Today – The main area of showers/T-storms has remained 50 miles south of Huntsville this morning and continues to push away. While shower/T-storm development closer to the course could still occur, chances are relatively low (20-35%) and dry conditions are favored the rest of the day. Skies likely become partly cloudy this afternoon with temperatures reaching the upper 70s. Southwest winds at 8-14 mph can be expected with a few higher gusts at times. Sunrise: 5:56am / Sunset: 7:30pm
