Things to Know

- Second-Round leader Alex Cejka made four birdies and an eagle in the second round at Prestonwood Country Club en route to a bogey-free 6-under 66
- Cejka's three-stroke lead ties the mark for largest 36-hole lead on PGA TOUR Champions in 2025, joining Matt Gogel (Constellation FURYK & FRIENDS) and Stewart Cink (Boeing Classic)

Alex Cejka, 70-66 – 136 (-8)

- This is his seventh time leading/co-leading after the second round on PGA TOUR Champions: it is Cejka's first time holding a share of the lead after 36-holes since the 2025 Stifel Charity Classic
 - Is 1-for-6 converting those into victories: win came at the 2021 Regions Tradition
- The 54-year-old seeks his first win on PGA TOUR Champions since the 2023 Senior Open Championship presented by Rolex
 - Has 39 career top-10s on PGA TOUR Champions, seven of which have come in 2025
- With a win, Cejka would move up from No. 12 to No. 10 in the Charles Schwab Cup Standings
 - Cejka has finished T2 twice in 2025, the first of which came at the Mitsubishi Electric Championship, and the second came at the American Family Insurance Championship, where he played with Søren Kjeldsen
- Cejka has two career top-5 finishes in four career starts at the SAS Championship (2020/T3, 2022/T5)
- Cejka hit 13-of-15 fairways on Saturday, and finished the second-round T2 in driving accuracy

Other Notes

- 31 players carded under-par rounds on Saturday, and only 19 players will start the final-round with scores under-par
 - Only six holes played under par in the second round at Prestonwood Country Club
- World Golf Hall of Fame member and two-time SAS Championship winner Bernhard Langer (2018, 2012), is in solo-second heading into Sunday's final round at 5-under, after a bogey-free 2-under 70 on Saturday
- After a 2-under 70 on Saturday, Charlie Wi sits at solo-third and is in the hunt for his 11th top-10 finish on PGA TOUR Champions
- Charles Schwab Cup No. 1 Miguel Angel Jiménez is T20 after the second round
- Three players sit at T4 after Saturday's second round

- World Golf Hall of Fame member Retief Goosen sits T4, and is looking for his third top-10 at the SAS Championship in his fifth start at the event.
- Defending Charles Schwab Cup Champion Steven Alker (T4) is in pursuit of his fourth consecutive top-5 finish at the SAS Championship (2024/T5, 2023/runner-up, 2022/runner-up)
- If he remains inside the top-10, Robert Karlsson (T4), would record his 27th career top-10 finish on PGA TOUR Champions
- Mike Weir withdrew during the second round
