Today – Partly to mostly sunny skies this morning will give way to mostly cloudy skies mid to late afternoon as the sea breeze moves inland. There will likely be some shower activity along the mountains and the interior of the island during the afternoon. Cannot rule out an isolated shower making it down towards the coast. Otherwise, dry weather is expected with highs in the upper 70s to low 80s.

Extended forecast – A trough of low pressure will move north of the islands Friday increasing the moisture and instability. This will provide the chance for showers and a slight chance for thunderstorms during the afternoon with the heating of the day. The trough will pull away on Saturday decreasing the moisture and lowering the chance for showers.
