Extended forecast – Southerly flow will develop on Friday with moisture levels climbing into Saturday. Cloud cover will increase across the region during the day Friday and become widespread by Saturday morning. Some areas of drizzle or light showers could develop on Saturday. A weak front will sweep across Texas Saturday night bringing a low threat for better organized shower activity. This front likely clears the area Sunday morning with dry conditions expected to finish the tournament. Southerly winds likely gust in the 25-30 mph range Friday/Saturday. A period of northerly, albeit lighter winds, are possible Sunday.
