Quotables

Philip Knowles on mentality entering the final round as a co-leader... "Hard to really change much. I've done a lot of really good things so far this week and I mean, if I look back an hour and a half ago, just made the turn, I made bogeyed three out of my first four holes on the back. I wouldn't have thought that I would be here necessarily, but at the same time I just felt like I've been doing good stuff so might as well continue to trust that and keep putting one foot in front of the other. Made a couple birdies coming in and voila. Really just need to clean it up, just take out some of the bad and keep the good."

Kevin Roy on being in the final group Sunday... "I think I can draw back from basically the last two months, the start of the season I was in the final group on the third day and the last day in the Bahamas and I didn't come out on top, but still played some decent golf. I can draw back on that. I really like where my game's at, I think I'm playing really well. If the putter wants to cooperate one more day, I think we'll be all right."

Kevin Roy on the benefits of having a mental coach this season... "It's helped a lot. It's not just on the course, it's off the course as well. We call that the red light, green light, yellow light system. My goal going into every single tournament round I play, I try to be 95 percent in the green light. I really think I've been doing a good job of that the past two months. Whatever way it goes tomorrow, I'm going to have the same goal, try to be in the green light. If we come out on top, awesome. If not, we'll tee it up in a couple weeks at home."
