TPC Kuala Lumpur

THE WEST COURSE

TPC Kuala Lumpur

The field at the CIMB Classic 2018 will be playing on a newly upgraded West Course at TPC Kuala Lumpur. New grasses that are identical to those at TPC Sawgrass, home to THE PLAYERS Championship, have been used. The "TifEagle" Bermuda grass species has been planted on the greens while "Celebration" Bermuda grass has been planted on all tee boxes, fairways, bunker surrounds and green surrounds.

Hole 1, 367m, Par 4

The optimum tee shot is to fade a drive uphill, short of the left fairway bunkers, to the flat area of fairway and avoiding the right fairway bunker. Bunkers in front of and behind the green demand good club selection and closely mown run-offs guard the front hole locations both left and right of the front bunkers. A slight adjustment was made to the right half of the green, adding a slight tier between front and back hole locations.

Hole 2, 406m, Par 4

A slight modification to the fairway was made, widening the landing zone to the right, after the central fairway bunker, for the tournament and long hitting players, dividing the left and right sections of the fairway. However, if attacking is an option, a driver to the upper right section of fairway must not veer left or the slope may direct the ball further left and into the lake. Conservative players will likely opt for a 3W to the lower left section of the fairway.

Hole 3, 460m, Par 5

Only the long hitters can carry the fairway bunker, with most long players aiming to the right side of the fairway to have a chance of reaching this green in two. A central fairway bunker at 45m from the green and another to the right at 25m, force a lay-up. The left side of the green is well guarded with two deep bunkers, particularly the back-left hole location which has been enhanced with a slight rise up to it, while the back-right section of the green is raised on an upper tier.

Hole 4, 128m, Par 3

The shortest hole on the course requires careful club selection and precise shot-making as the green is shallow from front to back and a tier divides the left and right portions of the green. The central section of the green has been extended forward, the central bunker removed and replaced with a steep, closely mown run-off that could take the ball 20 metres away from the green. Deep front bunkers guard the left and right sections of the green.

Hole 5, 474m, Par 5

This hole rewards long-hitting players with accurate drives to find the "go zone", between or past the fairway bunkers, to attack the green in two. The long three-tiered green is well protected by a pond that guards the front and right, while a bunker on the left will require delicate recovery shots with the lake beyond. Approach shots should finish below the hole for a realistic birdie attempt. Long putts will be difficult on this large green that slopes severely from back to front.

Hole 6, 384m, Par 4

Long drives to the left of the large right-hand bunker that narrows the fairway is the optimum position, though drives finishing past the bunker will risk finding a downhill lie, making approaching this elevated green difficult. The green has a deep bunker and steep run-off at the front making front hole locations challenging. The bunker left of the green guards central and upper-back hole locations, and a run-off to the right will carry away shots missing right.

Hole 7, 353m, Par 4

Only the power hitters can attempt to carry the left bunkers, to be rewarded with a relatively easy pitch shot to the now easily visible green. However, a bunker right and a slope to the left narrows the fairway significantly. The fairway right of the first bunker has been widened and will leave a shorter approach shot. The conservative play is to lay up short of the fairway bunkers, from where the green is partially visible and a mid to short iron is left to the green.

Hole 8, 186m, Par 3

A mid- to long-iron shot is required preferably below the hole, allowing uphill birdie attempts. The left half of the green is protected by a front bunker, a pot bunker at the back and a steep run-off to the left. The right half of the putting surface offers easier access, though the newly re-levelled back-right section slopes away from the tee, meaning a well struck shot with some spin is required to avoid the long run-off at the back.

Hole 9, 369m Par 4

Going with driver for most players requires great accuracy as the fairway narrows between the pond on the right and the fairway bunker to the left. The perfect long drive will be rewarded with a relatively simple pitch shot. The green is gently undulating and will reward accurate approach shots. The front hole location is well guarded with deep bunkers left and right and the false front could carry the ball far back down the fairway slope.

