2018 Wyndham Championship Recap

This tournament will forever be remembered for Brandt Snedeker opening with a course-record 59 and becoming just the ninth golfer in PGA TOUR history to post a sub-60 score. Snedeker started his round with a bogey on the par 4 10th hole and went on to make four birdies and turn at 3-under par, but he blistered Sedgefield's front side, shooting 27 – 8-under par. His birdie at the ninth hole clinched the 59 and a fitting celebration followed; he would finish the opening round with a four-stroke lead over 2009 champion Ryan Moore. Snedeker's second-round 3-under 67 gave him a two-stroke lead over D.A. Points and C.T. Pan. The third round was interrupted by weather and ended Sunday morning, but Snedeker emerged with a one-stroke lead. On Sunday, 2011 champion Webb Simpson shot 62 and finished tied for second. Snedeker and Pan battled all day. When Pan reached the 18th tee, they were tied at 20-under par. Pan's tee shot went out of bounds, leading to a double bogey that gave Snedeker a two-stroke lead he didn't know he had until after he hit his approach to the 18th green. Snedeker rolled in a 20-footer for birdie, dropped the putter and began celebrating with his wife and kids. His 59 set the course record and the tournament record, and the win moved him from 80th to 30th in the FedExCup point standings.

August 2019

Wyndham Championship Media:

On behalf of the Wyndham Championship staff and the Piedmont Triad Charitable Foundation Board, welcome to Sedgefield Country Club for the 80th annual Wyndham Championship, the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event. And welcome to the Irwin Smallwood Media Center in Sedgefield Country Club's fantastic Activities Building.

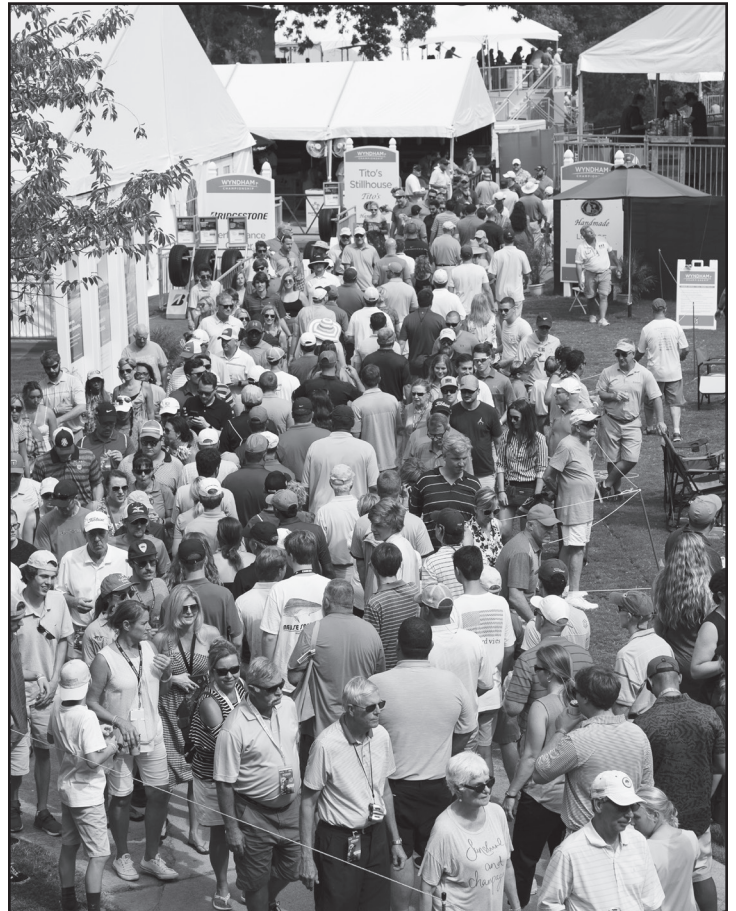

The Wyndham Championship is the sixth-oldest event on the PGA TOUR, excluding the Majors, and North Carolina's oldest PGA TOUR event. No less than 18 World Golf Hall of Famers have won the tournament that was founded in 1938 as the Greater Greensboro Open. Sarazan, Snead, Hogan and Nelson all played here; so did Palmer, Nicklaus, Ballesteros and Player. Recent participants continue that tradition with the likes of our now three-time champion Davis Love III, Tiger Woods, Sergio Garcia, Webb Simpson, Ernie Els and 2015 Masters and U.S. Open winner Jordan Spieth. Few tournaments have a history as rich as ours.

We have created a professional environment in the Irwin Smallwood Media Center, but if you have suggestions or questions, please do not hesitate to pass them along to Rob Goodman or a member of our media center staff. I hope you enjoy this year's Wyndham Championship at Sedgefield. Thanks for being here, and have a great week.

Sincerely,

Mark Brazil

Together with our partner, Wyndham Rewards, we're committed to making a positive impact in the community and playing a part in Wyndham's philanthropic mission to enrich the lives of families and children in the communities where we live, work and play. Youth and Education: The Wyndham Championship is passionate about inspiring the next generation, and we're proud to partner and support these programs and organizations:

Since the program's inception in 2014, we're proud to have provided more than 510,000 nutritious meals for thousands of Piedmont Triad families. Wyndham Rewards supports talented junior golfers who lack the financial resources to play a national junior golf schedule through an Achieving Competitive Excellence (ACE) grant. This grant helps fulfill the AJGA's mission of developing young men and women who aspire to earn college golf scholarships through competitive junior golf. In addition, the Wyndham Championship annually hosts the AJGA Wyndham Invitational presented by BB&T, a major on the AJGA schedule played at Sedgefield Country Club. Wyndham also sponsors the annual Wyndham Cup, a "Ryder Cup-Style" competition between teams of AJGA all-stars representing the eastern and western halves of the United States. For additional information, please visit www.ajga.org.

