Extended Forecast – Partly cloudy skies and low humidity will continue Thursday before the heat and humidity returns Friday into the weekend. Highs will return to the low to mid 90s likely pushing the heat index values into the mid to upper 90s Saturday and low 100s Sunday. Cannot rule out an isolated shower or thunderstorm developing over the weekend, but most locations will remain rain-free. A few afternoon thunderstorms will be possible Monday with highs in the mid 90s.
