Extended forecast – There will be chance for thunderstorms again Tuesday night into early Wednesday morning. Otherwise, partly cloudy skies and excessive heat can be expected beginning Wednesday and continuing into Saturday. Highs will likely reach the mid to upper 90s each day with index values making it feel more like 105-110F. Thunderstorm chances may return Saturday night into Sunday as a front settles into the state. This should help cool temperatures back into the upper 80s to low 90s as well.
