Sunday forecast – Dry weather is expected through the morning with plenty of sunshine. Afternoon shower/t-storm will again be scattered mainly over the mountains, but a chance of some activity nearing the course is expected. T-storms may produce briefly higher gusts and changing wind directions in the afternoon. Light east to southeast breezes hold for much of the day but may become variable or even westerly at times near storms by late afternoon. Rainfall: Up to 0.20”.