Hole 10, 493m, Par 5

Longer hitters must be accurate off the tee, as the lake on the right pinches the fairway significantly at 230m, and bunkers on the left extend to 280m. Bailout drives played away from the water finding the left rough are difficult to negotiate. Cross bunkers 40m short of the green should be avoided and a lay-up for the second shot is the safe play, leaving an uphill pitch of between 50m to 70m. The deep front-left bunker threatens, while the upper back left and right sections are difficult to get to.

Hole 11, 207m, Par 3

A beautiful but demanding long par 3 over water is required, though there is a small bail-out fairway to the left of the green. Tee shots will tend to be conservatively long to carry the water, and the bunker to the back left will be a very popular spot, from which a delicate recovery shot is required with the lake waiting at the other side. The very undulating green makes long putts and recovery shots difficult and putting off the green into the lake will not be uncommon.

TPC Kuala Lumpur (cont.)

Hole 12, 438m, Par 4

A very long downhill hole that is best played conservatively by amateurs who cannot carry the bunkers that narrow the fairway at 270m. The sensible play is to lay-up short of the bunkers from where an elevated view of the green and a long iron or hybrid is required to reach the green. Shorter hitters or those missing the fairway are advised to lay-up short of the pond or to the newly created narrow fairway to the right. A section of the stream has been closed in, but the pond to the left is still in play, and the remaining stream to the right will catch the bail-out shots too far right.

Hole 13, 420m, Par 4

A long uphill hole where length and accuracy are required from the tee before a solid mid- to long-iron is needed to reach the elevated green. Find the right side of the fairway and avoid deep bunkers guarding the left of the green, angled so that approaches from the left must carry them. The bunker and steep slopes to the right will catch shots played away from the left bunkers. The front hole locations must contend with the run-offs approaching the green, while shots going over the back will find tricky recovery shots back up to the green which now slopes away from you.

Hole 14, 327m, Par 4

This short par 4 has a lake guarding the left side of the fairway and extends around the front of the entire putting surface. Strategically positioned bunkers along the right side of the fairway dictate golfers' strategy off the tee. The conservative drive is a long iron or hybrid to the fairway between the first three bunkers, which will leave around 110 metres to the green. The bunker to the right of the green has been removed and is now replaced with a small "valley of sin" that will catch shots coming up short and too far right and make recovery shots difficult from tight lies.

Hole 15, 182m, Par 3

A long par-3 over water to a wide green with a ridge that separates left and right halves. The bail-out area to the front-right of the green is a popular spot, particularly when right side hole locations are in play, but recovery putts or chips from here to left hole locations up and over the ridge are very challenging. The left side of the green, with a lower front and upper back hole locations, is very well guarded by a bunker and a steep run-off to the front and deep bunkers to the left.

Hole 16, 291m, Par 4

A risk versus reward decision will make or break a player's score on this driveable par 4. Most players are expected to opt for a "smart" tee shot to land between the first lakeside bunker and the first bunker on the right of the fairway. A new tee to the right has been constructed that allows a straight away version of the hole to be played, where an accurate, straight shot can run up to the green. The last fairway bunker has been moved to the right to allow a slightly wider fairway approach, and visibility of the greenside bunker from the new tee.

Hole 17, 307m, Par 4

The fairway of this short par 4 is split by a meandering stream and provides two avenues of play. If the hole location is along the right of the green, particularly back-right, the left fairway is the preferred line of attack, but a long and accurate drive is necessary to carry the stream and to avoid the left bunkers. The conservative play is a long iron or fairway metal up the narrow right fairway, though shots too far right avoiding the stream will be blocked by the palm trees.

Hole 18, 580m, Par 5

For all but the very longest of hitters this is a three-shot par 5. A long and accurate drive left or right of the staggered bunkers is essential. If the green is not reachable, careful course management is needed to lay-up, avoiding the four strategically positioned bunkers, and leave your preferred length of approach shot. The back of the green is divided by a central ridge line making cross putts difficult, and the reinstated far back-right Sunday hole location is guarded by a small bunker front-right.
