Today – A few mainly lighter showers will remain possible through the morning. There is a very low chance for an embedded thunderstorm with this morning activity, with a lightning probability of 10%. The majority of this afternoon is expected to be dry, but should the atmosphere recover from this morning's rainfall an isolated pop-up shower or thunderstorm will be possible from 3-5 pm. Windy southwesterly to west-southwesterly winds are expected to develop by early afternoon, with gusts in the 20-25 mph range.
