- In his career, has recorded 15 top-10 finishes on the Korn Ferry Tour and 14 on the PGA TOUR

Quotables

Josh Teater on playing at Thornblade Club... "I don't think over the years I played this course very well. I think maybe I get behind the eight-ball and I know it's a birdie-fest and I start hitting too much club off the tees, get myself in even more trouble. I've been real disciplined to not do that. Like No. 8 back there, it's really enticing to try to push a 3-wood up there and maybe get in the fairway bunker if you push it, now you're in big trouble. I laid back and I was in the rough with a 7-iron but still made a good putt to save par. Things like that I think I've chose to have a better game plan."

Josh Teater on how it feels to hold a three-stroke lead... "It's great, that's where we choose to be or where we want to be, I guess. We don't get to choose it, it's what we strive for. Glad to be there and hope to continue to hit one shot at a time the best we can, see where we finish up."

Josh Teater on what has been the key for him this week... "I really think consistently over this whole year, I played pretty solid. I had a couple poor events, I guess maybe Florida and Huntsville I didn't play well, but after that, after the little break, I put some time in with my coach, Matt Killen. We had done good stuff in years past and kind of got back together toward the end of last year and things are paying off."

Chan Kim on carding back-to-back 65s... "I had the sectional qualifier on Monday and for some reason I'm really good in qualifiers. I just came out here and I thought, 'okay, well, I can put a low round together under pressure for a qualifier, maybe I should just feel like I'm playing a qualifier.' It's been working out so far. It's been exciting."

Notes

- Chan Kim (T2 / -13) carded his second consecutive 65 of the week, made up of six birdies, one eagle and one bogey, and sits solo second at 13-under par through 36 holes; in his 19th career Korn Ferry Tour start, it marks a new best 36-hole position (previous best: T8 at 2023 AdventHealth Championship)
 - Kim, who clinched eight international victories on the Japan Golf Tour from 2017-22, entered this week 54th on the Points List after logging four top-25 finishes in 11 starts this season, with his best result being a T15 at the Astara Chile Classic
- After a 12-under 59 in the first round, 18-hole leader Michael Feagles (T2 / -13) recorded a second-round 1-under 71 and sits inside the top 10 after two rounds for the first time this season and third time of his Korn Ferry Tour career (making 34th start this week)
 - Feagles' first round 59 marked the ninth sub-60 round in Korn Ferry Tour history (established 1990) with 12 birdies (in order, Nos. 10, 12, 14, 15, 16, 18, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9); hit 16 of 18 greens in regulation, nine of 13 fairways, and totaled 23 putts, including an estimated 25-footer for birdie on his final hole
- Logan McAllister (T4 / -12), who posted a career-low 62 in the first round, rolled in six birdies against three bogeys for a second-round 3-under 69; in his second season on the Korn Ferry Tour, McAllister sits No. 17 on the Points List after posting four top-10s in 12 starts this year
- Andrew Yun (T4 / -12) logged a bogey-free 5-under 67 and is inside the top 10 after two rounds for the third time this season; Yun placed T2 in this event in 2017, one stroke behind champion Stephan Jaeger
 - In his fifth season on the Korn Ferry Tour, Yun has played all 12 events this season, but has just one top-25 finish (T22 at The Bahamas Great Abaco Classic at The Abaco Club)
- Currently No. 4 ranked played on the Points List, David Skinns (T6 / -11) follows up his first-round 10-under 61 with a second-round 1-under 71 and sits inside the top 10 after 36 holes for his third straight event (T1 at AdventHealth Championship/finished T9; T10 at HomeTown Lenders Championship/finished T3)

- Dan McCarthy (T32 / -7) carded the lowest round of the day with an 8-under 64 at Carolina Country Club, moving him up from T142 to T32 after a 1-over 72 on Thursday
- Conditional member Alex Scott (T32 / -7) carded a career-low round of 6-under 66 Thursday, followed by 1-under 70 on Friday to make his first cut on Tour after six consecutive missed cuts this season
- Five of the top eight finishers from the 2023 PGA TOUR University Ranking made their professional debut Thursday, with four of the players making the cut: Fred Biondi (T6 / -11), Adrien Dumont de Chassart (T11 / -10), Ryan Burnett (T32 / -3), William Mouw (T51 / -6)
- Sponsor exemptions to make the cut are Jake Staiano (T32 / -7), William Nottingham (T32 / -7) and Kyle Reifers (T51 / -6)
