TOP STORYLINES

The AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am features 156 professionals competing in a 72-hole stroke-play competition across three courses: Pebble Beach Golf Links, Spyglass Hill Golf Course and Monterey Peninsula Country Club (Shore). The PGA TOUR schedule includes four events played on multiple courses, with three being played consecutively (other: The RSM Classic). The California swing features The American Express (three courses), Farmers Insurance Open (two courses) and AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am (three courses) played back-to-back. There are 81 players in this week's field who played in both The American Express and Farmers Insurance Open.

Tom Hoge won the 2022 AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am by two strokes over Jordan Spieth, earning his first PGA TOUR victory and becoming the 13th first-time winner in tournament history (first since D.A. Points in 2011). Hoge went on to record a career-best six top-10s, and advanced to the TOUR Championship for the first time in his career, finishing No. 10 in the FedExCup standings. In nine starts this season, Hoge has three top-10s, including a T3 in his tournament debut at the Sentry Tournament of Champions. Hoge seeks to become the first repeat winner at the tournament since Dustin Johnson (2009-10).

Matt Fitzpatrick is the highest-ranked player in the field at No. 10 in the Official World Golf Ranking. Fitzpatrick will make his fourth start at the AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am after finishing T6 last year. The 2022 U.S. Open champion leads the TOUR in Par-5 Scoring Average (4.29).

Viktor Hovland, the second-highest ranked player in the field at No. 11 in the Official World Golf Ranking, won the 2018 U.S. Amateur at Pebble Beach and was the low amateur at the U.S. Open at Pebble Beach the following year, finishing T12 (turned professional the following week at the 2019 Travelers Championship). Hovland will make his second start at the AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am and first since his rookie season (T38/2020).

AT&T brand ambassador and 2017 AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am champion Jordan Spieth has six top-10s at the event since making his debut in 2013, second-most of any player in that span (Jason Day/7). In the last two years, Spieth has a runner-up (2022) and a T3 (2021), and has finished outside the top 25 once in 10 prior starts (T45/2019). The AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am is one of four events outside of the major championships and the FedExCup Playoffs that Spieth has played every year it has been contested since the start of the 2013 season, along with the AT&T Byron Nelson (canceled in 2020), Charles Schwab Challenge and the Memorial Tournament presented by Workday.

Spieth has 13 wins on the PGA TOUR since the start of the 2013 season, the fourth-most of any player in that span.

Most PGA TOUR victories since the start of the 2013 season

18	Dustin Johnson
17	Rory McIlroy
15	Justin Thomas
13	Jordan Spieth

The last two PGA TOUR events have been won by players that had already won this season, with Jon Rahm winning The American Express (after a win at the Sentry Tournament of Champions) and Max Homa winning the Farmers Insurance Open (Fortinet Championship). 2022 Butterfield Bermuda Championship winner Seamus Power is the only player in the field that has won so far this season. Power is No. 5 in the FedExCup standings, the highest of any player in the field, and is making his sixth start at the AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am. Most recently, Power set the opening 36-hole tournament scoring record (128) and went on to finish T9 in 2022. Through seven events this season, Power has three top-five finishes, including his win at the Butterfield Bermuda Championship.

Stanford University alumnus Maverick McNealy has four top-fives on the PGA TOUR, with two coming at the AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am (T5/2020, 2nd/2021). McNealy has three top-10s in eight starts this season, one shy of his career-high for a season on TOUR (4/2021-22).
