Today – Scattered showers this morning will give way to likely chances for rain and embedded thunderstorm potential this afternoon due to tropical moisture in place courtesy of a nearby area of low pressure and an adjacent frontal boundary. High levels of humidity will lead to muggy conditions with the temperature set to hover around 77°F. Southwesterly winds will turn westerly towards midday and then become northerly in the afternoon, sustained at 15-25 mph and gusting between 20-30 mph.

Forecast rainfall through 7pm: 0.50" – 1.00", with locally higher totals of 1-2" possible.
