Extended forecast – A low to moderate threat for showers exists tonight, with the shower potential increasing during the day Saturday. Squall-like conditions are possible in the heaviest showers. Showers could become even better organized/widespread Saturday night. A rumble of thunder can't be ruled out with this activity. Any lingering showers should come to an end Sunday morning with dry conditions into the afternoon. Winds will be a major factor throughout the weekend with sustained winds of 15-30 mph and gusts of 30-40 mph. Wind impacts will be most significant on Sunday.