• The First Tee of the Triad:

The Wyndham Championship is a major supporter of The First Tee of the Triad, the local chapter of the international initiative founded by the World Golf Foundation in 1997 "to impact the lives of young people by providing educational programs that build, instill life-enhancing values and promote healthy choices through the game of golf." The First Tee of the Triad hosts a free youth golf clinic during Wyndham Championship tournament week; the clinic is open to junior golfers of all ages, and PGA TOUR professionals provide the instruction. - Republic Services: The tournament is dedicated to minimizing the impact of its operations through an extensive, on-site recycling program, not just during the Wyndham Championship but year-round.

- LED lighting: Sedgefield Country Club is in the process of installing LED lighting throughout its 48,000 square-foot clubhouse. With approximately 80 percent of the project complete, the entire changeover should be finished by the summer of 2020. The incandescent and fluorescent lighting that is being replaced ranges from 32 to 60 watts per bulb. The new LED lighting ranges from 2 to 7 watts per bulb, resulting in a significant reduction in energy demand and carbon footprint.

- Disposables: McConnell Golf Properties, including Sedgefield Country Club, partner with Imperial Dade for disposable cups, lids, straws, take-out containers and ramekins made of 100 percent compostable materials.

- Redistribution of Plants/Landscaping Materials: Landscaping is a big part of transforming the Sedgefield Country Club Ross course into a PGA TOUR venue. After the tournament, plants, trees and flowers are repurposed in multiple ways, helping sustain our environment in multiple locations.

- Green Cleaning Program:

To provide effective, innovative, and sustainable cleaning and sanitizing, Sedgefield Country Club uses stabilized aqueous ozone (SAO™) from Tersano™ for healthier properties and a healthier planet. The SAO system transforms ordinary tap water into a chemical-free commercial cleaner that eliminates germs, odors, stains, mold, mildew and other contaminants on any item or surface before changing safely back into water and oxygen.

Meet Irwin Smallwood

Irwin Smallwood is a retired former golf writer, sports editor and managing editor of the Greensboro News & Record and the old Greensboro Daily News, where he worked for more than four decades. The Wyndham Championship Media Center was named in his honor in 2004. Smallwood pioneered golf writing in North Carolina. He didn't limit himself to PGA TOUR stops; he showed enthusiasm for covering junior tournaments, city amateurs, state amateurs and other events.

His diligence and writing flair won the Greensboro native three National Golf Writers Association awards and numerous other honors; he co-founded the Carolina's Golf Writer's Association. He spent 18 years on the news side of the business, but five years before retiring in 1989, he returned to sports as executive sports editor. He still had the writer's touch, winning a N.C. Press Association award.

Smallwood has observed the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event since the late 1940s. In 1999, he was named Honorary Chairman of the tournament. Many share Smallwood's love for the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event, but few, if any, have his passion for the event.

79 years of great golf, memorable moments

In 2008, the Wyndham Championship moved back to Sedgefield Country Club and became the only regular-season event on the PGA TOUR contested on a course originally designed by the legendary Donald Ross. The Wyndham Championship is the sixth-oldest event on the PGA TOUR, excluding the Majors, and the 2019 tournament is the 80th renewal of North Carolina's oldest professional golf event. The tournament enjoys a rich history that few PGA TOUR events have.

The Greensboro Jaycees were barely a year old when the idea of a golf tournament began to take life. Dr. Alex Stanford had founded the chapter in 1936 and lawyer Ed Kuykendall Jr. was president in '37 when Greensboro Daily News sports editor Laurence Leonard began pushing the idea, along with Starmount Forest County Club pro George Corcoran. Starmount owner Edward B. Benjamin was solidly behind the notion and had been ever since Starmount had hosted the Carolinas Open of 1932, when Henry Picard beat the legendary Walter Hagen in a classic playoff. As would be repeated later in the life of the tournament, it was the Greensboro business community that finally came to the rescue of the ambitious project. At an August 1937 meeting at the old O. Henry Hotel, attended by the core of the business and civic leadership of the city – including Joseph M. Bryan – the financial ($5,000) underpinning for the tournament was finalized. Later that evening Fred Corcoran, PGA tournament manager, awarded Greensboro tour dates for the spring of 1938 and the Greater Greensboro Open was born. (It is important to note also that Starmount pro George Corcoran was a brother of the PGA's Fred Corcoran, for this connection played a major role in the securing of the GGO's original dates).

The GGO was given a spectacular boost into the national golf picture, from these modest beginnings, through its earliest champions – three of the first four tournaments were won by Sam Snead ('38), Ben Hogan ('40) and Byron Nelson ('41), who for years would dominate the game and remain among the all-time greats in golf. The first five events were played at both Starmount and Sedgefield. After skipping 1943 and '44 for World War II, the tournament resumed at Starmount Forest Country Club in 1945. For the next 13 years, the Greater Greensboro Open alternated between Starmount and Sedgefield. The tournament then moved to Starmount for three straight years.

