebacks in tournament history. He entered the final round trailing 54-hole leader Jay Haas by six strokes. But Watson, a World Golf Hall of Fame member, fired a final-round 64 to edge Haas by a stroke. In the process, Watson also won the Charles Schwab Cup, symbolic of the points leader in the season-long race.

2006: Jim Thorpe's solid play down the stretch held off Tom Kite and a late charge by Keith Fergus to win his second Charles Schwab Cup Championship in the last four years. Thorpe also won in 2003, the first year this tournament was held at the Sonoma Golf Club. Thorpe entered the final round with a one-stroke lead, and a final-round 68 led to a two-shot victory. In the Charles Schwab Cup race, Jay Haas edged Loren Roberts by 20 points to win the $1-million annuity when Roberts missed a short putt on the 18th hole. It was the closest race in the six-year history of the season-long points race.

2007: Four rounds in the 60s ensured that Jim Thorpe would successfully defend his Charles Schwab Cup Championship title, earning him his third overall victory at the event. Thorpe took the lead after the first round, was tied for second at the halfway mark, trailed by one through 54 holes then shot a final-round 66 to take a three-shot win over Fred Funk. The win vaulted Thorpe to 15th on the final money list and a tie for 14th in the Charles Schwab Cup race.

2008: Andy Bean was dominant after taking the second-round lead by a stroke over Nick Price. He shot a third-round 68 to open a four-stroke lead over Gene Jones and Price, and he blew past everybody Sunday with a final-round 66, giving him a tournament-record nine-stroke win. The previous-largest margin of victory was five strokes in 1992 by Raymond Floyd in Puerto Rico and Hale Irwin in 1998 in Myrtle Beach, SC. Bean's 68-66-68-66 gave him the distinction of being the only player in the field with four sub-70 rounds.

Andy Bean

2009: John Cook didn't win quite as easily as Andy Bean did in 2008, but Cook still rolled during the final Charles Schwab Cup Championship at Sonoma Golf Club. After opening with a first-round 68, leaving him tied for third, he took a three-stroke lead at the halfway mark on the strength of his career-low Champions Tour round, a 62. He played the final 36 holes in 8-under to cruise to a five-shot win over Russ Cochran, earning $442,000—his largest payday since he turned 50.

2010: John Cook led from the start with an opening-round 64 at TPC Harding Park and maintained his lead after 36 holes. Michael Allen took the lead through 54 holes after a tournament-record 10-under 61 moved him one stroke ahead of Cook. Allen and Cook battled down the stretch in the final round until Cook held a two-stroke lead going to No. 18 and sealed his win when he made a par putt from 18 feet to win the title for the second consecutive year.

John Cook

2011: It was Jay Don Blake who made headlines at the end of the week at TPC Harding Park when he claimed the tournament title by two strokes for his second victory of the year following his win at the Songdo IBD Championship in Korea. Mark Calcavecchia, Loren Roberts and local favorite Michael Allen were all in at 6-under, with just Blake (8-under) and Jay Haas (6-under) remaining on the course with one hole to play. Tom Lehman breathed a sigh of relief when Haas made a par, allowing Lehman to win the season-long Schwab Cup, and Blake won the tournament with a spectacular par after a beautiful pitch from the rough below the green. Blake became the first player since Mark McNulty in 2004 to win the Charles Schwab Cup Championship in his first appearance.

2012: Tom Lehman claimed his second victory of the season when he won the season-ending Charles Schwab Cup Championship by six strokes over Jay Haas. Lehman made a pivotal birdie in the final round when he recovered brilliantly from a difficult lie at the par-4 14th hole and was never challenged for the title after that. He closed with a tap-in birdie to shoot 258 (22-under) before tipping his cap to honor longtime instructor, Jim Flick, who was watching at home gravely ill. Lehman's winning total was the lowest 72-hole score in Champions Tour history. He captured the Regions Tradition earlier in the year and became the eighth different player in 2012 to win a pair of Champions Tour titles. Lehman became the first player to win consecutive Charles Schwab Cups and also became the first player since Tom Watson in 2005 to claim the Charles Schwab Cup by winning the season-ending Charles Schwab Cup Championship.

