

STEVE LARGENT (April 4)

What was it like out there?

It's a whole different ball game when you're talking about playing golf in front of people. People say that in football, too. When you start playing against another team and you have a big crowd, it's a different game.

The same is true for golf. You play in front of people that expect you to play. And you can't play, it's sort of embarrassing. We had a lot of fun. The guys we played with were great. It couldn't be a greater event.

Talk about Marshall Faulk's game.

Marshall is a very good golfer. He says he's some kind of handicap. But if he's not a scratch golfer, I don't know what one is.

Do you get nervous?

No. not in the least

What was your favorite moment today?

Watching Marshall play. Seeing him hit the ball just as far as the pros were hitting it. And making incredible putts. He really had his A game today. He's such a great guy, you root for guys like that.