Alternating between Sedgefield and Starmount was a popular arrangement that suited almost everybody until the 1960 tournament, which followed a hard winter and found Starmount not in the best condition. After winning the tournament for the seventh time, Sam Snead, who for years was said to have buried his money in tomato cans in his back yard, jokingly suggested that Edward Benjamin, who owned Starmount, dig up a few of his tomato cans and fix the course before the next tournament. Benjamin was not amused. He banned Snead from Starmount for life and created a serious problem for the host courses, but with the event growing rapidly, it turned out to be a blessing. Sedgefield, with vastly more space to handle the crowds, became the sole home of the tournament beginning in 1967 and was a major contributor to its development during the next 10 years.

By the late 1970s, however, it was becoming increasingly evident that the tournament needed more space, and Sedgefield did not have it. The membership at Sedgefield, and some of the residents around the course, were becoming less enchanted with the annual invasion of their club. It was an agonizing and controversial decision, but the tournament moved to Forest Oaks Country Club beginning with the 1977 event. The tournament would be played at the Southeast Greensboro course for 31 consecutive years. As it turned out, the move was a good one. Larger galleries and more sponsors than ever enabled the tournament to continue its growth, and the second tournament at Forest Oaks turned up the largest profit in GGO history, a whopping $174,219. A decade and a half later the profits would reach $1 million.

In addition to the course rotation, the tournament has endured numerous name changes. It began in 1938 as the Greater Greensboro Open. That name held until 1998 when K-Mart joined the event as title sponsor. The tournament then became the K-Mart Greater Greensboro Open. After an eight-year relationship with K-Mart, Daimler-Chrysler became the title sponsor, and the tournament became the Greater Greensboro Chrysler Classic. 2003 was a year of change as the Forest Oaks course was redesigned by Davis Love III and his design company. With the revamped course came new October tournament dates and the debut of the next event name, the Chrysler Classic of Greensboro. In 2006, Daimler-Chrysler made a business decision to end its 11-year association with the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event. Wyndham Rewards signed on as the new title sponsor, and the Wyndham Championship debuted in 2007.

Star-Studded Tournament

Probably never in the history of sport has an athlete bonded with a city not of his birth the way Sam Snead and Greensboro became intertwined through the years. If there is, indeed, a defining moment in the life of a tournament, Greensboro's was when Snead began to call it "my second home." In 1965, Sam Snead was about ready to take his place as a relic of the past. He was being honored on the occasion of his 25th appearance in the GGO, which that year had one of the strongest PGA TOUR fields of the year, including Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Billy Casper and Julius Boros. He proceeded to win the event by five shots with four sub-70 rounds, and at age 52 years, 10 months and 8 days became the oldest player ever to win a PGA TOUR event – the record still stands today.

But that was not the end of Greensboro's love affair with Snead. Twenty-three years later he would return to help celebrate the tournament's 50th anniversary, to see the street leading to Starmount Forest Country Club renamed Sam Snead Drive. On the 60th anniversary of the tournament, he returned again to celebrate the establishment of the Sam Snead Cup, which goes now to the winner of the tournament. Slammin' Sammy won the then Greater Greensboro Open eight times from 1938 to '65; the record is still the TOUR mark for victories at an event. Other notable winners include Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Julius Boros, Gary Player, Al Geiberger, Billy Casper, Gene Littler, George Archer, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Davis Love III, Mark O'Meara, Larry Nelson, Seve Ballesteros, Lanny Wadkins and Raymond Floyd.

Historical Moments

1940

Ben Hogan arrived in Greensboro after winning the North/South Open in Pinehurst, the first of win his career, and won a tournament that was delayed three days by snow. After playing the first round at Starmount, some three inches of snow fell in Greensboro. Once the snow melted, play resumed at Starmount before moving to Sedgefield, where Hogan played 36 spectacular holes to win by nine strokes. After the tournament, Hogan went to Asheville and won the Land of the Sky Open for his third consecutive win.

1942

Sam Byrd, former backup player for Babe Ruth and the New York Yankees, produced a final-round rally to win the tournament. Byrd is still the only Major League Baseball player to win a PGA TOUR event.

1945

Byron Nelson won the tournament at Starmount Forest. It was the third of his record-setting streak of 11 straight PGA TOUR wins. He defeated Sam Byrd by eight strokes.

1947

Tall Vic Gheszi played the ball and the mud with equal skill to win the event in which no one broke par in 72 holes of play.

1950

With what PGA TOUR officials called the largest crowd ever on the winter tour watching, Sam Snead won with rounds of 66-70-66-67 in perfect springtime weather at Sedgefield. The tournament actually ran out of tickets, and officials went to Cone Mills to print more for the weekend.

1952

Sam Snead finished tied for first with Dave Doyle and seemed headed to a playoff. However, the playoff never happened because the tournament was settled after a rules discussion regarding Snead's second shot at the 17th hole at Starmount. At the par-3, Snead's tee shot landed in the creek, and he incorrectly played the ball on the green side of the creek. Long after play was complete, he was assessed a two-stroke penalty, giving him a new four-round total of 279. The resulting penalty moved Snead from a tie for first place to third, two strokes behind Doyle, who shot 277 and was declared the winner.

1960

Since its inception in 1938, the tournament alternated between Sedgefield and Starmount Forest. The 1960 tournament followed a hard winter, and at tournament time, Starmount wasn't in the best of conditions. After winning the GGO for the seventh time, Snead jokingly suggested that Starmount owner Edward Benjamin spend some of his money to fix up the course before the next event. Benjamin was not amused and banned Snead from Starmount for life, making Sedgefield the then-permanent home of the tournament. Also in 1960, Thorne Wood fired a first-round 66 and became the first left-handed golfer in PGA TOUR history to lead an official event.

