Extended forecast – Friday will see dry conditions under mostly sunny to partly cloudy skies. Temperatures will start out in the low 50s and will warm into the upper 70s. A storm system is likely to bring rain and possibly some thunderstorms on Saturday. At this time, the highest rainfall probabilities will arrive after 9-10am Saturday with elevated chances likely holding through much of the day. Some isolated showers may linger through 5am Sunday before dry and windy conditions close out the weekend.
