Today – Mostly sunny to partly cloudy this morning with increasing clouds this afternoon as a cold front drops in from the north. Anticipate showers and thunderstorms will begin to pop up around midday and will become more numerous after 2-3pm. These afternoon thunderstorms will produce heavy downpours and potentially a few strong wind gusts. Rain and thunderstorms should rapidly diminish in coverage after sunset. The temperature will reach a high in the low 90s as the heat index peaks in the middle to upper 90s. Light and variable winds this morning turn southerly for much of the afternoon before shifting east-northeasterly late. Sunrise: 5:17am / Sunset: 8:29pm