1961

When Mose Kiser Jr. and his colleagues began preparations for the 1961 GGO, the Civil Rights Act was still some four years down the road and the impact of the Feb. 1, 1960, Greensboro Sit-Ins at Woolworth's was just beginning to be felt across the nation. With full support from the host club, Sedgefield, the tournament decided it was time to open its arms across the racial divide and issued a personal invitation to Charlie Sifford to participate. Sifford, a seasoned and accomplished competitor who grew up caddying in Charlotte, graciously accepted, becoming the first African-American to play in a PGA TOUR event in the Old South. He had already played in a TOUR event in California. Sifford led the first round at Greensboro with a 68, trailed by only three strokes after three rounds and wound up tied for fourth behind winner Mike Souchak, Sam Snead and Billy Maxwell. There were some racial hecklers along the way, but, for the most part, he was welcomed in a dignified manner. Six months later, the Caucasian Clause came out of the PGA TOUR bylaws.

1965

Sam Snead won his PGA TOUR record-setting eighth Greater Greensboro Open. He won the first GGO in 1938, and when he won his eighth 27 years later, he became the TOUR's oldest tournament winner at age 52 years, 10 months and eight days. The tournament hosted its first champion's banquet and honored Snead's 25th appearance in the GGO. Ed Sullivan was the Toastmaster.

1966

While corporate sponsorship was something tournament organizers wanted to avoid, it was taking hold and threatening independent tournaments. Officials finally decided to take at least a partial step toward commercial help. The decision came when Allied Chemical, a major supplier of the textile industry, approached GGO officials about becoming a limited partner in the tournament sponsorship. This first for the Triad's TOUR event eventually led to a title sponsor, though that would not come until two decades later.

1968

Billy Casper won the tournament at Sedgefield, his second victory in this event. The final round was postponed due to the April 4 assassination of Martin Luther King Jr.

1969

Four players competed in a five-hole sudden-death playoff, the largest playoff in tournament history. Gene Littler sank a curling 12-foot putt at the 15th hole to defeat Julius Boros, Orville Moody and Tom Weiskopf.

1970

Arnold Palmer was the leader or tied for the lead after each of the first three rounds of the tournament. Gary Player fired a final-round 65 to win the tournament by two strokes at Sedgefield Country Club; it was the lowest final-round score by a tournament winner at Sedgefield. Palmer finished tied for fifth, five shots back.

1972

Arnold Palmer held a two-stroke lead in the final round when he teed off on the par-three 16th hole at Sedgefield and appeared headed to an easy victory. Palmer put his tee shot into the creek beside the 16th green and tried to play out of the shallow water there. That decision cost him the tournament as he recorded a triple-bogey 6 and finished third. George Archer defeated Tommy Aaron on the second hole of the playoff to win the tournament.

1976

Al Geiberger won the Greater Greensboro Open in what was then the last tournament at Sedgefield Country Club. Geiberger defeated

Lee Trevino by two strokes to claim the $46,000 first-place check. The tournament moved to Forest Oaks Country Club the following year where it stayed for 31 years.

1978

Playing in his first United States tournament, Spain's Seve Ballesteros won the Greater Greensboro Open at age 20 years and 11 months. Ballesteros would return the next year and finish tied for 12th. In 1981, he made his final appearance and tied for 45th.

1979

Fayetteville's Raymond Floyd defeated George Burns and Gary Player in a playoff at Forest Oaks and became the first North Carolina native to win the event. Three-time winner Davis Love III and 2011 champion Webb Simpson are the only other native North Carolinians to win it.

1988

The GGO's 50th anniversary was marked by the tournament's first step into the world of corporate sponsorship. K-Mart came aboard as the title sponsor, enabling the tournament to return to the level of the PGA TOUR elite with a $1 million purse – for the four previous tournaments, the purse fell below the TOUR average. Now it was above the average by more than $200,000. The 50th anniversary also turned into a major homecoming. Snead returned, as did two-time winner Byron Nelson and a long line of other past winners. Snead, Nelson, Raymond Floyd and Lanny Wadkins were featured speakers at the celebration banquet, following a special nine-hole pro-am at Sedgefield for former champions and GGO regulars from earlier days. Sandy Lyle won the K-Mart Greater Greensboro Open in a sudden-death playoff with Ken Green, who was best known for his green golf shoes.

1992

There have been many stirring finishes to the GGO, KGGO, GGCC, Chrysler Classic of Greensboro and now the Wyndham Championship. But, perhaps the one that many now refer to as the granddaddy of them all occurred in 1992. Davis Love III started the final round three shots behind, yet won the tournament by a whopping six strokes, posting a course-record 31-31-62 that included two eagles on holes where he did not even have to putt. After birdies at the first two holes, he hit a 117-yard wedge to the seventh that landed about six inches behind the pin and backed up into the cup for an eagle two. When he came to the par-five 15th, he had birdied three more times and was comfortably in the lead. But his heroics were not over. He smashed a 310-yard drive onto the flat of the distant hill, then sailed a 1-iron over the green and into the back bunker. Not to worry; he blasted out perfectly – right into the cup for an eagle three. The crowd erupted into a celebration seldom, if ever, equaled in the history of the tournament.

1993

The tournament announced a purse increase to $1.5 million and a new logo for the event.

1994

Rocco Mediate and 1990 champion Steve Elkington went head-to-head for four playoff holes following regulation play. Mediate pulled out the win earning his second-career PGA TOUR win.

