Extended forecast – Breezy, hot and more humid conditions can be expected Saturday with highs in the upper 80s. Cannot rule out an isolated thunderstorm developing late in the day, but most locations should remain dry. The next cold front is expected to bring the chance for showers and isolated thunderstorms Sunday morning before quickly pushing south by late morning. Sunny skies and less humid conditions return for the afternoon with highs in the upper 70s. Cooler conditions can be expected Monday with highs in the mid 70s.
