Players to Watch

- Michael Brennan (United States) – After finishing No. 12 in the 2024 PGA TOUR University Ranking, Brennan found success fast in his first summer as a professional. In 10 starts, Brennan finished inside the top 10 five times and ended the season No. 18 in the Fortinet Cup.
- Joey Savoie (Canada) – Savoie is the top returning Canadian on PGA TOUR Americas after finishing No. 13 in the 2024 Fortinet Cup. Savoie registered four top-10s in 2024 which included a T2 finish at the Manitoba Open. Savoie also led all PGA TOUR Americas players in consecutive holes without a bogey, with 98.
- Mateo Fernandez de Oliveira (Argentina) – The No. 22 player in the 2024 Fortinet Cup, Oliveira found himself in contention on multiple occasions, including at the Times Colonist Victoria Open presented by Andrew Sheret Limited where he registered a season-best runner-up finish.
- Tommy Cocha (Argentina) – Cocha retained status for Segment I of the 2025 season after finishing No. 47 in the 2024 Fortinet Cup. A Salta, Argentina native, Cocha won the 2015 Abierto Telecom del Centro presentado por Zurich when the event was contested on PGA TOUR Latinoamérica.
- Nelson Ledesma (Argentina) – A native of Tucuman, Argentina, Ledesma finished in the No. 60 spot in the 2024 Korn Ferry Tour points list. Ledesma won the Abierto Telecom del Centro presentado por Zurich in 2017 and will be making his fifth start in the event.
- A.J. Ewart (Canada) – Ewart earned full status for this season after a successful Segment II in 2024 that included his first victory as a professional. Ewart, who became one of the most decorated collegiate golfers at the Division II level at Barry University, was the only player to win on a sponsor exemption on PGA TOUR Americas in 2024.

- John Marshall Butler (United States) – Butler earned status on PGA TOUR Americas last summer through Mid-Season Q-School after leading Auburn University to the 2024 NCAA Team National Championship. Butler finished No. 80 in the Fortinet Cup to retain status for Segment I of 2025.