1996

The tournament purse increased to $1.8 million; the Daimler-Chrysler Corporation assumed title sponsorship.

2001

The Chrysler Classic of Greensboro hired Tournament Director Mark Brazil to bring consistency to the tournament. Brazil would work closely with the Greensboro Jaycees to stage the tournament each year.

2003

In 2003, the tournament moved from its traditional spring date to the fall and became the Chrysler Classic of Greensboro. With the new name came a renewed Forest Oaks Country Club. The original Ellis Maples course was redesigned by Davis Love III and his course design company. The new design added length and "bite" to the course increasing total yardage to 7,311. Daimler-Chrysler increased its involvement as the tournament purse grew to $5 million making the Chrysler Classic the most lucrative stop in the Tour's "Fall Finish."

2005

In 2005, the Greensboro Jaycees Charitable Foundation Board was formed to oversee tournament operations. Immediately after the formation of the board, tournament director Mark Brazil began reporting directly to the Greensboro Jaycees Charitable Foundation Board rather than the Greensboro Jaycees. When the PGA TOUR announced its re-alignment, the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event earned a coveted date during the FedEx Cup portion of the season starting in 2007. The Triad's PGA TOUR stop became the last regular-season event before the four-tournament FedEx Cup Championship series.

2006

In January, the tournament learned that the Daimler-Chrysler Corporation would not return as the title sponsor in 2007, making 2006 the final year of the Chrysler Classic of Greensboro. Just prior to the 2006 tournament, Wyndham Rewards was introduced as the new title sponsor of the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event. The tournament would be called the Wyndham Championship starting in 2007 removing Greensboro from the tournament's name for the first time. Davis Love III became just the eighth multiple winner of the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event when he won the 2006 tournament, recording four rounds in the 60s.

2007

In the first tournament played in August, PGA TOUR rookie Brandt Snedeker won the inaugural Wyndham Championship and became the 13th first-time winner in tournament history. Also in 2007, the board that oversees tournament operations was renamed the Piedmont Triad Charitable Foundation Board, reflecting the continued regionalization of the Piedmont Triad's PGA TOUR event. In addition, the Donald Ross-designed course at Sedgefield Country Club was restored to its original design and modernized for today's PGA TOUR players.

2008

The Wyndham returned to Sedgefield Country Club beginning with the 2008 tournament. In a Feb. 20 news conference, tournament officials cited a restored Donald Ross original golf course, close proximity to the Grandover Resort where most players and sponsors stay as well as a course located much closer to the center of the Piedmont Triad as reasons for moving the tournament. After 31 years at Forest Oaks, the Wyndham would again be contested on one of the courses where the tournament began in 1938. NC State alumnus Carl Pettersson won the 2008 tournament, posting four rounds in the 60s for a then-record-setting 72-hole score of 259, 21-under-par.

2009

The 70th Wyndham might be remembered for torrential rains that disrupted play and fairways that looked more like rivers than a PGA TOUR venue. Although the tournament concluded as scheduled on Sunday, each of the first three rounds was completed the day after it began. During the final round, Sergio Garcia seemed in control, but was unable to sustain the level of play needed to take the title. He needed to hole a shot from the greenside bunker at the par-four 18th to join a playoff with Jason Bohn, Kevin Stadler and Ryan Moore. On the third playoff hole, Moore made birdie to clinch his first PGA TOUR victory and become the event's 14th first-time winner.

2010

2010 was a year of firsts for Arjun Atwal and the Wyndham Championship. In addition to his nine previous international wins, Atwal picked up his first career PGA TOUR victory and became the first Indian-born player ever to win a PGA TOUR event. He also became the first Monday qualifier to emerge victorious on the TOUR in 24 years. It was a first for the Wyndham Championship because for the first time in PGA TOUR history, patrons were allowed to bring cell phones to the course.

2011

One of the best fields in tournament history challenged Sedgefield Country Club in 2011, but for the 16th time in tournament history, the Wyndham produced a first-time winner in Wake Forest alumnus Webb Simpson. Despite the all-star cast, Simpson – the Raleigh, N.C., native – was the star of the show, navigating the Donald Ross-designed course in 18-under-par 262 on his way to finishing second in the final FedExCup point standings.

2012

For just the fourth time in its history, this tournament was settled with a delayed finish, and for just the third time in history, inclement weather caused the delay. Heavy rain Saturday night and then again during the final round made the course unplayable in spots, and play was suspended with the final group on the fifth hole. Sergio Garcia took a one-shot lead into the final round and won by two shots over Tim Clark, shooting a 4-under 66 in the rain-delayed final round.

2013

Patrick Reed won a sudden-death playoff on the second extra hole to outlast Rookie of the Year Jordan Spieth. Both made par on the first playoff hole at No. 18. On the second playoff hole, the par-4 10th, Reed played a miraculous second shot from the trees on the right side of the fairway to seven feet, with Spieth already safely on the green. Spieth narrowly missed his birdie putt. Reed calmly rolled his putt up the hill and made birdie to earn his first TOUR victory in his 38th start at 23 years of age. Reed was the first player to win on TOUR with his wife (Justine) as his caddie since Steve Stricker won the 1996 BMW Championship with his wife (Nicki) caddying.

