Extended Forecast – Skies become partly cloudy Friday through Sunday at Indian Creek. The ridge that has been over the area most of this week breaks down while a weak front comes through Saturday afternoon, settling to the south of Omaha on Sunday. Still, only a low chance of a shower or thunderstorm exists with this feature at this time. Otherwise, expect high temperatures in the 90’s the rest of this week. Winds increase out of the south to 10-15 mph, gusting to 20 mph on Friday, then slightly lower and turning from southwest to northwest during the day on Saturday. Lighter winds are anticipated for Sunday.
