Extended forecast – Dry conditions and windy to breezy northerly winds are forecast this weekend. A shower or two could develop in the mountains southwest (Spring Mountains) and northeast (Las Vegas Range) of the course Saturday afternoon, but it is unlikely any of these would move off the higher terrain and reach the course. Temperatures will reach highs in the low 70s on Saturday and will warm into the middle to upper 70s on Sunday. Expect cool mornings with temperatures in the upper 40s to low 50s.
