Today – Widespread low clouds and patchy areas of drizzle have developed over the region as a weak area of high pressure remains in place overhead. Drizzle should mostly dissipate by 8am, however low clouds could persist throughout the morning. A mix of clouds and sun should eventually develop this afternoon with dry conditions favored. Temperatures are expected to reach the middle 80s with a light northeast to east wind under 10 mph. Sunrise: 6:32am / Sunset: 7:42pm