2014

The Wyndham celebrated its 75th anniversary in 2014 with former champions Bob Goalby (1958), Dow Finsterwald (1959), Lanny Wadkins (1983), Rocco Mediate (1993 and 2002) and Davis Love III (1992 and 2006) returning for the festivities. Mediate and Love played in the tournament; Goalby, Finsterwald and Wadkins made special appearances. In addition, Weldon Fields, a tournament volunteer at the inaugural Greater Greensboro Open in 1938, returned shortly after his 100th birthday to take part in the festivities. The field included 21 Major championship winners, seven former tournament winners and multiple international stars including World Golf Hall of Famer Ernie Els. Colombian golfer Camilo Villegas became the third international golfer in the previous five years to win the Wyndham.

2015

2016 Ryder Cup Captain Davis Love III won the 76th annual Wyndham Championship and captured a third Sam Snead Cup. Only the man for whom the trophy is named has more wins (eight) at this event. Record crowds attended the Wyndham to see a world-class field that included six former world No. 1 golfers, including Tiger Woods. The 14-time major-championship winner made his first Wyndham appearance and the "Tiger Effect" was in full swing with record-setting crowds following him all weekend. He finished tied for 10th. The Wyndham Championship set records in attendance, merchandise sales, concessions sales and international media impact.

2016

Korean golfer Si Woo Kim became the 18th international champion and the 18th first-time winner in tournament history. At 21 years, one month and 24 days, Kim is the tournament's second-youngest winner. Seve Ballesteros, who won at 20 years, 11 months and 24 days in 1978, is the youngest champion in tournament history. Kim is the tournament's second Korean champion, joining 2005 winner K.J. Choi, the golfer he considers his hero, as Korean-born winners. After a pedestrian 2-under-par 68 in the first round, Kim vaulted up the leaderboard with a course-record 10-under-par 60 to take a two-stroke lead into the weekend and cruised to a five-stroke win over second-place Luke Donald. Donald became the second golfer to win "vacations for life" courtesy of Wyndham Vacation Ownership and Wyndham Rewards when he aced the par-3 16th hole during the first round. Shawn Stefani, Peter Malnati and Scott Brown also recorded holes-in-one, making the 2016 event the first in tournament history with four golfers recording holes-in-one.

2017

Swedish golfer Henrik Stenson won the 78th annual Wyndham Championship and became the tournament's 19th international winner. Stenson entered the tournament ranked ninth in the Official World Golf Rankings and moved to sixth with the win. He fired an 8-under 62 in the first round but trailed two-time TOUR winner Matt Every by a stroke, with 2011 Wyndham winner Webb Simpson among seven golfers two strokes off the lead. The second round featured a second 61 as Ryan Armour moved to 13-under and was tied for the lead with Simpson; Stenson was a stroke back after a second-round 66, but he moved into the lead for good during Saturday's third round with another 4-under 66. Stenson took a one-stroke lead over Ollie Schneiderjans and Kevin Na into the final round. Sunday was a shootout with many golfers in contention throughout the day, but Stenson birdied four of the last six holes on the way to his sixth PGA TOUR victory. Schneiderjans nearly holed out for eagle from the fairway on the 72nd hole to force a playoff but settled for birdie and narrowly missed his maiden PGA TOUR victory. Stenson set the tournament scoring mark at 22-under-par and moved from 75th to 23rd in the FedExCup point standings.

This tournament will forever be remembered for Brandt Snedeker opening with a course-record 59 and becoming just the ninth golfer in PGA TOUR history to post a sub-60 score. Snedeker started his round with a bogey on the par 4 10th hole and went on to make four birdies and turn at 3-under par, but he blistered Sedgfield's front side, shooting 27 – 8-under par. His birdie at the ninth hole clinched the 59 and a fitting celebration followed; he would finish the opening round with a four-stroke lead over 2009 champion Ryan Moore. Snedeker's second-round 3-under 67 gave him a two-stroke lead over D.A. Points and C.T. Pan. The third round was interrupted by weather and ended Sunday morning, but Snedeker emerged with a one-stroke lead. On Sunday, 2011 champion Webb Simpson shot 62 and finished tied for second. Snedeker and Pan battled all day. When Pan reached the 18th tee, they were tied at 20-under par. Pan's tee shot went out of bounds, leading to a double bogey that gave Snedeker a two-stroke lead he didn't know he had until after he hit his approach to the 18th green. Snedeker rolled in a 20-footer for birdie, dropped the putter and began celebrating with his wife and kids. His 59 set the course record and the tournament record, and the win moved him from 80th to 30th in the FedExCup point standings.

The PGA TOUR'S Oldest Tournaments

The Wyndham Championship, founded in 1938 as the Greater Greensboro Open, is the sixth-oldest tournament on the PGA TOUR excluding the Major Championships. The six-oldest tournaments are listed below with their current names (when applicable) in parentheses and their inaugural champions:

Year Founded	Tournament	Inaugural Champion
1899	Western Open (now the BMW Championship)	Willie Smith
1904	Canadian Open	John H. Oke
1926	LA Open (now the Genesis Open)	Harry Cooper
1929	Texas Open (now the Valero Texas Open)	Robert McDonald
1937	Crosby Clambake (now the AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am)	Sam Snead
1938	Greater Greensboro Open (now the Wyndham Championship)	Sam Snead

Starting this season, players will vie for a chance to be part of the new Wyndham Rewards Top 10 – a $10 million bonus that will be split among the PGA TOUR's FedExCup top 10 Regular Season finishers.

"I think it's a great change. If you win the Regular Season, you've done something really well. It's another category guys really pay attention," said Webb Simpson.

