

THOMAS BJORN (April 4)

Great round today. Just assess your day.

It was a nice day. It was a tough day. The course was set up pretty difficult. Really tough pin positions on a lot of holes. I have struggled the last couple weeks on the greens. It's not often you walk off a golf course with two three-putts and feel like you putted well. I probably got a little more than I deserved today, but you take those rounds today.

The format is so different. Talk about that.

It's great. This week you can feel a lot of respect toward those guys who have done it in such a big sport and been at the peak of the game for many years. I think the respect goes the other ways, as well. It makes for a nice week and a nice atmosphere. We play a lot of normal golf tournaments, it's nice to do something a little different. When you're playing this format, you can stick your head down. I probably enjoyed more in that group with two Hall of Fame guys from NFL than playing with four pros I know really well.

How does this give you confidence?

It's nice. On this tour it's very much you got to get a start and be in there from the beginning. Then you can do something on the weekend. It's easy to play yourself out of it on the first day. You have to get a good round early on. I have played some nice golf, I just haven't put any scores together. Doesn't put a lot of pressure on the game when you have a day like that.
