Sunday's final pairing at the 94 Abierto del Centro Zurich presentado por Personal will be the same as Saturday's, as Patrick Sheehan (Doylestown, Pennsylvania) is 14-under and leads by one over Patrick Flavin (Highwood, Illinois). Both players birdied the 18th hole – Flavin making a four-foot putt after Sheehan holed a 20-footer – to card the day's best third-round score, 5-under 66, at Cordoba Golf Club in Cordoba, Argentina.

Sheehan, a 2023 grad from Penn State, has earned PGA TOUR Americas membership via Q-School the last two seasons, and he's seeking his second pro victory following a win on the Minor League Golf Tour in January 2025.

Flavin, a 2018 grad from Miami (Ohio) University, is making his 111th start on a PGA TOUR-sanctioned tour and 27th on PGA TOUR Americas. He tied for eighth at this event last year and finished No. 51 on the season-long points list to retain membership for this season.

Tommy Cocha (Salta, Argentina) carded a third-round 66 and is in sixth at 9-under, while Nelson Ledesma (Tucuman, Argentina) is T7 at 8-under. In a tie for 41st at 2-under are Argentinian amateurs Segundo Oliva Pinto (Cordoba, Argentina) and Mateo Pulcini (Rio Cuarto, Argentina), the reigning Latin America Amateur Championship winner.

About PGA TOUR Americas

PGA TOUR Americas identifies and prepares the game's future stars as players compete to earn membership on the Korn Ferry Tour and eventually the PGA TOUR. The 2026 schedule consists of 15 events in nine countries, and the season culminates in October with the PGA Oceans 4 Tour

Championship presented by Scotiabank, where the top 10 players on the season-long points list earn Korn Ferry Tour membership the following season.

Since the inaugural PGA TOUR Americas season in 2024, Johnny Keefer (2024) and Michael Brennan (2025) have finished No. 1 on the PGA TOUR Americas Points List, and both players earned their PGA TOUR cards for the 2026 season.
