

Masters Tournament

7 AM Weather Forecast

Sunday, April 10, 2022

Synopsis: Cold weather has set in this morning as a result of clear skies and light to calm winds. The current temperature is 34F and it may fall another degree or so, allowing for areas for frost before warming into the low 40's by mid-morning. High pressure moves overhead today, and this will allow for abundant sunshine, lighter winds and warmer temperatures reaching the lower 70's this afternoon. West winds at 7-14 mph are expected the second half of the day, becoming lighter towards this evening. The area of high pressure moves east of Augusta on Monday, allowing for warm temperatures back into the lower 80's. High clouds are expected throughout the day with southwest winds at 10-15 mph.