The new Wyndham Rewards Top 10 $10 million bonus will recognize the top 10 players who earn the most FedExCup points through the Wyndham Championship, the final event of the Regular Season. The leader will earn $2 million, followed by $1.5 million for the runner-up with the 10th-place finisher earning $500,000.

"Now that they are rewarding the top 10 guys at the end of the season. It's definitely something I think guys are looking at and adding tournaments to their schedule," said Tony Finau.

The bonus program will provide additional drama to the Regular Season finale and also place a greater premium on full-season performance, thus elevating the significance of each tournament on the schedule.

"The Wyndham Championship plays a pivotal role in the regular season as it's the last chance players have to secure a spot in the FedExCup Playoffs," said Eliot Hamlisch, vice president and leader of the Wyndham Rewards program. "In joining with the PGA TOUR to introduce the Wyndham Rewards Top 10, we're not only elevating the significance of our own tournament, but also placing a premium on great golf all season long. What's more, as the world's most generous rewards program, we couldn't think of a more fitting way to recognize the PGA TOUR's best of the best than by saying, 'You've earned this.'"

The PGA TOUR entered a new era in 2007 with the introduction of the FedExCup, a season-long points competition offering $35 million in bonus money and culminating with the PGA TOUR's first-ever Playoff system. The total FedExCup prize money moved to $70 million starting with the 2018-2019 season. The FedExCup winner's share is $15 million.

Among that $70 million will be a $10 million regular season bonus pool, sponsored by Wyndham Rewards, tied to the final regular-season FedExCup standings. The Wyndham Rewards Top 10 $10 million bonus will recognize the top 10 players who earn the most FedExCup points through the Wyndham Championship, the final event of the regular season.

During the PGA TOUR Season, TOUR members earn points based on their results, with a strong emphasis placed on winning and high finishes. Once the PGA TOUR Regular Season concludes, the top-125 players advance to the FedExCup Playoffs, a series of three tournaments offering quadruple points relative to PGA TOUR Regular Season events.

The Playoffs feature a progressive cut, beginning with THE NORTH-ERN TRUST in the New York area (125 players), continuing with the BMW Championship outside of Philadelphia (70 players). A reseed takes place, seeding the top-30 players for the culminating TOUR Championship in Atlanta, where the FedExCup Starting Strokes kicks in – and the points go away. The No. 1 player in the FedExCup standings will receive a 10-stroke head start going into East Lake. In other words, he will tee off for the first round at 10-under. The No. 2 player will start at 8-under. The No. 3 player starts at 7-under; the No. 4 player starts at 6-under; the No. 5 player starts at 5-under. Players ranked 6-10 start at 4-under; players 11-15 start at 3-under; players 16-20 start at 2-under; players 21-25 start at 1-under; and players 26-30 start at even par.

PAR 4 • YARDS 418

Donald Ross preferred to open the round with a hole of somewhat modest difficulty and length, and this is certainly the case at Sedgefield. A drive near the fairway bunker 290 yards from the tee will leave the best angle of approach with a middle iron. This classic raised Ross green leans from right to left.

PAR 4 • YARDS 442

One of the best holes ever designed by Donald Ross. The tee shot will require a slight fade over the middle of three diagonal cross bunkers to set up the shortest and best line into the well protected green on the left by a creek. Approach shots should favor the left side of the green which leans hard right toward the creek.

PAR 3 • YARDS 174

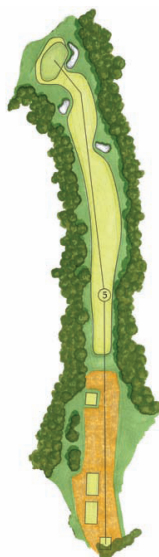

This mid-length par three hole is generally played into the prevailing wind and contains three of the deepest bunkers on the course short and right. The large, somewhat subtle green narrows the deeper into the green one plays. Long and left is a very difficult up and down with the green sloping away from the player.

PAR 4 • YARDS 428

A blind tee shot to a left to right sloping fairway awaits the player on this hole. The best line favors the left side allowing for considerable roll to the right. The bunkerless green is one of the most undulating and demanding on the course, requiring a very precise approach to get it close for a birdie attempt.

PAR 5 • YARDS 529

The first par five of the course is easily reachable in two shots. However, a deep hollow running diagonally across the putting surface will make getting up and down for birdie a challenge. The key to this hole is finding a level lie in the well-undulating fairway. Any shot hit short of this green will roll well back down the fairway.

PAR 4 • YARDS 423

A dramatically downhill tee shot to a fairway crossed by a creek at 280 yards calls for a fairway metal or long iron. Those players who position the ball left of center nearest the creek will be rewarded with the best angle into this back to front sloping green. The most difficult hole location is back right behind a large rolling mound.

Hole Descriptions

PAR 3 • YARDS 223

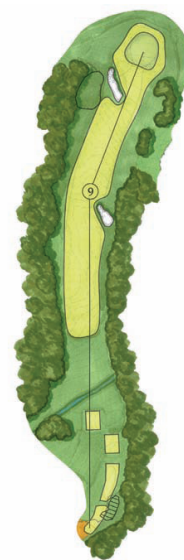

This long par three was the site of Arnold Palmer's collapse in the 1972 (check date) GGO. The green is guarded on three sides by a deep creek and features a soft punchbowl green with very difficult hole locations in the corners. Par is a great score on this demanding hole.

PAR 4 • YARDS 374

A definite birdie opportunity for the player who plays right of the creek near the two fairway bunkers. The big hitters can go for this green but long is no place to be. Sam Snead played short and left of the creek in route to his eighth win in 1965.

