Today – A cold start this morning with temperatures in the mid to upper 40s. Otherwise, it will be a windy and cool day with highs struggling to reach 60 degrees despite the sunny skies. A WNW wind of 15-20 gusting 25-30 mph will make it feel much cooler at times as well. The wind is expected to decrease this evening as we lose the heating of the day.

Extended forecast – After another cold start Saturday morning with temperatures in the low 40s. The temperatures will begin to moderate with highs returning to the low to mid 60s during the afternoon. The WNW breeze of 10-15 mph will weaken to 5-10 mph helping conditions feel warmer. Temperatures are expected to moderate further Sunday into Monday with highs returning to the upper 60s and finally back to the low 70s Monday.