2013: Fred Couples closed with a 2-under-par 69, his fourth consecutive round in the 60s, to win the Charles Schwab Championship by six strokes. Mark O'Meara, who started the final day five behind Couples, made a double bogey on the final hole to drop from solo second place into a three-way tie for second with Bernhard Langer and Peter Senior. The victory was Couples' first win in 2013 and his first as a World Golf Hall of Fame member. Kenny Perry captured the Charles Schwab Cup by a 412-point margin over Langer and was awarded the $1-million annuity.

2014: It took four extra holes, but Tom Pernice, Jr., two-putted for birdie to outlast Jay Haas and win the 25th Charles Schwab Cup Championship. Haas put pressure on Pernice on the 72nd hole when he rolled in a 37-foot birdie putt from the front fringe to grab a one-stroke lead. Pernice answered moments later when he made a birdie to tie Haas and send the tournament to a playoff. After each birdied the first extra hole, Pernice and Haas matched pars on the ensuing two holes before Pernice ended Haas' bid for his second win in his last three starts. After Haas made his 15-footer for par, Pernice stepped up and drained the winner, giving him his second playoff win of 2014. Earlier in the year Pernice had won The Principal Charity Classic in a playoff. For just the second time in Charles Schwab Cup history, Bernhard Langer claimed the season-long trophy in advance of the season-ending event when he had an insurmountable lead after the penultimate event of the season. In 2002, Hale Irwin claimed the Cup with three events remaining that season.

2015: Billy Andrade won for a third time on the 2015 season after overcoming a four-stroke deficit in the final round to win the season-ending Charles Schwab Cup Championship in a playoff over Bernhard Langer. Andrade's 64 on Sunday at Desert Mountain's Cochise Course, which ties the low final round by a winner, was capped by a timely birdie at the par-5 18th hole. Langer then had a chance to win the tournament outright on the 72nd hole but watched as his lengthy eagle putt lipped out. In the ensuing sudden-death playoff, Andrade made birdie to Langer's par to win the tournament title. Although Langer, who had won twice during the 2015 season, did not add a third at the Charles Schwab Cup Championship, his runner-up performance resulted in a record third season-long Charles Schwab Cup title and $1 million annuity. Langer also became the second player in the 15-year history of the Charles Schwab Cup to win the Cup in back-to-back seasons, joining Tom Lehman (2011, 2012).

Billy Andrade

2016: After opening with an 8-under 62, Paul Goydos closed with rounds of 67-66 and completed the wire-to-wire victory at Desert Mountain Club's Cochise Course. The win was Goydos' second of the season and he finished third in the final Charles Schwab Cup standings. Colin Montgomerie had a chance to win the tournament and the Schwab Cup on Sunday, but his chances were derailed by an even-par 35 on the back nine. He finished the tournament third, and he finished runner-up in the Schwab Cup for the third consecutive year. Bernhard Langer finished second in the tournament and won the Charles Schwab Cup for the third consecutive year. He finished the season with four wins, four runner-ups and 18 top 10s in 21 starts, and his worst finish of the year was tied for 13th. It was the fourth time he won the Schwab Cup and he is the only player to win more than twice.

Paul Goydos

2017: Kevin Sutherland won for the first time on PGA TOUR Champions, finishing at 15-under to win the Charles Schwab Cup Championship by one over Vijay Singh and Lee Janzen. With the win, Sutherland also won the Charles Schwab Cup, breaking the three-year winning streak by Bernhard Langer, who finished the tournament T12 and was second in the final standings. With the win, Sutherland became just the third player to win the Charles Schwab Cup Championship and the Charles Schwab Cup in the same season, joining Tom Watson (2005) and Tom Lehman (2012).