PAR 4 • YARDS 416

A left to right tee shot near the deep fairway bunker 275 yards from the tee is preferred on this hole. A properly struck tee shot will find the bottom of the saddled fairway and allow an aggressive approach into this scalloped edge green set below the backdrop of the historic Sedgfield clubhouse. Hitting long of this severely sloping and undulating green will all but eliminate an up and down for par.

PAR 4 • YARDS 440

The first of several long par four's on the back side requires a well-struck tee shot positioned near the fairway bunker on the left. The most severe green on the course awaits the approach shot. Distance control into this green is of the utmost importance, as going long leaves little chance for recovery.

PAR 4 • YARDS 486

The proper line for this tee shot is the bunker seen in the distance short and right of the green. The severely canted fairway will kick a right to left tee shot into the left hand rough. The approach shot into this green is deceptive and can be bounced in by landing a long to middle iron just over the approach bunker 25 yards short and right of the green.

PAR 3 • YARDS 235

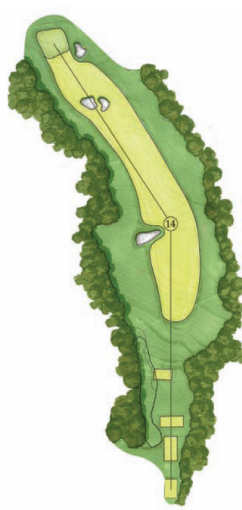

The longest par three on the course will require a very precise approach into a dramatic two tier green cut into the face of a hill. Anything short will roll well back from the green and require a difficult up and down. Dead center of this green is the preferred line and will give the player the best chance of escaping with a par or occasional birdie.

PAR 4 • YARDS 405

This is one of the most strategic holes on the course. The left side of the landing area funnels into the left rough leaving a blind approach over two cross bunkers. The smart play is along the right side providing an open view and short iron into this highly undulating green.

PAR 4• YARDS 501

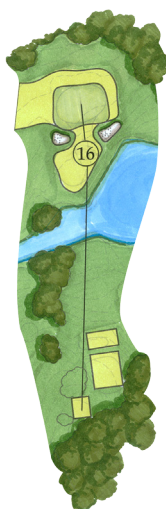

This very difficult and demanding long par four requires a right to left tee shot over the fairway bunker at 275 yards. Two center-line bunkers create a deceptive approach into this "skyline" green. The green is the largest on the course and probably one of the most difficult to putt due to its severe slope from back right to front left.

PAR 5• YARDS 545

The ideal tee shot to this reachable par five is directly at the fairway bunker. The downhill tee shot must avoid the "sheeps" fescue grass to the right and just over the bunker. Deep bunkers surround this undulating green. The far back right corner is the most difficult location, especially if going for the green in two.

PAR 3 • YARDS 175

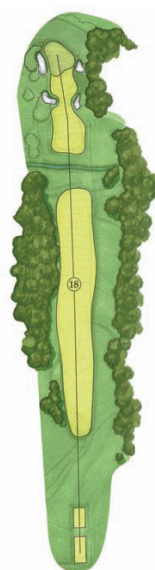

This short par three will provide the player an opportunity to be aggressive. However, the horse-shoe shaped green will reek havoc on misplayed tee shots and chips from around the green. Two four ft. deep pot bunkers guarding the green require a demanding short iron approach.

PAR 4 • YARDS 406

One of the most beautiful holes in North Carolina. This deep, saddled fairway meanders up an old creek bed filled in by Ross. A short iron approach into the smallest green on the course is compounded by the difficulty of finding a level lie in the fairway. A natural amphitheater surrounds the smallest green on the course, a great place to view an exciting finish.

PAR 4 • YARDS 507

This members par five converted to a long par four will be the most difficult on the course. A tee shot to the crest of the downhill sloping fairway leaves an uphill long iron or fairway metal into this severely undulating green perched on top of a hill. The most difficult hole location is atop a large roll in the back right corner of the green, birdies from this location will be difficult.

The Wyndham Championship returned to Sedgefield Country Club, one of the courses on which it was founded in 1938, in 2008, and with that move, the Wyndham became the only regular-season tournament played on a Donald Ross-designed course. When the PGA TOUR played at Sedgefield in 1976 and earlier, the layout played as a par-71 at 6,641 yards. The PGA TOUR course record at Sedgefield was 63, recorded by Gary Player in 1970, Doug Sanders in 1968 and John Schlee in 1967.

PGA TOUR golfers playing the Wyndham Championship this year will enjoy a course that was restored to Donald Ross' original design and updated to accommodate the modern player in 2007. Carl Pettersson set the course record in 2008 when he fired a 9-under-par 61 in the second round. In 2016, Si Woo Kim lowered the mark to 60 in his second round, but in 2018, two-time champion Brandt Snedeker shot a 10-under-par 59 in the first round and claimed the course record. It was the ninth sub-60 round in PGA TOUR history, and Snedeker became the 10th multiple winner in tournament history. The Donald Ross masterpiece at Sedgefield will play as a par-70 course at 7,127 yards for this year's event.

Prior to the 2012 tournament, Sedgefield Country Club converted its greens to Champion Bermudagrass in an effort to make the greens hard and fast during the hot, humid North Carolina summers, allowing the course to be played the way Donald Ross intended. In addition, bunkers were added around the fifth and 15th greens, while the green at the par-4 second hole was extended, creating an additional back pin placement. Course statistics for 2018 are below:
