BEN HOGAN TOUR DEBUTS THIS YEAR

In an effort to offer professional golfers increased playing opportunities and bring the game to new markets, the PGA TOUR has joined together with the Ben Hogan Company and the PGA of America to form a separate and unique golf tour.

The Ben Hogan Tour will be a thirty event series of $100,000 golf tournaments which will serve as a proving ground for players who wish to pursue a career on either the PGA TOUR or the Senior PGA TOUR.

Ben Hogan Tour events will consist of 54 holes of official competition, preceded by a Thursday pro-am and a Monday Open Qualifier at the tournament site. Field size for the tournaments will be set at 132 players with a cut to the low 50 scores and ties following the first 36 holes of play.

The Ben Hogan Tour will cross the United States making stops in all regions of the country. The Tour will begin in February in California and move east. The new Tour will make stops in such places as Bakersfield, CA; Pittsburgh, PA; Buffalo, NY and wind up in El Paso, TX in mid-October. There will also be stops in Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Kansas, Iowa, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Louisiana, Mississippi, Ohio, Indiana, Arizona, Missouri, Connecticut, Maine and Arkansas.

"We are elated to be able to bring about these much needed playing opportunities and we are especially pleased that we have a partner with the stature of the Ben Hogan Company involved," said PGA TOUR Commissioner Deane R. Beman. "Ben Hogan is known for his uncompromising pursuit of excellence; we will apply Ben's standards to our new Tour."

For Mr. Hogan, winner of 63 PGA TOUR events, the new Tour is a pleasure to be a part of.

"We at the Ben Hogan Company are happy to be part of this exciting new concept that so directly affects the future of golf," said Hogan, the Chairman of the Ben Hogan Company. "I believe that this Tour will produce a high caliber of play that will eventually strengthen play on the Regular TOUR."

The stars on the Ben Hogan Tour will make their presence known on the PGA TOUR, as the top five money winners on the Hogan Tour will receive an exemption onto the PGA TOUR the following year.

The starting field will be made up of winners of Ben Hogan Tour events, the top 50 available players from the 80 finishers and ties immediately following those 50 players and ties who received membership on the PGA TOUR. At the previous year's PGA TOUR Qualifying Tournament, the top 25 available players from the top 35 and ties of the Ben Hogan Tour Qualifying Tournament, 10 players selected on a competitive basis by the host PGA of America section, five players determined by the PGA of America national office and seven other players at the option of the host PGA section. In addition to these, eight low scores in open qualifying will be eligible for Ben Hogan Tour events, along with two sponsor exemptions. If needed to fill the field a variety of past and present PGA TOUR members can be added.

Like the PGA TOUR, which has donated over $145 million dollars in its history, the Ben Hogan Tour will be a major contributor to charity. In fact, proceeds generated from each event will benefit the various charities selected by each of the 30 tournament sites.

PGA TOUR COMMISSIONER

Deane R. Beman

Born: April 22, 1938

Birthplace: Washington, DC

Family: Wife, Judy; five children

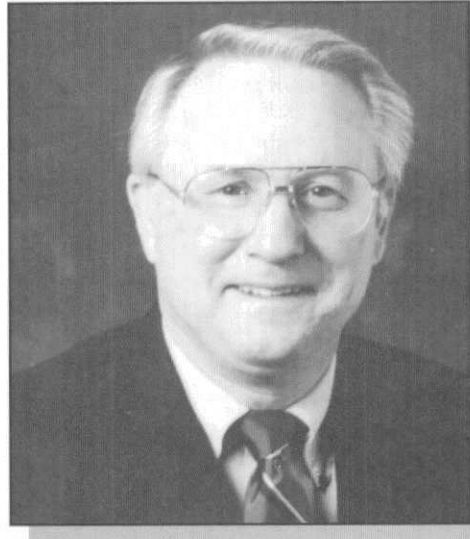

Entering his 17th year as Commissioner of the PGA TOUR, Deane R. Beman has overseen the most explosive period of growth in the TOUR's history, since succeeding Joseph C. Dey, Jr., on March 1, 1974.

During the Beman administration, the "business side" of the PGA TOUR has shown dramatic growth and now includes many heretofore uncharted paths, each designed to help encourage continued prosperity and to ensure the future of the game.

PGA TOUR Investments, Inc., created just seven years ago, has already grown to include 13 "Stadium Golf" facilities nationally with another 5 in planning or construction stages across the United States. In 1989, TPC International was added to the network with the announcement of the three initial clubs in Japan. In December, 1983, in Clearwater, FL, the PGA TOUR opened the first in a network of "Family Golf Centers." In 1989 the TOUR opened another "Family Golf Center" at the Golf Club of Jacksonville, a municipal course the PGA TOUR built for the city of Jacksonville. In addition to providing state-of-the-art tournament and teaching golf arenas, Tournament Players Clubs and Family Golf Centers have been instrumental in the growth of PGA TOUR assets, which have climbed from $730,000 to more than $80 million during the Beman era.

PGA/PGA TOUR Properties, the joint marketing venture of the TOUR and PGA of America, continues to make steady progress in its quest to open new opportunities in golf for commercial sponsors and the TOUR's members. The Nabisco Golf competitions on the Regular TOUR and the Vantage Cup involvement with the Senior TOUR, an infusion of millions of dollars combined for players, sponsors and charities, is the largest example of these efforts.

PGA TOUR Productions, introduced in 1985, is the TOUR's first-ever in-house TV/audio-visual production entity, the creative possibilities of which are nearly limitless. Tournament highlight films, vignettes, commercials, specialty pieces and the acclaimed "Inside the PGA TOUR" weekly half-hour show airing on ESPN are several of Production's successful projects.

Other important innovations introduced during the Beman administration include a professional Agronomy department, the Nabisco Stats program, electronic scoreboards, "Official Golf Destinations" and the Centinela Hospital Fitness Van.

Competitively, the Beman era has witnessed the birth of the Senior PGA TOUR which started in 1980 with two events and has grown to 40 events this year and the Ben Hogan Tour, which debuts with 30 events this year. In all, over 120 tournaments are on the combined slate with prize money having increased from $8.2 million in 1974 to approximately $75 million this year.

The Player Retirement Plan, inaugurated in 1983, has already contributed $10 million toward the future benefit of active Plan participants, and larger contributions are expected in future years.

Charity, easily the TOUR's leading money winner during the Beman era, continues to benefit at a yearly record pace. Contributions by American Golf Sponsors to charitable organizations rose to another unprecedented total of $19.8 million and will again be substantially supplemented by $2 million in the Nabisco Team Charity Competition.

During his active years as a player, Beman established an enviable slate of accomplishments, compiling one of the great amateur records of all time. He won United States Amateur titles in 1960 and 1963 and the British Amateur championship in 1959. As an amateur, Beman was a member of four Walker Cup teams, four World Amateur Cup teams and three U.S. Americas Cup squads.

At the age of 29, in 1967, he left a prosperous insurance brokerage firm in Bethesda, MD. to join the PGA TOUR as a full-time player. During his six-year professional career, he won the 1969 Texas Open, 1970 Greater Milwaukee Open, 1972 Quad Cities Open and 1973 Shrine-Robinson Classic.

WILLIAM BEN HOGAN

Born: 1912 Birthplace: Dublin, TX

Career: Winner of 69 professional tournaments, including 63 PGA TOUR events.

Superb shotmaker, excellent ball-striker, wonderful craftsman, all of these describe one of the best golfers of all time, Ben Hogan.

For Hogan, golf was more than just a game. He wanted to be the golfer's golfer, a feat that he accomplished many times over. Dominating the sport during the 1940's and 1950's, Ben Hogan was one of the best ever.

Starting as a caddie in 1924, with the likes of other soon to be famous professionals Ralph Guldahl and Byron Nelson, Hogan has never been more than a couple of club lengths away from the game that so captured him. For 65 cents a round, Hogan began his steps towards greatness.

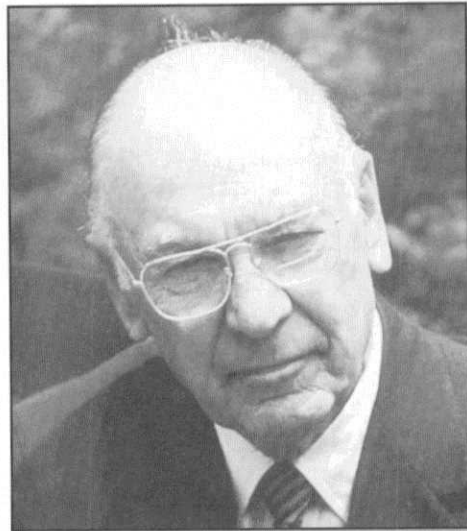

His competitiveness was honed by driving contests held with other caddies on slow nights at the Glen Garden Country Club in Fort Worth, TX, where his family had moved to from Dublin. As one of the smallest caddies, Hogan initially lost more than his share of these contests, but soon, from sheer will and much extra practice, he developed into one of the longest hitters among his peers.

Hogan continued to hone his game and eventually turned professional at the early age of 19 in 1931. He soon returned to Fort Worth due to lack of funds and playing success. Taking on odd jobs, he continued to work on his game for the next several years, and married school-mate Valerie Fox. In 1937, he decided to try professional golf once again. Although, he continued to play somewhat erratically he managed to win his first tournament in 1938, the Hershey Four-Ball.

Over the next few seasons, Hogan continued to improve and in 1940 won the North and South Open. From there he went on to win three more events that year.

From then on Hogan's name was consistently atop the leaderboards across the country. Hogan won 50 events from 1940 through 1948. From 1946 through 1948, Hogan won 31 events, including 13 in 1946. He was the leading money winner five different times during this span: in 1940, 1941, 1942, 1946, and 1948. All this with a two-year leave to serve in the Army Air Corps during World War II.

While at the height of greatness in 1949, Hogan suffered a near-fatal head-on collision with a bus on his way back to Fort Worth. As the crash became eminent, Hogan threw himself over his wife to protect her. His effort to save his wife also helped him avoid the bus' fatal blow. After 11 months of intensive rehabilitation, Hogan returned to the playing arena at the 1950 Los Angeles Open. He tied for first but lost in a playoff. From there he went on to win the 1950 U.S. Open, a win that he called, "one of my most cherished."

He continued to play and dominate the game of golf, including winning the Masters, the U.S. Open, and the British Open in 1953.

It was during this year that Hogan founded the Ben Hogan Company. The company continues to be one of the finest manufacturers of golf equipment in the world. Under Hogan's personal supervision, the Hogan Company has produced handcrafted forged irons; persimmon, metal and graphite woods; and patented Apex steel and graphite shafts that have become the standard for golf club manufacturing. The company also manufactures and markets golf balls, sportswear, and accessories.

Hogan continued to play and win golf tournaments throughout the rest of the 1950's, his last tournament victory coming at the 1959 Colonial National Invitation. But his interest in the Hogan Company continued to grow as did the company itself. So much so, that by the end of the decade, the company had expanded to four times its original size.

Through a couple of corporate changes, Ben Hogan has preserved his vital role in the company, instilling in his employees the high standards for which his company has become well-known.

Still another legacy that Hogan will leave the game is the Ben Hogan Tour. The Hogan Tour is a series of 30 events that will be played in areas that do not already host professional golf. Each event will feature a $100,000 purse for the field of 132 golfers. Perhaps most importantly, the Ben Hogan Tour will give young and even proven golfers from all over the world, the chance to play in a tournament type atmosphere. The Hogan Tour will give them a chance to hone the skills that they have acquired and the chance to one day play on the PGA TOUR.

THE BEN HOGAN TOUR: THE NEXT GENERATION OF CHAMPIONS

During the 1930's, a gifted young golfer from Texas twice withdrew from the professional circuit to take odd jobs that would fund his dream. Despite the week-to-week struggle, he held onto his dream for nine years before fate rewarded his determination with enough success to stay on the TOUR.

That's all Ben Hogan needed. Today, the legendary golfer is revered among players and fans all over the world.

But how many prodigies have gone undiscovered for lack of financial support or competitive opportunities?

"I assure you there are many," said Hogan, now chairman of the Fort Worth, Texas based golf equipment manufacturer bearing his name. "In fact somewhere out there today is a talented young man like I was - battling to stay in competition long enough to get a break. I want to help him."

The renowned golfer and his company are determined to assist tomorrow's would-be and destined golf legends by sponsoring the Ben Hogan Tour, a 30-event series of $100,000 tournaments to tee off in February, 1990. The new Tour, a collective effort of the Hogan Company, PGA TOUR, PGA of America, and local civic charitable organizations, will provide aspiring professional golfers the unparalleled chance to make money and a name for themselves in professional golf.

"I wish there had been a similar opportunity when I was starting out," Hogan said. "Maybe my career would have gotten off to a faster start."

"This Tour presents an economical option for many fine players who otherwise would have to travel abroad for professional competitive experience," he said.

The players aren't the only ones who stand to win on the Ben Hogan Tour. The Hogan Company's commitment is taking professional golf to a new audience and benefiting local charities and PGA Sections in the process.

"Next year, an enormous number of fans will watch top-caliber professional golf for the first time," said David B. Hueber, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Ben Hogan Company.

In its inaugural year, the Ben Hogan Tour will take professional golf to 30 cities that do not have a PGA TOUR, Senior PGA TOUR or LPGA event.

"This Tour is not triple-A baseball, or a minor league or a satellite tour," Hueber said. "It is a highly competitive proving ground for aspiring players - a forum for people to see tomorrow's stars today."

The Ben Hogan Tour will be conducted by the PGA TOUR. In each city, the Ben Hogan Tour will team up with PGA Sections and/or civic charitable organizations to coordinate the tournament. Beneficiaries of tournament proceeds range from handicapped children in Texarkana, AR, to retarded citizens in Yuma, AZ. PGA Sections share the tournament proceeds in the form of Ben Hogan Scholarships and additional funds for junior golf and other PGA sectional competitive events.

"The Tour has had a slogan for years, 'the leading money winner on the PGA TOUR and Senior PGA TOUR is charity.' We expect the same to be true of the Ben Hogan Tour," Hueber said. "Our support of each individual tournament by providing the $100,000 prize money, will ensure the tournaments will be profitable for the charities."

The Ben Hogan Company is the title sponsor for the entire tour, as well as the title sponsor for each individual tournament. "This is a very unusual position for a company to take," Hueber said. "It is unprecedented in golf and probably unprecedented in the world of sports."

"The Hogan Company has always been synonymous with quality and superior golf equipment. The extensive media coverage of the Tour for the 30 weeks or more should also make the Hogan name synonymous with professional golf," Hueber said.

Combining the Hogan aura with the style of golf's new breed will enable the Hogan Company to create a distinct brand personality. This will lend itself to developing a separate line of products beginning with a new Ben Hogan Tour sportswear line.

The Ben Hogan Company will be supporting the tour by providing a merchandise tent at each tournament. "We will also debut a Ben Hogan Tour Service Van staffed with craftsmen to assist the players with equipment repairs during tournaments," Hueber added.

It's doubtful the Ben Hogan Tour would have such high prospects for success without the legendary name of Ben Hogan and the backing of his company.

Ben Hogan recorded more than 69 tournament victories in his career, including four U.S. Opens, two Masters tournaments, two PGA Championships and one British Open. From 1948 to 1954, the height of his success, Hogan was named PGA Golfer of the Year four times and Professional Male Athlete of the Year once. His dominance of the sport was so complete that golf historians have heralded the era "The Hogan Years." Today, the PGA Hall of Fame and the World Golf Hall of Fame showcase his exemplary career.

Mr. Hogan carried his command of the sport off the course as well, founding the Ben Hogan Company in 1953. Since then, the company's handcrafted forged irons, persimmon, metal and graphite woods and patented Apex steel and graphite shafts have become the standard for golf club manufacturing — a precedent of success that the company is eager to duplicate with the Ben Hogan Tour.

"The Ben Hogan Tour will be first rate in every way," Mr. Hogan said. "The players, the level of competition, the courses and the conduct of each tournament will be the same as any PGA TOUR event. The Ben Hogan Company and the PGA TOUR wouldn't have it any other way."

BEN HOGAN TOUR PERFORMANCE EFFECTS

The PGA TOUR Tournament Policy Board has approved the following guidelines for those players who perform exceptionally well on the Ben Hogan Tour:

1. The top five money winners on the Ben Hogan Tour will earn exempt spots on the Regular TOUR the following year in a category of eligibility immediately following the Top 125 on the Money List.
2. Hogan Tour money winners nos. 6-20 will earn exemptions into the Finals of the Regular TOUR Qualifying Tournament for that year.
3. Hogan Tour money winners nos. 21-50 will earn exemptions into the Second Stage of Regional competition in the Regular TOUR Qualifying Tournament for that year.
4. Hogan Tour money winners nos. 6-10, if unsuccessful at the Regular TOUR Qualifying Tournament, will earn exempt spots on the Ben Hogan Tour for the following calendar year.

THE BEN HOGAN CUP: AN EMBLEM OF OPPORTUNITY

The Ben Hogan Company and the PGA TOUR have unveiled what to competitors on the Ben Hogan Tour will represent victory and the promise of success in professional golf — the Ben Hogan Cup.

"For the players who emerge, the Ben Hogan Cup will symbolize a starting point, a place in time when their careers got off the mark," said David B. Hueber, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Ben Hogan Company.

While the cup beckons a new breed of golfer, its appearance is reminiscent of many awards Ben Hogan captured early in his remarkable career. In creating the custom-designed cup, Hogan Company and PGA TOUR officials consulted Mr. Hogan and visited the legendary golfer's trophy room at Colonial Golf Club in Ft. Worth.

"We wanted a timeless design, and one that would communicate the prestige that the Ben Hogan Tour's name implies," said Deane R. Beman, PGA TOUR Commissioner.

Each tournament site will own a permanent trophy 26 inches in height and having a two-tiered base. The upper tier will display the tournament name and site, and the lower tier will present each winner's name and year of victory. Tournament winners will receive a 16-inch replica for their trophy case.

The cup itself — has a sparkling silver-luster finish with the Ben Hogan Tour logo engraved on one side.

"It's a trademark," Hueber said. "We believe golf fans and historians in years to come will recognize the Ben Hogan Cup at first glance."

SHARING THE LEGEND: THE BEN HOGAN COMPANY

Since his youth, Ben Hogan studied golf with the insatiable curiosity of a scientist.

He meticulously developed and tested his theories about the game for nearly 50 years on the PGA TOUR. In the process, he recorded more than 69 tournament victories, including 63 PGA TOUR events and placed himself among the legends of the sport. That honor, for most people, would have been fulfilling enough. But Hogan, compelled by an unrelenting passion to know the game he had given his life to, formed a company bearing his name that enabled him to continue his study.

The Ben Hogan Company, founded in Fort Worth, Texas in 1953, stands today as a monument to Hogan's lifelong pursuit. Under Hogan's personal supervision, the company has produced handcrafted forged irons; persimmon, metal and graphite woods; and patented Apex steel and graphite shafts that have become the standard for golf club manufacturing. The company also manufactures and markets golf balls, sportswear and accessories. And it sponsors the Ben Hogan Tour, giving seasoned professionals and aspiring young golfers another opportunity to compete. Golfers of all ages and skills worldwide can benefit from Hogan's discoveries on the golf course and in the manufacturing plant.

As a youth, Hogan spent many long hours as a caddie and many hours in the pro shop polishing and forging club heads and making new hickory shafts for broken clubs. Hogan went on to turn professional in 1931 at the age of 19, and rose to the top of his profession several years later.

Hogan demanded as much out of his equipment as he did his play and often requested special adjustments in his clubs. Years of persistent study on the practice tee not only taught him the "how to's" of golf, but also gave him definite ideas about the "why's." He discovered that answers to the latter questions sometimes lay in the equipment and not the player. So in 1953, when Hogan's golf club supplier became reluctant to meet his specifications, he founded The Ben Hogan Company.

One of his early backers as a professional had been Marvin Leonard, a prominent Fort Worth entrepreneur whose golf clubs Hogan often carried around the course. Leonard followed Hogan throughout his career. And when he learned of Hogan's desire to start a golf equipment manufacturing company, he and one of his contemporaries provided the financial support.

The first clubs Hogan's handpicked craftsmen produced in late 1953 would have satisfied anyone -- except Hogan. He destroyed the first $150,000 shipment and started over. Leonard's financial partner became nervous, but Leonard, having watched Hogan rise from a humble caddie to become the world's greatest golfer, was confident in Hogan's ability to make the business work. Hogan's first shipment of clubs entered the marketplace in late 1954.

"My vision was to establish a company to make the best golf clubs in the world. Anything less, in my estimation, would have disappointed the people who have supported me," Hogan said years later. "Over the years, my employees and I have struggled to accomplish that goal, and I'm very proud of what we together have achieved."

In 1955, the company's clubs were gaining prominence because of their outstanding quality. Hogan, who continued playing competitive golf until 1971, inspected every set that left the manufacturing plant. He saw one of his first sets later that year in the hands of Jack Fleck, who edged Hogan in a play-off for what would have been Hogan's fifth U.S. Open title.

After expanding four times in the 1950's, Hogan sold his company to American Machine and Foundry Company in 1960. He kept his position of Chairman of the Board and Chief Operating Officer of AMF/Ben Hogan Golf Company, and continued to supervise the design, manufacturing and testing of the company's products.

Hogan, with his inquisitive nature, continued to experiment with all sorts of designs. That experimentation led Hogan in 1969 to introduce the Hogan Apex, a lightweight steel shaft. His search for a more aerodynamic clubhead resulted in the famous "Speed-Slot" toe groove that became a prominent feature on Hogan woods.

By the mid-1970's, AMF/Ben Hogan had evolved under Hogan's direction into its present position as a manufacturer and marketer of golf balls, sportswear and accessories in addition to golf clubs. The diversification attracted sports equipment conglomerate Minstar to make a successful bid for the company in 1984. And in 1988, the company became an independent business unit of Cosmo World Corporation, based in Los Angeles.

Through the corporate changes, Ben Hogan has preserved his vital role in the company, instilling in his employees the high standards for which his company has become well-known. Today, as a 77-year old Chairman of the Board, Hogan oversees a company that applies his design and manufacturing methods to what is widely recognized as the premier golf equipment in the world.

"I've kept the same goal -- to make the best golf equipment in the world," he said. "And I've trained the employees of this company to apply the crafts I learned through the years. That has given me great pleasure and, has improved the game for many people."

HOGAN TOUR TRUCKS CREATE TOURNAMENT ATMOSPHERE

A major task of the 30 sites hosting Ben Hogan Tour events will be to create an environment for players and fans that is remarkably similar to that found at a Regular PGA TOUR or Senior PGA TOUR event.

Leading the way in this effort will be the Tournament Services Truck which is operated by the PGA TOUR Promotions Department whose staff will play a slightly different role on the Ben Hogan Tour than it has with either the Regular PGA TOUR or Senior PGA TOUR.

In past years, the department coordinated "on-site" promotions such as the popular Merrill Lynch Shootouts, MCI Pro-Celebrity Long Drive Competitions, Gatorade Youth Clinics, RJR Statistics, United Van Lines Clinics and RJR Nabisco Scoreboard programs. On the Ben Hogan Tour, the Promotions Department will provide much of the equipment and perform many of the important tasks usually assigned to local committees, allowing them to realize their goal of cost-effectively providing the best services possible for fans and players alike.

The staff will have a customized 18-wheel tractor-trailer truck provided by Ryder Systems to carry equipment to each of the 30 tournament sites. PGA

The Ben Hogan Tour will feature three tournament services trucks.

TOUR, Ben Hogan Tour, and Ryder corporate logos are featured on the vehicle which was prepared by the Winston-Salem, NC, based-J.D. Bruhn Special Event Productions. In addition to an air-conditioned room for the innovative computerized scoring system, the truck will house a storage area for leaderboards, walking standards, quiet signs, caddie bibs, flagsticks, radios and other equipment.

The Promotions Department will also supervise the training of volunteers at each tournament which is essential for the greenside scoring process, as well as the operation of other equipment carried on the truck.

The primary staff members handling these chores on the Ben Hogan Tour will be Brian Goin, Matt Delaney and Chris Murray. All three bring Regular PGA TOUR and Senior PGA TOUR experience to the inaugural season of the Ben Hogan Tour.

In addition to the main Tournament Services truck, The Ben Hogan Company will have it's fully-equipped club repair van at each event. Skilled craftsman from the Ben Hogan Company factory will use state-of-the-art equipment to make club repairs, adjustments, or produce a club to exact specifications.

Also in attendance at each event will be The Ben Hogan Company merchandise truck. Designed as an "auxillary pro shop," golf fans will be able to purchase items from a complete line of Ben Hogan Tour and Ben Hogan Company merchandise. Both Hogan Company trucks have also been donated by Ryder Systems.

PGA TOUR PRODUCTIONS

PGA TOUR Productions, the in-house television production company of the PGA TOUR, will begin the 1990 season from its new facilities in Jacksonville, FL. The company has recently relocated from New York City.

PGA TOUR Productions is the producer of the highly acclaimed "Inside the PGA TOUR", which is seen weekly on ESPN, plus tournament highlight films, vignettes, commercials, home videos and travel and resort videos among other projects.

By moving to Jacksonville, PGA TOUR Productions brings together the separate branches of the TOUR with the National Headquarters located just south of Jacksonville in Ponte Vedra.

"The move to Jacksonville is a logical and exciting step for PGA TOUR Productions," said Ruffin Beckwith, Vice President of PGA TOUR productions. "From the economic advantages to the quality of life for our employees—not to mention the proximity to TOUR headquarters—this is a very important phase in our history, and will allow us to better serve the needs of our clients."

A virtual hot-bed for golf, the Greater Jacksonville area offers the perfect location for the TOUR to be centered.

Besides being the site of the TOUR's National Headquarters and PGA TOUR Productions, the area is also home to the Tournament Players Club at Sawgrass, which annually hosts THE PLAYERS Championship. New to the Jacksonville area is the Golf Club of Jacksonville, a municipal facility the TOUR built and manages for the city.

Golf, however, is not Jacksonville's only attraction. There are miles and miles of beaches, as well as lakes and rivers for water sports enthusiasts.

If tennis is your game, just down the road from the PGA TOUR is the National Headquarters of the ATP Tour. To the north, on Amelia Island, the WITA Championships are held yearly on the clay courts of Amelia Island Plantation.

Football fans have the Mazda Gator Bowl, which annually features some of the nation's top college football teams. The annual Florida-Georgia football game is also held in the Gator Bowl.

The city also features college basketball and minor league baseball.

Nightlife is another attractive feature of Jacksonville, with numerous fine dining establishments along the St. Johns River and the Jacksonville Landing located on the north bank of the river. The refurbished Prime Osborn Convention Center and newly implemented skyway express are part of a revitalized downtown area that is continuing to grow.

The largest city in the continental United States in land area, Jacksonville offers the excitement of a metropolitan city while still having room to stretch and grow.

The PGA TOUR Productions van, centered out of Jacksonville, FL, covers TOUR events across the country.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE PGA TOUR

"The PGA TOUR is enjoying these days the healthiest period of its existence. The reasons are too numerous to mention here, but in the opinion of many, including myself, the PGA TOUR is one of the last true forms of capitalism left in the world of sports today. Everyone starts out at zero the first of the year, and in the most literal sense, everyone starts out the same each week...One is merely paid for performance on the professional golf tour, and that may be one of the reasons it is held in such high esteem by the public. We as players, along with administrators, must endeavor to protect this idea forever."

From the forward by Ben Crenshaw in the recently published Doubleday book, The History of the PGA TOUR, by Al Barkow.

It is not always easy to discover the exact beginning of something. So it is with the PGA TOUR. Certainly, there were professionals who competed against each other from the earliest days of the game.

Then on New Year's Day, 1898, ten professional golfers played 36 holes of stroke play and competed for money. The total purse was $150 and the winner took home $75. Due to the fact that a large gallery had come to witness the event, the New York Times covered the tournament. Shortly thereafter, tournaments began to pop up across the country. There was the Western Open in 1899. But this was not "tour" golf. The events lacked continuity.

Interest in the game, however, continued to grow. American professionals were rapidly improving and when John McDermott became the first home-bred to win the U.S. Open, enthusiasm for the game blossomed.

Helping this growth was a commercially backed "tour" by Englishmen Harry Vardon and Ted Ray. The duo travelled across the country and attracted good crowds wherever they stopped during the warmer months of 1913. However, the biggest explosion for the game occurred that September. A 20-year old "local boy", Francis Ouimet, defeated the pair in a playoff for the United States Open Championship at Brookline, MA. Suddenly, golf became front page news and a game for everyone.

In the early Twenties, the PGA TOUR could have seen its first development. Tournaments were held on the West Coast, Texas and Florida. These events were held in the winter and the golfers played their way east and up to Pinehurst in the spring. By the middle of the decade, the Tour was doing relatively well—offering $77,000 in total purses. What's more, resorts, hotels and Chambers of Commerce began to realize the publicity value professional golf brought to their facilities. Names like Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Bobby Jones became folk heroes.

In the thirties, the TOUR continued to grow. The PGA of America was providing support and despite the nation's financial woes during the period, golf tournaments continued to attract good crowds. It is interesting to look back at some figures of the time. Paul Runyan was the leading money winner of 1934 with $6,767. Last year, the top two money winners—Tom Kite and Payne Stewart—each earned over $1 million.

The names of the golfers continued to become household words. In the late 1930's and early 1940's Sam Snead's name started to appear in the headlines with regularity. Then came Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret and others who were beginning to gain nationwide fame.

The TOUR became more structured following World War II and then exploded in the late 1950's and early 60's. Flip through the Facts and Figures section of the Regular PGA TOUR Book and look at such areas as leading money winners and growth of tournament purses to witness the sudden and continuing growth.

Once television became a player in the game, the eyes of the world were on golf. This exposure inspired millions to try the game and at the same time, TV rights fees sent purses soaring. The bulk of these rights fees, which are distributed by the PGA TOUR to all co-sponsors, have gone back into the purses, accounting for the tripling of prize money in the last decade.

The touring professionals began to gain some control of the TOUR in late 1968. Joseph C. Dey was the first commissioner of what was then called the Tournament Players Division. He served from early 1969 through February 28, 1974 and was succeeded by Deane R. Beman, who took office March 1, 1974.

During the Beman administration, the value of tournament purses has escalated at an unprecedented rate; PGA TOUR assets have grown from $730,000 in 1974 to $80 million today, and total revenues have increased from $3.9 million to $140 million in the same time period.

Since 1938 PGA TOUR events have donated over $145 million dollars to charity. Each of the last 13 years have seen charitable contributions increase dramatically, to the point where over $100 million has been donated since 1984. The slogan, "The leading money winner on the PGA TOUR is Charity," is definitely not just a catch phrase.

The competitive scope of the PGA TOUR is also much broader today. The Senior PGA TOUR is considered by many as the sports success story of the 1980's. This year, the PGA TOUR, with the help of the Ben Hogan Company and PGA of America sections, added another addition to its family. Named for one of golf's greats, the Ben Hogan Tour was created to help golfers sharpen their skills with hopes of earning a place on either the PGA TOUR or the Senior PGA TOUR.

Also continuing to grow is the Tournament Players Club Network. When the PGA TOUR opened the Tournament Players Club at Sawgrass in 1980, it beckoned the era of Stadium Golf. Owned and operated by the TOUR, the concept means these courses are the only major league sports arenas owned by the players themselves.

The TPC Network has expanded to 13 clubs in cities across the world, with more clubs in either the construction or the planning stages.

Four years ago the PGA TOUR opened its first Family Golf Center in Clearwater, FL, and this year the TOUR constructed a municipal course for the city of Jacksonville, FL. This, and other concepts, are expected to mature with the PGA TOUR.

MEDIA REGULATIONS

The General Regulations

The following regulations are to be followed by all members of the Media:

1. An ARMBAND is necessary to walk inside the galley ropes. Remain not more than an arm's length from the ropes, so as to blend into the gallery and appear to be a part of the gallery at all times.
2. Players are not to be distracted during play. DO NOT interview players or ask them to pose for photographs during their round.
3. DO NOT interview players or ask them to pose for photographs during their practice sessions prior to their round except by prior arrangement with the player.
4. If an interview is to be conducted in the practice areas, either the range or putting green, it must be done by PRIOR ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PLAYER and up against the ropes and NOT in the middle of the areas where it could be distracting to other players.
5. DO NOT disturb players at their 18th green and/or scoring tent until after they have checked, signed and returned their scorecards.

Working Press Regulations

To avoid embarrassment to you and distraction to the contestants:

1. Do not walk in the playing areas.
2. Follow directions of marshals and other officials.
3. Do not interview during play. The leading players each day - and others requested - will be interviewed following their rounds in the Press Room interview area.

Tape Recorder Regulations

1. All tape recorder work should be done in the proximity of the Press Room and/or Clubhouse.
2. Tape recorders are NOT permitted in the locker room.
3. Tape recorders are NOT permitted within the playing area of the golf course unless written permission has been granted from the PGA TOUR and/or the tournament sponsor.

Rain Delay Guidelines

1. During rain delay situations, NO ONE other than players and essential staff will be permitted in the locker room. This means the Media is not permitted in the locker room in such situations. However, whenever possible, arrangements will be made to provide players for interviews during such situations.
2. Fully accredited members of the news media WILL BE WELCOMED into the locker room at all other times to carry out their assigned duties. (Note: Cameras and tape recorders are NOT permitted).

PHOTOGRAPHY REGULATIONS

This Tournament is essentially for the players and spectators. Fair play requires that there be no noise or other distractions. The interests of all others must be subordinated to the players interests. The result of any one shot could decide the Tournament.

Only ACCREDITED PHOTOGRAPHERS for RECOGNIZED NEWS MEDIA will be permitted to take pictures during the Tournament. Photo assistants may be issued a credential, but not photo armbands for access inside the ropes. Photography will be restricted to news use. Commercial and personal photography is prohibited (except that spectators may take pictures on practice days and during a Pro-Am). Free lance photographers shooting on speculation will NOT BE ACCREDITED.

The following regulations apply to accredited news and television photographers and videotape cameramen as a condition of the privilege of taking pictures:

General - All Photographers

- A photographer must not ask a player to pose or in any way verbally distract a player during a round.
- If a player or an official requests that no photographs be taken in a certain situation, the request must be honored immediately, without discussion.
- A camera must not be pointed at a player about to make a stroke in any manner which might tend to disturb him or distract his attention.
- At the 9th and 18th greens, photographers must not approach, delay or distract a player until he has checked, signed and returned his scorecard to the proper official. Under the Rules of Golf, a player turning in an incorrect scorecard in stroke play may be disqualified.
- Cameras are not permitted in the locker room.
- Use of golf carts or other means of transportation on the course during the tournament play is prohibited.

Still Photographers

- Only still photographers to whom armbands have been issued will be permitted inside gallery ropes. They must station themselves immediately inside such ropes, and not more than an ARM'S LENGTH FROM THE ROPES, so as to blend into the gallery and appear to be part of the gallery. They must not take conspicuous positions in the open. Any photographer who violates this regulation will forfeit the right to working inside the ropes and possibly to work at the tournament.
- Close-up action shots are prohibited.
- All pictures must be taken at appreciable distances, as far from the players as possible and from angles which are not acute to the line of play.
- When working at a green, photographers must not position themselves directly in a player's putting line.
- Pictures, even from a distance, may not be made until the player has completed his stroke.
- The photographer must not release his camera shutter until the shot is made.

Television/Videotape Cameramen

- Television and videotape filming may be done from inside the gallery ropes, or from areas approved by the PGA TOUR. All camera personnel who have been issued PHOTO armbands will be permitted inside the gallery lines but this does not include other members of the crew. Camera personnel must station themselves immediately inside the gallery lines, not more than an arm's length from those lines, so as to blend into the gallery. They must not take conspicuous positions in the open.
- Filming may be done from such locations during a player's stroke, provided modern equipment that produces a minimum of noise is used.
- Post-round interviews must be filmed far enough away from the arena of play to eliminate the possibility of distraction to those competing.
- Difficulties will be avoided if photographers are fair and treat players as they themselves would wish to be treated in similar circumstances.
- The cooperation of all photographers will be appreciated.
