Extended forecast – Dry conditions will continue through the weekend. High-level clouds could provide some filtering of the sunshine at times on Sunday. Winds are forecast to behave similarly each day, remaining light and variable through 10am before turning southwesterly at 7-13 mph (11-21 kph) through the early afternoon as the sea breeze moves inland. After 1pm each afternoon anticipate that southwesterly winds will increase to 10-15 mph (16-24 kph) with gusts in the 16-20 mph (26-32 kph) range up through sunset. Temperatures will start out in the lower 60s/17°C each morning before warming into the lower 80s/28°C.
