

Impact of the FedExCup on the 2021-2022 PGA TOUR Season

2020-2021 FedExCup Points List

Top 125

- The American Express
- The Genesis Invitational
- THE PLAYERS Championship
- RBC Heritage

Top 80

- Charles Schwab Challenge

Top 70

- Arnold Palmer Invitational presented by Mastercard
- the Memorial Tournament presented by Workday

Top 60

- THE CJ CUP @ SUMMIT
- ZOZO Championship

Top 30

- World Golf Championships - HSBC Champions
- Masters Tournament
- PGA Championship
- U.S. Open
- Genesis Scottish Open
- The Open Championship

FedExCup Champion

- Five-season exemption
- Entry to all events above
- Sentry Tournament of Champions

Please note:

- At the TOUR Championship, the player with the lowest aggregate score over 72 holes when combined with his FedExCup Starting Strokes will win the TOUR Championship and crowned the FedExCup Champion.
- The FedExCup Champion earns a five-season exemption
- The TOUR Championship is considered an official victory, however, there is no event prize money. The FedExCup champion, winner of the TOUR Championship, earns a bonus of $15 million. The FedExCup bonus money is deemed not to be Official Money and therefore does not count on the Official PGA TOUR Money List.
- If anyone qualified for the TOUR Championship is unable to participate and/or is disqualified or withdraws for any reason, they will finish in last position for the TOUR Championship. If multiple players do not play, they will tie for last place. Ties are determined the same way as Regular Season FedExCup events when total money for each tying position is averaged and that average is distributed to each player in tying position.