Things to Know

- Adrien Dumont de Chassart, who won his professional and Korn Ferry Tour debut last week following No. 3 finish in the 2023 PGA TOUR University Ranking, posts career-low 7-under 63 Saturday and birdies par-4 18th hole to take four-stroke lead
- Dumont de Chassart is bidding to join Ben Kohles (2012 Nationwide Children's Hospital Championship; 2012 Cox Classic) as the only other player in Korn Ferry Tour history to win first two starts on Tour
- At 19-under 191, Dumont de Chassart ties Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Kansas Wichita Open 54-hole scoring record, joining 2008 winner Scott Piercy, 2017 winner Aaron Wise, Kevin Yu (2021/T5), and 2022 winner Norman Xiong
- Through seven career rounds on the Korn Ferry Tour, Dumont de Chassart has an aggregate score of 40-under par and has only made six bogeys
- Ricky Castillo, who finished No. 9 in the 2023 PGA TOUR University Ranking, follows even-par 35 on the front nine with four birdies in first six holes on the back nine, carding 4-under 66 to stand T2 and four strokes off the lead in his professional and Korn Ferry Tour debut
- Kyle Jones, the 18-hole leader and one of four 36-hole co-leaders, overcomes 1-over 36 on front nine with bogey-free 4-under 31 on the back nine for 3-under 67 and stands T2 in search of second Korn Ferry Tour win
- Chandler Phillips, who stands T2 and four strokes off the lead, is one of three Korn Ferry Tour winners this season to overcome a 54-hole deficit of four-plus strokes; he trailed by four strokes through 54 holes and won by two strokes at the season-opening The Bahamas Great Exuma Classic at Sandals Emerald Bay
- Two 54-hole leaders/co-leaders went on to win 72-hole events on Tour this season (Ben Silverman/The Bahamas Great Abaco Classic at The Abaco Club; David Skinns/Club Car Championship at The Landings Golf & Athletic Club)
- Final-round tee times will run in groups of three from 7:05 a.m. through 12:13 p.m. local time off the first tee

- Earned four collegiate victories, with the crown jewel being co-medalist honors at the 2019 Big Ten Championship.
- One of three players in history to win three consecutive Big Ten Player of the Year awards, joining Luke Donald of Northwestern University (1999, 2000, 2001) and Randy Leen of Indiana University (1996, 1997, 1998)
- Represented Belgium at numerous international amateur events, most notably three times at the Eisenhower Trophy (2016, 2018, 2022), and four times at the European Amateur Team Championship (2017, 2019, 2021, 2022)

Quotables

Adrien Dumont de Chassart on whether golf feels easy at the moment... "Today was a grind out there. I started good, not hitting many fairways, but then there's a stretch of holes from Nos. 5-9 I just made up-and-down like four times in a row. It was more of a grind. I knew the back nine was a little easier and I would have a lot of birdie chances. I'm glad I made those up-and-downs early to still be in contention. I just got on a roll, hit more fairways on the back nine and hit it close, so that helped. I'm glad my short game was on point today."

Dumont de Chassart on whether anything changes tomorrow playing with a lead... "It will be a little different, that's for sure, but I've just got to go out there and just shoot a low score again. There's a lot of people that are going to take it deep tomorrow, so I've just got to do a good job of that tomorrow. If I do that, that should do the job. It's one step at a time."

Dumont de Chassart on whether knowing several players will go low helps him mentally... "I feel like this week I played a little more conservative than maybe some other guys, maybe because I don't hit it as far. So I'm just going to stick to my game plan and just hit on the right side of the hole and make some putts."
