Extended forecast – An active weather pattern is forecast over the next several days as a frontal boundary drops into Ohio on Saturday and stalls across the state. There will be a chance of showers and thunderstorms Saturday morning between 8am-12pm with additional thunderstorms possible late in the day after 5pm. There is also a threat for severe thunderstorms Saturday evening. The front is forecast to stall just south of Columbus on Sunday and may produce a few showers and thunderstorms Sunday afternoon. Breezy southwest winds are forecast on Saturday with light winds expected on Sunday.
