7 AM Weather Update

Thursday, April 10, 2025

Synopsis: Warmer temperatures can be expected this afternoon with highs in the mid-70s and increasing clouds late in the day. An approaching cold front will provide likely chances for showers and thunderstorms after 9PM tonight. Thunderstorms will transition into showers after 4AM and coming to an end between 6AM and 9AM. A few showers and isolated weak thunderstorms may develop after 3PM Friday as upper-level energy rotates overhead. Cooler temperatures return Saturday with isolated showers possibly developing Saturday afternoon as this upper-level energy lingers before moving away. Cool and dry conditions can be expected for Sunday's final round with sunny skies and highs in the low 70s.
