Tomorrow – Moisture and instability will quickly overspread the Hill Country Region on Monday with cloud cover becoming widespread and the potential for showers/T-storms. During the morning hours, areas of drizzle and even patchy fog is possible. Showers/T-storms will become possible during the afternoon, especially after 2-3pm. Southeast winds can be expected throughout the day with gusts around 20 mph possible. Forecast rainfall: < 0.25". Sunrise: 7:14am / Sunset: 7:56pm Given the persistent cloud cover, visibility of the solar eclipse will be severely restricted in the San Antonio area.
