Today – Limited changes in the prevailing weather pattern, however cloud development this afternoon should become more widespread than previous days. In fact, some light showers or sprinkles can't be ruled out after 4pm. A 15% chance will be included in the forecast, although any precipitation favors areas farther inland. A sea breeze will cause winds to become west or southwesterly late this morning with the potential for some gusts over 15 mph. Sunrise: 7:01am / Sunset: 6:08pm

Extended forecast – Weather impacts will remain minimal, although increased cloudiness is expected Sunday and Monday afternoon. Some light shower activity also can't be ruled out, especially over the higher slopes. Light winds can be expected each morning with westerly winds developing by the afternoon. Some gusts over 15 mph are possible.
