7 AM Weather Forecast

Friday, April 8, 2022

Synopsis: It is starting out sunny and cool this morning with temperatures in the upper 40's. The main weather story today will be the wind. The morning hours will feature west-southwest winds increasing to 10-15 mph, continuing to strengthen into the afternoon and becoming sustained at 15-20 mph with gusts of 25-30 mph at times. Strongest winds are expected between 3-6 PM. Otherwise, skies become partly cloudy with temperatures warming into the upper 60's. Saturday will be a chilly day, starting out near 40F and struggling to warm into the upper 50's during the afternoon. Winds will again be blustery and gusting 22-28 mph at times, slightly less than Friday. Both Friday and Saturday afternoons have the slight chance of a brief rain shower or sprinkles, but this is generally not expected due to the dry air in place. After a cold start Sunday morning with lows in the 30's and some frost possible, temperatures rebound into the lower 70's for the afternoon under sunny skies and lighter winds.
