Extended forecast – Dry conditions are expected this weekend with high temperatures reaching near 90 degrees each day. Areas of patchy fog can't be ruled out each morning. Winds during the morning and early afternoon on Sat/Sun look light and variable. From early-mid afternoon through the evening on Sat/Sun, a sea-breeze/Gulf-breeze moves through the area allowing winds to become more westerly. On Saturday, the primary direction looks to be W-WNW with sustained values as high as 10-12 mph with common gusts to 15-20 mph. Sunday looks slightly breezier out of the SW with sustained values near 7-14 mph and peak gusts to 20-25 mph possible.
